Dateless Dispatch by Associated Press—The Austrian delegation has been notified that the peace treaty will not be presented by the Allies until Monday.

The small nations desired time for the consideration of the Fiume question which is apparently settled.

Fiume is to be an independent state under the guidance of the League of Nations. Nothing specific on the German reply submitted yesterday had been published as yet.

I. W. W. PLANNED DEATH OF OFFICER

SEATTLE, Wash., May 29.—Members of the I. W. W. planned to kill Lieutenant F. W. Becker, navy intelligence officer in Seattle, during the war, and other army officers here and at Spokane, according to testimony offered by T. R. Allison, former sergeant in the intelligence section of the United States army, on the stand as a witness for the state against Jas. Bruce, I. W. W. organizer, who faces a jury in Superior Judge Walter M. French's court on a charge of criminal anarchy.

"I heard E. L. Chamberlain and several other members of the I. W. W. plan to kill Lieutenant Becker because they said he framed up a fellow worker," Allison told the jury on cross-examination by George P. Vanderveer, chief counsel for the defendant.

Chamberlain is one of the 25 members of the I. W. W. arrested as criminal anarchists. His trial may follow that of Bruce.

SINNOTT HEAD OF LANDS COMMITTEE

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The house public lands committee has been organized with Representative Sinnott of Oregon as Chairman, Edward D. Baldwin, secretary to Sinnott, was elected secretary of the committee and Miss Mary Cort of Baker, Or., was elected clerk. The committee authorized Sinnott to make a motion to transfer to his committee one land settlement bill which by oversight was referred several days ago to the irrigation committee.

The object is to assemble all bills on the subject in the same committee. But a fight may result as the irrigation committee threatens to oppose the transfer of any bills.

NC-4 FORCED TO MAKE STOP

ENGINE TROUBLE DEVELOPED SHORTLY AFTER LEAVING LISBON THIS MORNING. TRIP WILL BE RESUMED TOMORROW

WASHINGTON, D. C., May 29.—Although she landed at Mondongo River a hundred miles north of Lisbon, after starting for Plymouth at five-twenty this morning, the NC-4 is alright, according to a message from Lieutenant Commander Read to the Cruiser Rochester at Lisbon.

The message said "Request the cruisers to keep stations. What is best port to north to land seaplane within three hundred miles?"

There is no information as to why the landing was made but it is assumed that the engines were not running properly.

The plane evidently ran into shallow water in landing or was left so by the receding tide while being repaired.

BREST, May 29.—A wireless message picked up here says "the NC-4 has landed for today, will conclude her trip tomorrow."

BREST, May 29.—The latest reports say that the NC-4 developed trouble in both the starboard motors unbalancing the big plane.

RAILROADS SURE TO STAY DRY

PORTLAND, May 29.—Regardless of what happens July 1, the United States railroad administration is "bone dry," says Regional Director Hale Holden in a circular letter addressed to the Central Western railroads. Mr. Holden warns against any tilting of the lid on troop trains and makes it clear that "the administration cannot tolerate the violation of federal and state laws by allowing liquor upon its trains."

Reports have reached the war department that soldiers and sailors have become intoxicated on trains and that civilians have been drinking liquor on trains in violation of local laws. Mr. Holden calls on all railroads to co-operate in the suppression of this evil. With the assumption of federal control liquor was banned not only from the trains but all railroad property controlled by the government.

BILLY SUNDAY PROTESTS

HOOVER RIVER, May 29.—Digressing from a sermon, mainly an arraignment of the hypocritical, "tightwad," type of churchgoers, Billy Sunday found time here to protest against President Wilson's request for lifting the ban on war prohibition.

"I have been with Wilson four-square and from the heart out," declared Mr. Sunday, "until his announcement on the prohibition measure. But with booze I cannot parley or grant any reprieves. I'm ready to fight lifting of the ban."

IMPORTANT

Today's issue contains notice by the Police Judge of the filing of the Assessment Rolls on the paving of Pine St. Crescent, Canby and East streets and Payne Alley. The property owner is given until Monday evening June 9th in which to inspect and interpose any objections he may have thereto. It is important that the property owner attend to this matter within the time given, because in the absence of an objection the Council will declare liens against the respective properties in accordance with the rolls, and thereafter the owner is barred from objecting or having his assessment modified.

WOOD GROWING MORE POPULAR AS CANDIDATE

WASHINGTON, May 29.—General Leonard Wood is making a sort of non-stop flight for the presidency, in the opinion of many republicans here from all parts of the country for the extra session of congress.

Wherever republicans get together now the presidential contest of next year is the topic of conversation and the strength of General Wood is always apparent. It developed the other day at a conference of republican leaders at Trenton, N. J., that 18 of the 19 present, representing all sections of the state, were for Wood, two for Senator Harding and one for former President Taft.

In response to popular sentiment in the rank and file of republicans, influential newspapers of that party are lining up for Wood. The Harding forces suffered a severe setback recently when the Toledo Blade and the Cleveland News, the two strongest republican papers in Senator Harding's home state, came out for General Wood.

The action of the Toledo Blade carries with it two sister papers, the Detroit (Mich.) News and the Newark (N. J.) Star-Eagle.

