A FORMER AMERICAN DOCTRINE

Having occasion to refer to the official compilation of treaties in force we stumbled upon a resolution of the Senate, adopted January 9, 1883, during the incumbency of President Arthur, which was appended to the ratification of a treaty with our then great and good friend, the King of Korea. We reproduce the resolution for whatever bearing it may have on the official status of certain gentlemen who are with the President in Paris, as follows:

(After certain resolutions on other matters.)
Resolved, further, That the Senate in advising and consenting to the treaty mentioned in the foregoing resolutions does not admit or acquiesce in any right or constitutional power in the President to authorize or empower any person to negotiate treaties or carry on diplomatic negotiations with any foreign power unless such person shall have been appointed for such purpose or clothed with such power by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, except in the case of a Secretary of State, or a diplomatic officer appointed by the President to fill a vacancy during the recess of the Senate; and it makes this declaration in order that the means employed in the negotiation of said treaty be not drawn into precedent.

Resolved, That the secretary communicate all the foregoing resolutions to the President.
That was a resolution passed by a Republican Senate and addressed to a Republican President. It may, therefore be regarded as Republican doctrine, as we find no record that the President objected to it.

That seems to settle the official status of Secretary Lansing satisfactorily, but what, oh what, becomes of Colonel House?—San Francisco Chronicle.

OUR LOANS TO THE ALLIES

A report from the Treasury Department shows that the loans of this government to the allied nations now total $8,841,657,000, leaving about $1,158,000,000 of the original $10,000,000,000 authorization, which may be loaned. Until peace has been proclaimed this balance may be loaned for war purposes, but after the proclamation of peace, for a period of a year and a half, it can be loaned to the allies for the purchase of American property in Europe and elsewhere and to finance wheat purchases made at Government prices. The War Department is now making an inventory of property owned in Europe, and when this is completed an idea can be had as to the amount of additional loans that will be extended to the allies, since it is anticipated that the greater portion of railroad equipment and buildings will be purchased by France and Belgium. It will be seen that, with more than $1,000,000,000 of the original loan still available, the United States will play an important part in the reconstruction of the allied countries, especially those on the continent. This situation shows a most generous attitude on the part of the United States. We will supply a large portion of the funds needed for the rehabilitation of the industries of foreign countries which will turn out products to be placed in direct competition with American products. In other words, we will assist materially in financing competing industries, thus accepting a decided handicap in the race of the world's trade.—Washington Post.

MORE AID FOR COUNTY ROADS

SENATOR CHAS. L. McNARY INITIATES THAT IN WIRE THAT FEDERAL HELP IN NORTH KLAMATH MAY BE SECURED

PORTLAND, March 26.—Word has been received from Senator McNary that the forest Service has advised him that there is no reason why the construction on the Medford Klamath Falls road should not be pushed through and that financial support for the road has been recommended for the road beyond the boundaries of the Reserve.

Indications of construction of roads through the forest reserves of Klamath and Jackson Counties, is further evidenced in the message just received by the Klamath Commercial Club from Senator McNary, "In response to my request the Department of Agriculture advised that it will undertake this year and push diligently to completion, the construction of the Medford, Klamath Falls road in the Jackson County and Anna Creek Canyon sections." This is taken to include the road from the boundary of Crater Lake Park thru the forest reserve to the Wood River Valley which gets into such lamentable shape each year before the close of the tourist season.
