At the Theatres

"I Want to Forget," a new William Fox picture starring Evelyn Nesbit, tells the remarkable story of a woman whose ambition has been to capture men's hearts and to "go the pace." It is to be shown for the first time at the Liberty Theatre on Sunday and Monday.

The "butterfly" woman sullies her wings, but that is of no concern to her, so long as pleasure follows upon pleasure. But one day Varda realizes that life is something more than empty self indulgence. The war comes in grim reality, and its fire sears her heart. She enters the Secret Service Department, and like so many other women of the world today, finds her salvation in war work.

Of course, there is a handsome young man in the story; and the winning and wooing of Varda is by no means accomplished with ease.

The executives of the National Film Corporation of America were fully alive to the tremendous possibilities of the Tarzan stories and watched the overwhelmingly successful Broadway season of "Tarzan of the Apes" closely for indications of public taste and preference. The ending of "Tarzan of the Apes" was purposely made abrupt, to leave those who saw it not quite sated, the purpose being to pave the way for the present picture, "The Romance of Tarzan." That the wisdom of this course will be vindicated there can be no doubt—the abrupt ending of "Tarzan of the Apes" has made every person who saw it eager to see "The Romance of Tarzan."

The production of "The Romance of Tarzan" is on the same lavish scale that marked its great predecessor. Money has been spent without stint—the original locations were used for the jungle scenes—the society scenes are regally mounted and dressed. "The Romance of Tarzan" will be at the Star Theatre, Sunday and Monday.

Having proved itself one of the most charming screen stories in which Fannie Ward ever has been seen, "The Cheat," a Paramount picture of exceptional dramatic interest will be shown at the Temple Theatre tonight. Miss Ward is admirably supported in this strong vehicle, chief among these being Sussie Hayakawa who has achieved fame as a Paramount star; Jack Dean, James Neill, Hazel Childers and others.

In this dramatic picture Miss Ward portrays the role of a fashionable woman who entertains and dresses lavishly, and who later is involved in serious trouble through an unlucky investment in Wall Street.
