

MILLIONS FOR COMPLETION OF THIS PROJECT

Bill Is Favorably Reported In the United States Senate

WILL FINISH ALL WORK

Two Million, Seven Hundred Thousand Dollars Is to Be Set Aside for Putting the Finishing Touches on Reclaiming Land Near Here.

The Herald is in receipt of the following telegram from United States Senator McNary:

"The committee on irrigation of the senate has today favorably reported a bill carrying an appropriation of fifty million dollars. This money is to be used for the completion of irrigation projects recommended by Secretary of the Interior Lane. The Klamath project is included in the bill, the sum specified for it being two million, seven hundred thousand dollars."

If this measure passes carrying this sum for the Klamath project, and the committee's favorable recommendation is almost sure to be accepted by the Senate, it will mean the final completion of this project.

Originally the Reclamation Service told the people that it was going to reclaim 250,000 acres. This figure has been trimmed from year to year until it has been reduced over 100,000 acres. Under present plans, if the appropriation specified in the senate measure becomes available, the acreage in the finished project will be 145,000 acres. This will include the lands in the Yonna Valley project, Langell Valley, Horsefly, Shasta View, the marsh lands, and everything else outside of certain lands bordering on the Upper lake. The funds available will be ample to completely finish the project, drainage and all, and will open up for soldier settlement lands that will be equal to the best to be found anywhere else in the world.

MORE LAND IS BEING WATERED

RANCHER NEAR BONANZA STARTS PUMPING TODAY. NEIGHBORS ACROSS RIVER WILL START IRRIGATION SOON

Water was turned for the first time today on the ranch of W. H. Lytle just below Bonanza. Mr. Lytle has installed a pumping plant on Lost River near his property and has done his last dry farming, as have most of his neighbors in that district. Ross Sutton and three of his neighbors just across the river expect to turn water on eight hundred more acres within the next week. Nearly all the land around the town of Bonanza which two years ago was without a drop of water is now covered by pumping plant projects of various sizes.

The farmers have discovered that irrigation is the only sure way to farm in this country, especially when there is ample water to be had and the cost of getting it on the land very reasonable.

When the high prices for water paid to be put on lands far inferior to those of Klamath County in many places are considered it seems strange that this rich district has not been developed years ago.

SALVATION ARMY DRIVE IS NEXT

ORGANIZATION WHOSE MOTTO IS "A MAN MAY BE DOWN, BUT HE'S NEVER OUT," ASKS FOR HELP

Everything is in readiness for the Home Service Campaign of The Salvation Army in Oregon, to be conducted under the auspices of The Oregon State Elks Association. The drive quota is $250,000 of which one-half or $125,000 is to be raised in Multnomah county and Portland.

The money which Oregon is asked to raise for this organization is to be used exclusively in the work of the organization in this state. The army is not requesting any money for itself, but instead is seeking to obtain sufficient funds in this one drive to enable it to serve humanity for one year without making continual solicitation upon the public for funds every few months.

Every person has heard the story of The Salvation Army in France, where it served in the front line areas bringing comforts of home to the American doughboys. It is this service that has focused the public eye upon the organization and which has caused inquiry into the past efforts of this body of Christian men and women.

This inquiry has established the fact that for many years past, the Salvation Army has operated in the front line trenches of vice and poverty, bringing comforts to those who had been shunned by the remainder of society. Its motto "A man may be down, but he's never out" has won for The Salvation Army the approbation of the general public and every indication points to a large over-subscription in the forthcoming drive.

SPLENDID RESPONSE

The response to our appeal for the pictures and records of the boys who offered their lives for the defense of their country has been most gratifying. The people of the city and county are indicating a spirit that is good to see. They are lending a hand that is sure to make the project a success and give to this county a record that will be complete down to the smallest detail. This is all that The Herald asks, and the progress so far made is sufficient to make us feel sure that we are going to get just what we are asking for. Mr. A. C. Lester is making a complete canvass of the city, and he is very much gratified with the cordial reception he is receiving. We would, however, urge those who can do so to bring to the Honor Roll headquarters, Sixth and Main streets, the photographs and save us a great deal of time. It is impossible for Mr. Lester to spend more than a few hours a day on the canvass and as we are anxious to gather all the data needed at the earliest possible date, we want you to help us out as much as you can.

