At the Theaters

Every horse that Tom Mix rides in his motion pictures is one that has been broken in by himself, and they all usually understand every word that he tells them.

Just before taking any desperate chances, MIX speaks soothingly to his mount, tells him what he is about to do, and then they both do it. Mix, who will be seen at the Liberty Theater tonight only in his latest photodrama, "Fame and Fortune," will not tolerate for an instant any brutality toward an animal, and many a cowboy can attest to that fact after coming in contact with Mix after the actor has seen something in the handling of a horse that displeased him.

Marguerite Clark, the popular little Paramount star who recently became the wife of Capt. H. Palmerson Williams, after spending her honeymoon in Washington, completed her new Paramount picture, "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch," which will be shown at the Star theatre tonight.

In this famous subject Miss Clark plays the part of Lovey Mary, that immortal character which is familiar to every child as well as to the grown-ups.

dio a complete apartment had been fitted up at the 56th Street, New York, studio for Miss Clark. There are three rooms and kitchenette so that Miss Clark's maid may cook dainty lunches when the Paramount star is too busy to go out for it.

"Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch" was staged under the direction of Hugh Ford, who produced the play in London as well as in New York. The cast presents one of the most notable aggregations of popular Paramount and Arcraft players ever disclosed in a film.

"The Minstrels are Coming" was a common cry in the old days. It was a cry which brought smiles of anticipation on every hand. Of recent years real minstrel shows have been somewhat scarce in numbers and often times but an echo of the old time show of that designation. The art of minstrelry, however, is experiencing a revival. Comedians and singers of real note are being lured back to this class of entertainment.

Theater goers of Klamath Falls will be gratified to learn that Burns Bros' Memphis Minstrels, comprising twenty colored fun makers and singers, the genuine "plantation variety" are booked to appear at Houston Opera House for twonights starting Sunday, April 20th.

This company of negro artists is said to be one of the best of its kind now touring the country. The show carries its own Jazz band and orchestra. The performance will include a wonderful "first part," followed by an olio which consists of five stirring vaudeville acts, each of which has scored as a headline attraction on different vaudeville circuits throughout the country. Particularly funny and appealing is the "Plantation days in Dixie" act which closes the entertainment. All the old time plantation charm for which Minstrel shows have been famed in the history of the American stage is included in the Burns Bros. Minstrel. It is two hours of cheer, joy and melody rampant.