Some talk has been heard recently of a democratic candidate which, by reason of the high type of man mentioned, could well be taken seriously. The proposed candidate is Franklin K. Lane, secretary of the Interior, who might be regarded as excellent timber. As the one man in Mr. Wilson's cabinet who has made good consistently from the start, the secretary of the Interior stands well before the country. His entire career since he took office in 1917 has marked him as a constructive genius. He worked all the time and has done but little talking.

ELKS TO HELP WORTHY CAUSE

CAMPAIGN FOR FUNDS FOR SALVATION ARMY IN JUNE IS GOING TO BE BACKED TO THE LIMIT BY B. P. O. E. HERE

That the Klamath Falls Lodge of Elks will get behind the coming Salvation Army Drive which is to take place the last week in June and use unaccustomed vigor to raise the sum allotted to this section and even exceed the amount asked for the worthy cause was unanimously and enthusiastically decided at a rousing meeting of the order last night.

Exalted Ruler, Julius Berg of the Portland Lodge and O. C. Brotzmeier, State manager of the Salvation Army campaign for Oregon, came in from Portland to ascertain what attitude would be taken by the local boys in regard to this matter and they left with the assurance that Klamath would be one of the sections which would be found in the front rank when the returns were finally tallied.

Both men gave splendid talks on what the Salvation Army had done for boys across the sea in the great war and the tremendous factor which this organization had become as a force of Christianity in the world.

J. K. Choate, a prominent member of the Ashland Lodge made a brief but splendid address exemplifying the results of the Salvation Army work and the high principles which promoted the workers and rousing talks by R. C. Groesbeck, Chairman of the coming drive and other members of the local lodge, showed the spirit in which the boys would be undertaken here. The quota for Klamath County is $2,500.

Attorney Harold Merryman, who has just returned from overseas service paid the highest tribute possible to the Salvation Army. The Army has now formally adopted the Elks Lodge as its big brother and will look to it in future times of financial stress to help carry out its work.

A fine social time was enjoyed by the lodge before and after the business session, delightful music being furnished by the Peerless Orchestra.

ANNAPOLIS AWIATS FOR OREGON MEN

WASHINGTON, May 29.—Only four candidates for the naval academy from Oregon have passed their mental tests and are ready to enter at Annapolis. They are John Dordorf, M. F. Schneider, R. A. Tudor and M. B. Twining. Apparently there is not a single successful candidate in the whole state of Oregon for the appointment to the military academy at West Point.

MEMORIAL DAY CELEBRATED IN KLAMATH TODAY

Old Soldiers March With Boys in Khaki.

CROWDS SEE PARADE

Most Elaborate Celebration in Honor of Past Heroes Ever Held in City Is Staged Early Today—Inspiring Address at Pavilion—Relief Corps Has Active Part.

Probably the largest and most well attended Memorial Day Parade in the history of Klamath Falls was held here this morning when the aged veterans of the Civil War marched to honor the graves of the dead with the stalwart heroes who have just returned from the bitter strife for the preservation of democracy. The streets were lined with spectators sometime before the procession was ready to start and an interest was shown in the affair which was unusual, but nevertheless very good to see and which will be appreciated by those who have worked so hard to make the day a success.

In step with inspiring music from the Klamath Falls Brass Band the parade started for the cemetery about ten o'clock.

Grand Marshall Captain O. C. Applegate, with W. A. Deizell and T. O. Hague lead the parade. Following the band which came next, marched the long ranks of school children carrying flags and which constituted by far the largest division in the line. The veterans of the World War and Spanish war under the leadership of Captain Marion Nine were next to appear, after which came the Womans' Relief Corps and the G. A. R. Veterans.

This was the first appearance in actual march of the boys in khaki in Klamath Falls and while there were not as many present as might have been wished, it made a powerful impression on the crowd that lined the sidewalk.

Following the decoration exercises at the cemetery, the citizens returned to the Chautauqua Pavilion at Sixth and Main, where a patriotic program was held under the auspices of the Womans' Relief Corps. Patriotic numbers were given by O. A. Stearns and Mrs. Rose Soule Bratton and solos by Miss Claudia Spink and Mrs. H. R. Lakin.

R. C. Groesbeck who made the address of the day, dwelt upon the high ideals for which the boys who had just returned and those who had not returned, had made their sacrifice. He pointed out the principles upon which our government is founded and which had been upheld in so glorious a manner. "There are however," he said "many in the country today whose every effort along Bolshevik, I. W. W. and other depraved policies is to undermine the great governmental structure which has been built and maintained at so great a cost."

Our boys did not go forth to battle for such as these nor for the ideas they are endeavoring to force upon us, he said, and while it is fit and becoming to do our dead the greatest honor with flags and flowers, one day each year, our bigger duty to them and the way we can honor them most is to keep busy on the other 364 days of the year in upholding the mighty principles symbolized by the stars and stripes. We hold these things as trustees, he said, to hand down to future generations.

Refreshments were furnished to all the veterans by the Relief Corps at the Library Hall, following the meeting at the Pavilion.

RANCHER VISITS

Tom Watters, who operates a ranch on the road to Merrill was among the farmer visitors today. He states that the ground in the Big Basin looked very white this morning, but does not believe that the crops are injured seriously.
