

FRENCH PEEVED AT NEW TERMS

FOCH SAYS TREATY SHOULD NOT BE SIGNED AS FRANCE IS NOT SAFEGUARDED. CHINA ENTERS FORMAL PROTEST

PARIS, May 7.—The peace treaty was presented to the Minor powers at the secret Plenary session.

Marshal Foch in a speech declared that the security given France was inadequate from a military standpoint and said that it was his personal conviction that the treaty should not be signed.

He emphasized the necessity of France holding the bridgeheads along the Rhine and said that re-occupation limited to fifteen years was insufficient.

The Chinese presented a brief and unified formal protest concerning Kaito Chan. The Portuguese expressed dissatisfaction regarding the treatment of Portugal.

Protestations of various delegations are not regarded as serious as no definite reservations have been made by anyone.

CHAPERONES AGAIN STYLISH

LONDON, May 7.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The chaperone is re-appearing in London after more than four years of absence because of the war. American women, the society leaders say, are responsible, because they want to see London, and independent and self-reliant as they are, they do not want to see it without the assurance they will be well chaperoned.

The chaperone, once a well established institution in England, lost her calling when women went in for war work. Many a young girl who had never ventured from home without the guiding hand of a chaperone took to driving an ambulance, while others were installed in the "Wipers," the "Rafts" or some one of the many other women's organizations which had to do with the prosecution of the war. These vigorous young women had no use for chaperones.

The American women who want chaperones are war workers, Red Cross, Young Women's Christian Association aids and others who are here. They, too, are self-reliant and independent, but when they doff their uniforms and go out to see London or spend a part of their very little leisure time in the gaieties of the city, they feel they ought to subscribe to the conventions.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Haskett and family left today for Sargent, California, where they will visit relatives and friends.

EAST MEETS WEST IN BARNES' CIRCUS

East is East and West is West. But the two at least have met.

Since the days of P. T. Barnum it has been the privilege of showmen to upset the natural order of events and defy the laws of nature in order that man may be amused. Pin's elephants, double jointed monkeys and unmentionable monstrosities as well as the original and genuine of nature's freaks have been presented to season presents a fairyland far away namely, "Alice in Jungland," which promises to outlive in reality anything Lewis Carroll's character "Alice," saw in her dreamland journey through Wonderland.

Alice is a delightful child who falls asleep upon a rustic seat in a park, fairies appear and by magic bring to her a king in all his royal splendor, who, wishing to please the world through the media of the white tops.

In more recent years showmen have striven to give the beautiful and instructive features to the public and like an Aladdin's lantern the big tops have become a veritable paradise of enchantment.

The A. G. Barnes big four-colored animal circus is coming to Klamath Falls, May 12 for a one-day exhibit, giving afternoon and night performances, and as its opening feature this Alice and show his many possessions, orders the royal jungle to appear. Instantly a magnificent pageant comprising the show's entire aggregation of animals and people richly and sumptuously adorned come forth; a riot of color, a jangle of music, Rajahs, queens, kings, knights and their royal corteges in fitting equipment, jungle natives, magnificent horses, all handsomely caparisoned—in fact, a festive feast of fairyland wonder.

ARMY HORSES ARE NOW SOLD TO RANCHERS

DALLAS, Texas, May 7.—Demobilization of the army mule and horse is going forward rapidly, according to figures on government sales just compiled by C. O. Moser, livestock inspector of the purchasing quartermaster.

The figures show that during the war the government bought 115,000 head of horses and mules at a total cost of $27,000,000 in the southern and central purchasing zones. When hostilities ended the government owned about 500,000 head of horses and mules, 300,000 in the United States and 200,000 in France, only 70,000 of the latter number having been shipped from this country.

Because of the big demand for these animals on central west farms the government has been hurrying distribution, and when auctions now advertised are completed 150,000 animals will have been placed back on farms since Jan 1.

Cavalry horses cost the government an average of $165, artillery horses $190, and mules $190, according to these figures. At the sales cavalry horses have brought an average of $85, artillery horses $150 and draft mules $160. The sales have included many worn out animals, some selling for as little as $10. On the other hand, many animals have brought fancy prices.

Watch Your Step!

The first thing a stranger looks at is your feet. Note that the eye travels from your face to your feet, and as a rule the feet receive the greatest attention.

A costume by Worth could be spoiled if the feet were encased in ill-fitting footwear.

It is a duty you owe yourself to wear footwear which do your feet justice. Comfortable shoes do not always mean "homely" shoes. If the feet are properly fitted they are also prettily fitted.
