

TURKS WILL LOSE SOPHIA MOSQUE

THE CHRISTIANIZATION OF THIS CELEBRATED CHURCH MAY BE FOLLOWED BY FAR REACHING CONSEQUENCES TO ENGLAND

CONSTANTINOPLE, (By mail)—The faithful Turk does not visit the great mosque of St. Sophia as frequently as he used to, for he considers it a foregone conclusion that St. Sophia will become a Christian church, as it was in the fifth and sixth centuries. One can always have an argument in Constantinople over the question whether the church will revert to the Greek Orthodox or Roman Catholic communion.

Christian architects already have visited the mosque, and are making their plans for the transformation of the church when it is taken from the Turks. The faint mosaic of Christ above the Mirah, which has been almost invisible for centuries, will be renewed, and the mosaics of the apostles under the small dome in the north end of the church will be restored. Turkish inscriptions of all sorts will be torn down and replaced by Christian symbols.

The devil's face in the marble carvings under the big dome and the alleged impression in stone of the face of "Mamut, the Conqueror," also will be retained as a reminder of the Turk of May, 1453, when Mamut climbed upon a heap of Christian corpses in the church's Christian shrine, and smote the wall with his hand still bloody from the bodies of the Christian slain.

An aged Englishman, who has lived in Constantinople for thirty years, predicts trouble when the Christians take over St. Sophia.

"I am going to stay at home that day," he says. "Dozens of people will be suffocated in the crush, and then, you know, the Turks have not been disarmed since the armistice. There will be bloodshed that day."

There is a possibility that the conversion of St. Sophia for Christian worship may meet with some opposition from Great Britain. At present there are many Italian troops in Constantinople, and if St. Sophia should be taken from the Muslims it is feared that dissatisfaction among them might eventually have its echo in India and other parts of Islam.

"NO FUND CHECKS" TABOO IN "PENNSY"

PHILADELPHIA, June 25.—A board of worthless checks will find it difficult from now on to pass by the method of fraud.

A law has been placed on the statute books of Pennsylvania defining the issuance of a worthless check as a misdemeanor. Hereafter, under its provisions, not only will be issuing of a "no-account" check, or one of the kind which returns with the inscription "not sufficient," be punishable, but the new law says: the mere fact of making, drawing or delivering such a check will be prima facie evidence of intent to defraud, unless the drawer makes good the amount of the check, with interest, within ten days.

For the person who draws and utters a worthless check for an amount less than $20, the penalty on conviction is $100 or 30 days' imprisonment, while the drawer of a check for more than $20 the imprisonment is two years.

HENRY ALBERS IS NOT CONNECTED WITH THE ALBERS MILLING CO.

An account of the name of the Albers Bros. Milling Company, a corporation having been mentioned in connection with that of Henry Albers during newspaper reports of his recent trial, the stockholders of which there are ninety-five, feel that it is necessary to make the following statement to avoid being involved in his case.

Albers Bros. Milling Company was not on trial or in any way implicated in his case, which was strictly individual. This was repeatedly brought out during court proceedings, as court records will prove.

Henry Albers is in no way connected with Albers Bros. Milling Company either as owner of stock or in any manner whatever. He was at one time an officer and stockholder, but even then held only ten per cent of the stock. He was compelled to resign in October of last year.

These facts are a matter of record and should hereafter set at rest any doubt from that source as to the patriotism and integrity of the corporation. 18-26-21.

STRIKERS TO DEMAND AN ADJUSTMENT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 25.—Representatives of the striking operators of the Telephone and Telegraph companies and the Electrical workers of California and Nevada announced today that unless negotiations with the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company were satisfactorily concluded today they would serve an ultimatum, following which all leads in Oregon and Washington would be called out unless demands were granted.
