WEDNESDAY, MARCH 26, 1919

COME OUT TOMORROW EVE.

A call has been issued for a public meeting to be held Thursday night in the City Hall, the purpose being the reviving of the Commercial Club. This organization is not dead nor has it been, thanks to the enterprise and perseverance of Captain Applegate, who has kept it going without money and without price for the past year or so.

The call that has been issued for the meeting of tomorrow should be heeded by all. We will not be surprised to see many of those who are vitally interested in the development of this county conspicuous by their absence. It was so in the good roads campaign that has just been brought to such a successful close.

See Charles S. Hood, Klamath Agency, the real estate agent. He will write your contracts and other legal papers. 12-1f

Club is hereafter. It will have as a starter the Natron cut-off, the Modoc Northern, the Strahorn Line, the creation of a factory district in Klamath Falls, indirectly the opening of the Klamath Indian Reservation and the landing of several factories, the particulars of which The Herald will turn over to it when it is in full running trim.

It will also have the affiliation of the various organizations of the county to bring about—the lumbering, farming, irrigation, drainage interests. On top of all will be the usual run of promotive undertakings that must of necessity claim the attention of such an organization.

Klamath Falls is on the threshold of a new era. It rests entirely with us whether the ushering in shall be spontaneous, vigorous, enthusiastic, or whether we shall just drift with the tide without aim or object.

It is not going to let Klamath Falls be a drifter, if it can stop it. You are not going to be any different than The Herald, and that is why we are appealing to you to show you belong to the go-get-'em class by being present this evening at the meeting at which will be inaugurated the re-launching of the Commercial Club.
