THE ROADSIDE BEAUTIFUL

The tree-lined and shrub-bedecked boulevard promises to become one of the established institutions of the United States. Los Angeles is no longer to be the only "Mecca" for automobilists. The spirit which animated the planting of briar and broom along the approach to the Portland-Vancouver interstate bridge has caught the country at large. Kentucky has taken up the plan. The whole south likes the idea. Coupled with the movement for planting imposing shade trees as memorials for soldiers it seems likely to result in such a carnival of outdoor decoration as will make an automobile ride on any good road in any direction an esthetic joy, says the Oregonian.

The art of roadside decoration is still young, but much may be expected of it. The purpose to be sought is harmony of color and continuity of bloom. This has been partly achieved by choice broom and roses for the interstate bridge approach. There is no color so decorative as golden yellow, almost the exact tinge of the springtime sun, and none so dainty as the pink of the variety of rose chosen. We need only an autumn red, like that of the woodbine, to make the seasonal cycle complete.

All possible colors harmonize in nature, the super esthetics to the contrary notwithstanding. Flowers and trees and plenty of them will be the goal of the new roadside decorators. But the aim should be to employ in each instance a scheme of ornamentation characteristic of the locality. There are few localities in the United States, even in the plains states, to which some beautiful plants are not indigenous. The automobile has immensely widened the radius of travel of all Americans, with consequences that may be politically as well as economically important. A journey from state to state may in time become a kaleidoscopic adventure of floral delight, with every bloom nodding a separate welcome to every tourist as he speeds along. It will not detract from the larger features of the landscape, nor will the planting of flowering shrubs preclude the programme of planting slower growing trees. All have their places. The esthetic movement is quite evidently popular. And as localities develop emulation in matters artistic, it is easy to imagine that they will be less keen for strife

COMMISSION NOT BLAMED

In the story in yesterday's Herald "Klamath Asks for More Fish," no reflection was intended on the efforts of the Fish and Game Commission, and particularly on the work of Commissioner C. F. Stone of this city. Mr. Stone has spent more time and money in his efforts to make Klamath County the Sportsman's Paradise than probably any one man who ever held a similar position, and the fact that he has worked so faithfully is responsible for this county standing where it does in this respect. Such places as Four Mile Lake, Diamond Lake, Lake of the Woods, Fish Lake, etc., where a few years ago, prior to 1915, to be exact, there was not a sign of a trout, now abound with splendid rainbow trout of magnificent size, and due entirely to the efforts of Mr. Stone and his helpers in Klamath County.

That the trout are not in the Williamson River, Sprague River and Spring Creek may be, and probably is due to the fact that the Williamson has been filled with logs from bank to bank at different places for the past year or more and thus stopped the run of the fish.

No matter what the cause may be, whatever it is, all effort should be put forth by every lover of the great outdoors to bring about the remedy, and whatever the remedy may be and whatever steps may be necessary to bring about the desired result, one man who can be depended upon to use his utmost endeavor will be Commissioner Charles F. Stone.

TROUT LOVER

RAILROAD MAN SPENT SAVINGS OF YEARS

HARRILL SUFFERED TEN YEARS AND TRIED NEARLY EVERY MEDICINE BUT NOTHING HELPED HIM

"I wish to goodness I had known about Tanlac before for I'd have saved myself of suffering and my bank account would have been a great deal bigger," said C. C. Harrill, a well-known railroad man with the Texas & Pacific, who resides at 800 West Balkins street, Fort Worth, Texas, and who has been a resident of that city for more than thirty years.

"It was about ten years ago," Mr. Harrill continued, "that my troubles began. My appetite failed me and everything I ate soured on my stomach and formed gas that gave me terrible cramping pains and I could hardly get my breath. It seemed like there was a big hard lump right in my chest that was cutting off my breath. I got so I could hardly eat a thing that didn't bring on one of these attacks and sometimes it didn't seem like I would live thru them. I tried everything I had ever heard of and spent every cent I had saved for years, trying to get relief but nothing that I took helped me at all.

"I read so much about Tanlac and the good it was doing that I decided to try a bottle. I have now taken four bottles and can truthfully say that it has entirely relieved my stomach trouble. My appetite is just splendid and everything I eat now agrees with me and does me good and I am never bothered with indigestion or those cramping pains in my stomach or chest anymore. I can eat anything I want and never have a minute's discomfort afterward and I am feeling better in every way than I have for years. Tanlac has sure done the work for me and I gladly recommend it to anyone who has troubles like mine were."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lorella by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

IT'S A POOR DOCTOR Who Won't Take His Own Medicine

THAT'S WHY WE ARE USING THIS SPACE TO TELL YOU WHAT JOLLY LITTLE BUSINESS STIMULATORS HERALD WANT ADS ARE—AND WHY THEY GET RESULTS

THERE IS NO GUESSWORK about a Herald Want Ad. They do the business. We know they pay. Our customers have told us so time and again. We have used them ourselves and they have never failed to get results. They are the short cut to a quick turn-over—the modern method of merchandising on a small scale, where the value of the article to be sold or the importance of the want to be filled will not justify a heavy outlay.

If you had something to sell, trade or give away and went out on the street and told each person you met about what you wanted to do, you might get results—but the people you talked to would be very likely to say: "That poor fish has bats in his belfry." If, on the other hand, you used a Want Ad, you would talk to the whole county at once, instead of only one person, and do it in a businesslike manner.

The same rule applies to hiring help, renting a house, looking for a job, or any one of the important little incidents of life where you must call in the assistance of someone outside your immediate family. You MIGHT get results by telling your troubles to the neighbors—but the certain, quick and economical way is to use a little classified ad.

Do you want to buy, sell or trade, want to hire help or find work; do you want to find a room, a house to rent, or to rent the same to someone else; do you want to call attention to some new feature of your business, seek information on some subject, or have you any little unfilled want?
