

BOLSHEVIK ARE FOILED IN BIG PLOT TO KILL

Explosions Over East Last Night Fail

BUT FEW ARE INJURED

Intended Victims In All Cases Es- cape Attempts on Their Lives— Man Blown to Atoms in Placing Bomb in Residence of A. Mitchell Palmer—Nationwide Plot.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 3.—Police inspectors today believe that they had identified the man who was blown to pieces last night in an effort to kill Attorney General A. Mitchell Palmer with a bomb as an anarchist from Philadelphia.

They are confident that a nation-wide plot against the lives of the government officials and prominent business men had been laid out in Philadelphia and that the widespread explosions last night were apparently a sequel to the unsuccessful May Day outrages.

This is believed to be another step in an anarchistic movement for the overthrow of the government of the United States.

A pamphlet was found at Palmer's home where the bomber had spent some stolen $5's, the which resulted in his being blown into bits. The pamphlet indicates that a class war has been started and was signed by the Anarchistic fighters. It was evidently intended to show that a reign of terror had begun.

There were explosions in New York, Washington, Cleveland and Pittsburgh.

PHILADELPHIA, June 3.—The anarchistic attempts to destroy lives and property at Boston, Patterson and Newtonville last night, were little more successful than the May Day demonstrations.

Two or three persons were killed in New York, although the bodies were so scattered it was impossible to determine just how many.

A Mitchell Palmer, who was one of the intended victims has been attacked against Bolshevism, and the despicable attempt at his life is understood, but the officers are at a loss to understand the attempted destruction of the church in Philadelphia.

No person for whom the bombs were intended was hurt in any of the explosions.

TALKING ABOUT IT IN 'COL NEW YAWK

The town of Klamath Falls is spreading and before the year is out it is going to be one of the best known little cities of the Coast. About a class of people who usually pay little attention to the advertising methods adopted by municipalities. And all because the Klamath State Bank has placed on the back of its checks the slogan "When you endorse this check you start it home to the liveliest town on the Pacific Coast. Come and see for yourself."

The latest avenue of publicity to be gained by the use of this unique method is thru the columns of the "financier", one of the big, conservative financial journals of New York City. Here is what that publication has to say:

"The slogan 'When you endorse this check you start it home to the liveliest town on the Pacific Coast. Come and see for yourself!' which the Klamath State Bank, of Klamath Falls, Oregon, carries on the back of all its checks, is attracting a great and many are the pointed complimentary remarks that are poured underneath."

Hardly a day passes that does not bring back home a check with an added remark to the effect that the endorser is surely coming to see for himself. And among the writers are some of the biggest financiers of the nation.

ROMANTIC IRISHMAN IS SECRETLY WED

In an unobtrusive little item that appeared in the columns of The Herald last evening, was hidden a romance that has just come to light and that was wrapped up in it all of the sentiment, daring and poetry of the Emerald Isle. The item in question merely stated that Mr. and Mrs. Martin Daly left for San Francisco. But back of it lies a story of the early advent of this young Irishman into the wilds of Oregon to make his fortune and win his bride. When Mr. Daly arrived in Lake County from Ireland he took up the occupation of logging. He was successful in this vocation and was able to purchase a small tract of land and a house. He was married and named his children, Edna and Mildred. His wife and youngest daughter were with the same unobtrusiveness and with the same unobtrusiveness characteristic of his race. But there was a stumbling block that he little realized would be almost insurmountable—the objection of the parents. Nothing daunted, the young couple carried on their courtship and finally decided to settle the difficulty by getting married secretly, which they did last September. The parents were kept in ignorance of the affair until last week, when Mr. Daly wrote his bride to come to Klamath Falls, which she proceeded to do. When the parents found that they had been outwitted they did what all sensible parents always do—gave the happy couple their blessing. The honeymoon will be spent in San Francisco and other California points.

The marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Hugh J. Marshall, pastor of the church of the Sacred Heart of this city.

LEAVE FOR AUTO TRIP

Here Is Shown One of the Reasons Why the Peace Terms Handed the Germans Are So "Oppressive"

The Huns are complaining loudly that the peace terms laid down for them are "oppressive," and that no consideration is being shown them whatever. Here is shown one of the reasons why such terms were made. The delegates to the Peace Conference are shown while making their way thru ruined Arras to visit the ruins of the once beautiful cathedral, wantonly wrecked by the Germans.

