

This column for the present will be devoted to the editorial expression of the students of the Klamath County High School. The youthful views on many of the big questions of the day are sure to be interesting and the Herald is pleased to furnish space for their comments.

THE CHANGING STANDARDS.

(By Eleanor Torrey.)
One of the results of the war to which very little notice has been given is the disappearance of gold from the money. A few years ago gold pieces were in common circulation, especially here in the West. Gold was also largely used in Europe. Bankers tell us that gold has nearly all been deposited in the big central banks and it is not likely to ever again be released for circulation.

Paper substitutes will be used, as they have been in the eastern parts of the United States for a number of years.
As a matter of fact, when our banks here used to transfer "gold" to one another, they would do so by handing over treasury of what they called clearing-house certificates in place of the actual metal. Early in the late war however, various countries of Europe shipped tons of the actual gold to this country in payment for supplies purchased. Probably this will never happen again. The big financiers of the world are now to establish an international depository of gold and hereafter when a European country wishes to ship "gold" to us, she will simply put a bundle of certificates in an envelope and mail them. These certificates or receipts will change hands from time to time, between banks and between nations, but the actual gold which they represent will be removed from year to year, and the only persons who will ever see the actual gold as money will be the few watchmen who will have charge of same. All the trade of the world will be based upon something of which very few people will have actual knowledge.

Therefore, one of the most real things in the world will then be only an accepted and agreed upon symbol, which is another proof of the fact that intangible things are often made real and lasting by the minds of men.

Clear, Peachy Skin Awaits Anyone Who Drinks Hot Water

Says an inside bath, before breakfast helps us look and feel clean, sweet, fresh.

Sparkling and vivacious—merry, bright, alert—a good, clear skin and a natural, rosy, healthy complexion are assured only by pure blood. If only every man and woman could be induced to adopt the morning inside bath what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of the thousands of sickly, anemic looking men, women and girls, with pasty or muddy complexions; instead of the multitudes of "nerve wrecks," "rundowns," "brain fags" and pessimists, we should see a virile, optimistic throng of rosy-cheeked people everywhere.

An inside bath is had by drinking each morning before breakfast a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver, kidneys and ten yards of bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour fermentations and poisons, thus cleansing, sweetening and freshening the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach.

Those subject to sick headache, biliousness, nasty breath, rheumatism, colds; and particularly those who have a pallid, sallow complexion and who are constipated very often, are urged to obtain a quarter pound of limestone phosphate at the drugstore, which will cost but a trifle, but is sufficient to demonstrate the quick and remarkable change in both health and appearance awaiting those who practice internal sanitation. We must remember that inside cleanliness is more important than outside, because the skin does not absorb impurities to contaminate the blood, while the pores in the thirty feet of bowels do.—Adv.

At the Theaters

A tale of the Canadian wilds, a picture of primeval passions, wherein the tyranny of fear is at last conquered in a woman's heart and her fight to regain her soul and self-respect finally is won against fearful odds—this is "Tyrant Fear," the latest Paramount photoplay, in which the ever popular Dorothy Dalton is the star.

Miss Dalton has exemplified a wonderful versatility in her recent picture successes, and one need only witness "Love Me" and then see "Tyrant Fear," to reach the conclusion that none save an artist of the highest attainments could essay two characters so diametrically opposite and do full justice. Yet this is what Miss Dalton has done according to those who have made a study of the two roles alluded to.

In this typical Thomas H. Ince production, which is to be shown at the Star Theatre tonight.

The Vaudeville acts opening at the Star Theatre Wednesday are the Great Brackens, Specialists in Wire Walking, Juggling, and Bicycle Act on the wire. They are now on their second trip around the world and are artists from the Big Time Circuits and come here with a high reputation.

SAGE TEA TURNS GRAY HAIR DARK

IT'S GRANDMOTHER'S RECIPE TO BRING BACK COLOR AND LUSTER TO HAIR

That beautiful, even shade of dark, glossy hair can only be had by brewing a mixture of Sage Tea and Sulphur. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray or streaked, just an application or two of Sage and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred fold.

Don't bother to prepare the mixture; you can get this famous old recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients for 50 cents a large bottle, all ready for use. It is called Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound. This can always be depended upon to bring back the natural color and lustre of your hair.

Everybody uses "Wyeth's" Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied. You simply dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair has disappeared, and after another application it becomes beautifully dark and appears glossy and lustrous.

Fuel Oil

Is a heavy, black oil, almost as thick as molasses. It was used primarily as a fuel in steam engines and large heating plants. It makes a very hot fire and leaves very little ash, and is more economical when properly used than any other fuel except in isolated cases. It is not adapted to family uses, as it requires special equipment in order to burn it.

For the Rancher

The rancher and stock raiser has found many uses for fuel oil in recent years. With fuel oil he brands his sheep, he greases his swine for lice and mange, he oils his caterpillar track and logging skids; he paints his barn, sheds, chicken house and all the rough board out-houses, for fuel oil will preserve wood as well as the best of paint at less than one-tenth the cost.

Every barrel of fuel oil a rancher buys is worth $50 to him, but it costs him only six and a half.

Mr. Rancher, "never be without fuel oil; it's as handy as hay wire."
