SHASTA VIEW

It seems that spring has come at last and judging from the hustle and bustle of the ranchers they are doing their part for bumper crops this year.

The ladies of the Helping Hand Society met with Mrs. C. C. Garrison, Wednesday, and all report a fine time. The next meeting will be held at Mrs. Simms April 23rd.

C. W. Bailey and Joe Chotard made final proofs on their homesteads before J. O. Hamaker of Bonanza recently. Their witnesses were C. Maupin, H. E. Wilson, O. E. Hunt and Ernest Henning.

A number of the young people met at O. E. Hunt's Sunday afternoon and practiced singing for Easter service to be held at the Shasta View school house.

Everyone is invited to be present at the Shasta View school house Friday evening, April 25th when the Shasta View Farmer's Club meets. County Agent Mr. Thomas will be present and illustrate with lantern slides high altitude farming in Colorado. Also County organizer, F. W. Sexton will have slides illustrating children's club work. Appropriate music will be furnished.

Mrs. C. F. Stone is busy improving the old Dixon place. Just a little more water and the Tule Lake valley will truly come to its own.

O. E. Hunt made a trip to Bonanza one day last week with a four horse load of potatoes. He says the roads are not just what they ought to be.

J. L. Bailey expects soon to get his lake land ready for a crop. He is now working on his homestead.

Quite a few people are purchasing seed grain of H. E. Wilson.

C. M. Kirkpatrick is fencing his place hog tight, which will enable him to hold sheep, of which he has 150. The chug chug of the tractor plow is quite common in the southern part of this neighborhood. Come ahead. We will soon be getting our mail from Klamath Falls by airplane.

The social at H. E. Wilson's Friday evening was well attended and enjoyed by all.

Mrs. C. F. Stone and Mrs. J. T. Ward were Klamath Falls visitors Saturday and Sunday.

Klamath Falls Learns How to Build a City

home and clenched it well. Klamath Falls can become one of the wealthiest and best known cities on the Pacific Coast in a few years. If the people will get together here and make the necessary effort, in the opinion of Dr. Gray.

In dwelling on the second essential of a home town, bringing up good boys and girls, Dr. Gray gave particular attention to the younger portion of the audience, and recited many very interesting accounts of the rise of great persons from humble circumstances. Ninety-three per cent of the great men of this nation have come from the country and the small town, according to accurate figures on this subject, and every boy and girl present was fired by the inspiring words of the speaker, toward higher and better things. Dr. Gray concluded his speech with an appeal not only for the principle of "live and let live," but "live and help live."

The Klamath Falls Business Men's Association and the management of public schools of the city and county, who brought in this speaker, are to be congratulated on their happy selection. The gratitude of the public is expressed to them for bringing such an attraction to the city.

CAMOUFLAGE DEFINED

LONDON April 17.—Harriet Goldstone, a munitions worker at Bethnal Green, who lost a leg in an explosion last summer, has applied to the ministry of pensions for a pink enamel leg instead of a brown leather member, because "I always wear openwork stockings."

According to the regulations it is "left to the discretion of the supervising surgeon" whether Harriet gets a pink or a brown leg.

PHYSICIAN RETURNS

Dr. Henry C. Schloff has arrived home from San Francisco considerably improved in health.
