

ROY RECTOR IS KILLED IN TEXAS

FOME RESIDENT OF THIS CITY BREAKS HIS NECK IN DIVE INTO SHALLOW WATER

Roy Rector, 28 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Rector of 811 Mesquite street, is the first victim of a drowning accident in Corpus Christi this season. He made a shallow dive from the veranda of the Breakers shortly before eight o'clock. When he did not appear in the water persons who were standing by remarked there was a possibility of his having been injured, but others said he had been swimming under water and had come up out in the surf. As Rector was not a member of any party, but had gone to the beach alone, no one paid further attention, and it was half an hour later that his body was washed to shore.

First aid was given and a call sent to Fire Headquarters for the pulmotor. Eventually the body was brought to the fire house and the pulmotor was used for half an hour without effect. It is believed that in the dive he broke his neck or fractured his skull. There was a wound in the head which indicated that he may have struck a sharp stone. The water in which he dived is not more than four feet in depth.

The man's parents were at the fire house and waited during the time the pulmotor was used. The father gave up hope at once and weaned and cried, but the mother hoped until the last. When told that her son had gone out she shrieked and tore herself upon the young man's body, herself upon the young man's body, calling him to speak to her and insisting that he was not dead. Physicians finally unclasped her hands from the body and she was taken to her home. The father collapsed completely.

Rector was born in California, and came to Texas several years ago. The family had lived in Corpus Christi for a year and the father and son were partners in a confectionery shop business in the Catharine building, adjoining the Amusee theater entrance. A pathetic feature of the tragedy was the fact that the young man did not want to go to the beach last night but finally yielded to the persuasion of his father, who insisted that the recreation would be beneficial.

Rector was a member of the Odd Fellows, and had many friends. He had an agreeable personality and his shop was a favorite place with the theater-going crowds.

Besides his parents, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. T. W. Evans of Long Mott, and a sister in Abilene, whose name could not be learned, but who will not be notified of the tragedy, because she is ill.

At the Jordt-Allen morgue, where the body was taken, it was said that Rector's neck was broken, and that his death could not be blamed either to the delay in getting the pulmotor or the delay in getting the body out of the water.

Sailor Richardson and Bonnie Clark, men honorably discharged from the navy, recovered the body, and used navy first aid measures.—From the Corpus Christi Caller.

Mr. Rector was for over a year clerk in the old American Hotel in this city. His father was the news agent between this city and Weed, and had a host of friends all along the line. The family was a most estimable one and their many friends will be deeply grieved to learn of the tragic death that brought to them so much sorrow.

HERZOG IS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

Paul Herzog of Algoma, who was arrested on Klamath Indian Reservation Friday, June 13th, and brought here by Walter G. West, Supervisor of the Klamath Reservation on the charge of introducing liquor on the reservation was given a preliminary examination last Friday afternoon before United States Commissioner Thomas. The evidence produced by the Government indicated that Herzog was seen to deposit a gunny sack containing something heavy in the thick brush along a by-road near Chiloquin. The sack was later discovered to contain eleven full quarts of whiskey. No defense was offered by Herzog and he was bound over to await the action of the next Federal grand jury, his bond being fixed at $1500, which he furnished.

The car driven by Herzog is subject to confiscation by the government if he is convicted, and it is now in the custody of the Indian Service.

WORLD TRADE 60 BILLIONS LAST YEAR

World international commerce in 1918 was nearly or quite $60,000,000,000 in stated value, against $40,000,000,000 in 1913 and $20,000,000,000 in 1900. Official figures of the 1918 trade of 20 principal countries of the world are now available and upon these and the partial figures for other countries the National City bank of New York estimates that the valuation of the entire international commerce of the world in the calendar year 1918 will when official figures become available, approximate and perhaps fully equal $60,000,000,000 against $52,000,000,000 in 1917, $47,000,000,000 in 1916 and $40,000,000,000 in 1915, the year preceding the war.

The 20 countries for which 1918 figures are now available are the most important from the trade standpoint of world nations. In a few instances the figures for 1918 are based upon estimates for the closing months of the year, but in practically all the important cases the figures are governmental and cover the full year.

Nearly one-half of this estimated world total of $60,000,000,000, says the bank's statement, was handled by the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy, Canada and Japan. RioxiatRecent (shrdlu shrdl u dlu

DELAP BEATS WIRTZ WITH TWO BIG FISH

County Clerk C. R. DeLap, after reading the Wirtz fish story, determined to put the "music master" to shame. After enlisting the services of J. W. McCoy as witness, he started for Spencer Creek in quest of fish.

Late Friday night Mr. DeLap's family had given him up and were preparing to retire when they heard him slip into the kitchen and upon going out and peering into every corner they at last discovered two under sized trout shivering in the sink. The county clerk had "a lot of courage to come home with that catch," his friends insist.

MEDFORD THEATRE IS IN NEW HANDS.

MEDFORD, June 23.—Announcement was made today of the taking over of the Page Theatre, Medford's legitimate play house, which part of the time has been devoted to moving pictures, by Arthur Moran and H. L. Percy, owners and managers of the Rialto Theatre, on a 10 year's lease from Dr. Frederick C. Page. The latter finds that he can no longer devote so much time to the running of the Page and has therefore retired to give much needed time to his other interests.

TO THE WOMEN FOLKS OF KLAMATH FALLS

It is now, as it ever has been, up to the women folks to plan to take care of the visiting Elks when they arrive next August, and I want their co-operation in planning how to buy for this big event, for you are surely a-going to need a lot more bed-clothes to cover the visitors that you will have under your roof, and I want to be prepared to take care of your needs in this line; so come in and let's talk over the bed-clothes situation.

You will need a few coats, pads, quilts, sheets and blankets, so place your order now for them, so we will be prepared to take care of your needs on a moment's notice. At least give me an inkling as to what you will need, so that I can prepare for your business.

Respectfully,