MORE LAND RECLAIMED

SIXTEEN HUNDRED ACRES OF RICH LOW LAND IS PLACED UNDER IRRIGATION BY TWO PUMPING PLANTS

Sixteen hundred acres of land is to be brought under irrigation on the south side of the Klamath river between this city and Keno, when two projects now under way are completed. The Babwin Hardware company is installing two big centrifugal pumps, of the Byron Jackson type. These are directly connected with two General Electric motors, the power for which will be furnished from the plant of Kerns Brothers.

The larger of these projects is that being handled by H. H. Van Valkenburg, J. A. Bushong, L. V. Ess and H. A. Tallant, and will comprise one thousand acres. The other which is being handled by B. E. Kerns, W. E. Grant and Dr. E. H. Hawkins, will take in six hundred acres. This land now is the best in this section and when it is fully reclaimed it will produce a large crop of considerable value to the county.

The number of these small irrigation plants is constantly increasing throughout the county, and if the progress made the past two years is continued for the next few years there will be added to the tax rolls of this county a large acreage of land that has been lying dormant. Particularly will this be true if the proposition on the ballot to permit the state to guarantee the bonds of irrigation districts passes.

There are also a number of districts throughout the Klamath Basin, which, if they are given sufficient assistance to carry them over the first few years will be amply able to carry themselves just as the Klamath Project is now able to carry itself after the difficulties experienced when it was first started. Under the proposed state aid, irrigation districts can be started and carried along on a co-operative plan, free from the red tape, expense, incompetency, uncertainty and heavy overhead incident to government operation under the Reclamation Service, thus enabling the landowners to place the water on their lands at about one-third the cost they would have to pay if Uncle Sam directed the work.

Don J. Zimwalt, who has been doing some surveying for Wm. M. Bray at Bear valley, between Calor and Keno, has returned to Klamath Falls.

COUNCILMEN TAKE OFFICE

CITY ATTORNEY CARNAHAN DE- CLARES THEIR ELECTION LEG- AL WHEN QUESTION IS RAIS- ED

Frank M. Epp, C. K. Brøndenborg and Joe Moore took their oath of office as councilmen for this city last night. This was done after the city council has examined the table of all business that has been under way during the past year.

The question of the legality of the election at which the councilmen who took their seats last night were elected, was raised by Councilman Will Lee before he surrendered his seat to his successor. Mr. Lee put the question to the mayor, who referred it to City Attorney Carnahan, and that official stated that in view of the decision of the State Supreme Court in the Kelleher case, there was nothing to do but to recognize the legality of the election.

The question of doubt has arisen because of the changing of a state law changing the date of all elections from June to November, so that all city elections in the future, except special ones, shall be held on the same date as the state election. Many cities including Klamath Falls, had charter provisions calling for the election to be held in June, and this provision was not changed. It was for this reason that Mr. Crisler refused to surrender his office to Mr. Struble, and why similar cases arose throughout the state. In Portland the same question came up over the election of a commissioner, and the case was carried to the supreme court. All interested parties decided to abide by that decision, and when the court declared the legality of the election, all newly elected officials took office.

When Mr. Carnahan stated the situation as it appeared to him, Mr. Lee surrendered his seat to Mr. Upp.

TWO WEDDINGS AT PRESBYTERIAN MANSE

Rev. E. P. Lawrence, of the Presbyterian church of this city was the officiating clergyman at two weddings Saturday afternoon when he united in marriage John R. Withrow, of Porterville, Calif. and Miss Belle Grier, Mrs. Withrow is the daughter of Mrs. W. S. Long of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Withrow left yesterday morning for Stockton, California, where Mr. Withrow is employed.

The second couple united in matrimony by Mr. Lawrence was Donald Graeme and Miss Kay Kincaid, both of Odessa. Mrs. Graeme has been the school teacher at Odessa for the past year and is one of the most charming young ladies of the Upper country. Mr. Graeme is one of the valued employees of the Lamm Lumber Company. They will make their home at Odessa.