Some of the boys have been a little bashful about furnishing their pictures, seeking, rather, to remain in the background. While this is a laudable characteristic in some circumstances, this is one instance when the boys should be just as proud of having their record in this Honor Roll as they were to join the colors. Every record is going to be included in this publication, anyway, and we are only urging co-operation to enable us to have it absolutely accurate as well as complete. Let us do for the boys what the boys have done for us—honor them for all time as they honored us by offering their lives in our defense.

Let us honor those who gave of their time and money in the effort to keep a solid support back of the lads while they were in the ranks. Klamath county did nobly every day during the war. Let us commemorate that work by making of it an indestructible record that future generations may see what we did to help win the war.

RICKEY CLEANS UP WOOL MARKET

MAKES A WHIRLWIND FINISH THAT NETS HIM OVER THREE HUNDRED AND FIFTY THOUSAND POUNDS

After making a whirlwind trip through this county buying wool, Frank Rickey left this morning for Bend where he goes to repeat the same tactics he followed here. The result of his visit here was the purchase of over 350,000 pounds of wool, for which he paid fifty cents a pound. Practically every clip in this territory was purchased by the wool men, with the prices ranging from 43 cents to 53 cents per pound. The top price was paid. It is understood, to Rex Bord. Rickey is buying for Eiseman & company of Boston, the local representative being Dan Godsil.

The results this year have been very satisfactory to the sheepmen. Tributary to this shipping point there is 650,000 pounds of wool, valued at about three million dollars. This is new money and under present conditions it will continue to come in year after year, for the reason the source of supply is still here. The growth of the sheep industry has been so rapid in this county that few people realized its immense value and it is only when concrete results similar to those secured thru the sale of the wool is the fact brought home that Klamath county has a most valuable asset in the sheepmen. Add to this three million dollars the value of the lambs, and it will be readily seen that it is going to be a big source of wealth.

The difficulties arising out of the wool question, that for a time threatened to bring about a breach between the cattle and sheepmen, will be amicably adjusted thru the creation of the grazing reserve. When this is accomplished and the owners of the sheep purchase ranches, as so many of them are doing, the industry will be placed on a permanent basis and then the returns can be easily estimated from year to year.

The largest single shipment of wool ever made from this city was sent out today from the Martin Brothers warehouse, when Shanahan Brothers shipped 38,000 pounds. This represents practically $19,000 in cash.

GERMAN FEELING TOWARDS PEACE TREATY CHANGES

Majority Socialists Are Inclined Towards Acceptance.

BERLIN IS RESIGNED.

London Newspapers Declare that the Grand Fleet is Ready to Proceed to German Waters and British Dirigibles Are Already Near the German Coast.

Dateless Dispatch by the Associated Press—The German feeling toward the peace treaty appears to be through the peace delegation is represented as decidedly opposed to acceptance of the terms. Latest dispatches reflect a different view point. The majority socialists, the dominant political force in Germany, the republic is declared to be more favorably inclined towards the treaty at first. The clericals and democratic of the left wing are swinging in the same direction. The people of Berlin are reported to be resigned to the future, wishing only to see the treaty signed.

In the meantime exciting rumors are being printed in London newspapers to the effect that the British grand fleet is ready to sail for German waters on short notice and that British dirigibles are already near the German coast, if not over German soil.

AUTO PARK NOW FIXED TO CAMP

TOURISTS ALREADY MAKING USE OF GROUNDS ON SPRING SE. NEAR BATH HOUSE. MANY VISITORS EXPECTED

The first warm days after the recent cold snap have brought the tourists in large numbers and the city has been taking active steps to put the new camp grounds near the Hot Springs Bath House in order, for the amper.

Free wood, water, proper plumbing and conveniences for cooking are being installed and the visitors will have the best kind of a place in which to camp while they remain in the city. Although the spot which has been taken over this year is considerably larger than either of the other two before used for this purpose here, it is very probable that it will be taxed to the limit by the increasing travel.

The comparative isolation of Klamath county in the past, has alone been responsible for the fact that the tourists have not simply flooded the county during the summer months and it is only to be expected that sections which have scenic attractions to exploit should have made all efforts to bring visitors via other routes as most other sections are a sort of anti-climax to those who have seen Klamath. Little by little, however the county has been discovered until now it is routed by some of the large automobile associations as the main thoroughfare north and south.

After this has been started for a few months the advertising done by the visitors themselves will be sufficient to bring Klamath to the very front as a scenic section and its future in this respect established.
