

Women Managers Replace Men

Even Uncle Sam learned a great deal about women's ability that he never knew before, as a result of his war experiences. This picture proves out that claim. These women are the new managers of the government dormitories for war workers at Washington, D. C., where two thousand women clerks are housed. The management has been taken entirely out of the hands of men managers. Left to right they are Mary E. Rust, Doris Burchard, Mary Lindsey, Harlow James, general manager, and Olive Davis.

YANK STORES TO BE USED UP SOON

MAJOR GENERAL T. C. BIDDLE EXPECTED TO DISPOSE OF THEM BY AUGUST 1—ENGLISH KIND TO AMERICAN SOLDIERS

LONDON, (Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The last of the billion dollars worth of stores purchased by the American army in England will have been disposed of on August 1 in the opinion of Major General T. C. Biddle. The American Army headquarters were closed June 15 and only a small contingent of the quartermaster's department remained to co-operate with the Liquidation Commission in adjusting a few remaining contracts and selling supplies. Consequently by August the army will cease to have a war interest in England.

"Immediately the armistice was signed we began to cancel and adjust contracts and in this work had such hearty co-operation from the British war office that the United States has been able to clear up its contracts very advantageously," said General Biddle. "Only a few of them remain to be adjusted."

"The last property on hand consisted largely of aviation, engineer and ordnance stores. It was not deemed advisable to dispose of it too quickly and finally it was arranged that auction sales of all that was not disposed of privately should have begun the latter part of June. There was demand for most of the material and our early inquiries indicated that good prices would be obtained and also that we would have little difficulty in getting rid of everything we had."

"I want to lay emphasis upon the hospitality shown by the English people toward the American soldier now that I am going home. We have been entertained and looked after officially and unofficially. The special committee of the Ministry of Information which provided entertainment at camps and for men on leave vied with the American organizations in making life pleasant and the real spirit of hospitality was emphasized by the great number of English families residing near American centers of activities who made strange American soldiers welcome in their homes."

A SCOTCHMAN'S PRAYER.
Oh Lord, we approach thee this mornin' in the attitude o' prayer, and likewise o' complaint. When we can't see the land o' Canady, we expect thee to find a land flowin' w' milk and honey, but instead o' that we found a land peopled with ungodly Irish. O Lord, in thy great mercy, drive them to the uttermost parts o' Canady; mak' them bevers o' wood and drawers of water; gie them me emoluments; gie them nae place o' abode. Ne'er mak' them magistrates or rulers among thy people; but if ye has any favors to bestow on any good land tae gie awa', gie it tae thine sin, thy peculiar people—the Scotch. Make them a' members a' parliament, an' magistrates an' rulers among thy people. But sa for the ungodly Irish, tak' them by the heel an' shake them over the mouth o' hell, but dinna let them fa' in. And a' the glory shall be thine, Amen.

Are you getting ready? Why, don't you know that the Elks are coming on August 14, 15 and 16? Now get busy.

Don't forget the non-divorce wedding rings at Davenport's.