CAFETERA HAS FINE RECORD

PUPILS AT RIVERSIDE SCHOOL ARE FURNISHED LUNCH THRU- OUT YEAR AT COST OF LESS THAN TEN CENTS PER MEAL

That a nourishing substantial lunch can be served to a growing child at an average cost of nine and nine tenths cents, in spite of the high prices of the present day, is the statement made by Miss Molly Stewart, principal of the Riverside School here and manager of the cafeteria, which has served fourteen thousand four hundred and seventy one lunches to the school children there in the six months school this year. An average of 121 meals were served each school day.

While the menu for these lunches has been nothing fancy, a good lunch with milk or cocoa to drink, and bread and butter with a meat loaf, baked beans or some thing on this order has been served each day and been prepared in the best possible way by Miss Bertha Frakes. Miss Stewart reports shows that a total of $1,434.17 was taken in for the meals and that $1,432.76 was paid out, leaving the close margin of $1.41 in the treasury. Groups of girls in the seventh and eighth grades took turns in serving, so that this cost was cut out. The cafeteria seats about one hundred children. At the close of the term a treat of strawberries and ice cream was served to the students out of the treasury funds.

The food was of course obtained for the cafeteria at wholesale prices, but the fact that a nourishing lunch could be put out for less than ten cents even at wholesale prices, comes as a surprise to those who have been in contact with the average bill of fare.

RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION

The annual first communion services of the Sacred Heart church were held Sunday, when a class of eight received their first holy communion. The class consisted of Gerald Herlihy, Hubert Maguire, John Marshall, Charles Matney, Ralph Williams, Lucile Calhoun, Mary Matney and Irene Williams. The event is one of the important affairs of the parish, and each service on Sunday was largely attended.

The altar was beautifully decorated with cut flowers and potted plants. The boys were dressed in black and wore white ribbons on their right arm, and the little girls wore white dresses, wreaths and veils, and carried bouquets of roses and lilies of the valley. Following the first mass, the members of the class were taken by the sisters to the Convent where breakfast was served.

At the last mass the communicants were enrolled in the Mt. Carmel secular and made members of the League of the Sacred Heart.

LANE ANSWERS QUESTIONS OF WATER USERS

Secretary of the Interior Tells Why Contract Was Made

SUSTAINS OFFICIALS

Voluminous Reply Is Being Considered at a Meeting of the Directors of the Klamath Irrigation District— Text of Reply Not Yet Available for Publication.

A meeting of the directors of the Klamath Irrigation District is being held this afternoon and it is one of the most important in the history of the Klamath Project, for at it is being considered the reply that Secretary of the Interior Lane has made to the telegram of inquiry sent him in connection with the construction of the dam across Link river. This reply will not be given out for publication before it has been fully considered by the board, but it is understood that it practically sustains the action of the officials of the Reclamation Service in entering into the contract for the construction of the dam across Link river.

This telegram was sent soon after the straw vote was taken ordering the directors to institute proceedings to prevent the construction of the dam. Notwithstanding the result of this election, President Offield has taken advantage of every subterfuge to prevent the commencement of legal proceedings that would protect the rights and interests of the people.

In the meantime the cofferdam has been constructed, and the owners of land along the shores of the Upper lake have learned what it will mean to them if the dam is made a permanent fixture. Thousands of acres of rich low land has been flooded and the level of the lake is still going higher.

Another feature of the contract that is just beginning to attract attention is the effect of the possibility of the lowering of the lake to the point permitted under the contract signed with the government. This contract makes it possible for the power company to practically drain the Upper lake, and if it did so it would virtually tie up the lumbering industries that are now dependent upon the body of water for the handling of the immense supply of logs needed for the successful operation of the plants.

As the full purport of the contract draws upon those interested, the amazement grows that any set of officials would have the audacity to grant such privileges to any concern.

BIG SHIPMENT OF AUTOMOBILES

The Central Garage is busy unloading and getting into working condition two exports of automobiles one consisting of Chandler cars and the other of the famous little Chevrolet. These machines have been secured early after the most urgent pleadings, and the Central boys consider themselves extremely lucky to be able to get them. Several have already been sold, and it is expected that the rest of the shipment will be disposed of at an early date.
