Uncle Sam is Forced to Turn Dressmaker Because World War Has Ended

Uncle Sam has been forced to go into the dressmaking business. It happened this way: The Ordnance Bureau of the War Department had left in its hands 18,000,000 yards of a specially made silk intended for use as wrappings for cartridge cases. To prove that the cloth is suitable for dress goods Col. E. E. Garrison had a dress made and fitted to his secretary. Here is the dress. The colonel says the goods should retail for two or three dollars a yard. Bids will be open on July 19.

RESERVE CORPS GIVES OFFICERS FOR BIG ARMY.

WASHINGTON, July 14.—Army officers point to the new officers reserve corps as one of the big assets obtained from the war. The corps now numbers more than 45,000 members, sufficient on the basis of 1 officer to 20 men to furnish the commissioned personnel of an army of 900,000. Officers in the higher grades include 68 colonels, 196 lieutenant colonels and 2,298 majors. There are on file 24,817 applications for appointment as officers in the regular army.

AIRPLANE WILL BE USED FOR FLIGHT TO THE SOUTH POLE

LONDON, July 14.—Two airplane manufacturers have offered to give an airplane to J. L. Cope, leader of the British Imperial Antarctic Expedition, for a flight to the South Pole. It is declared to be Mr. Cope's intention to carry an airplane on board the exploring steamer Terra Nova on which the expedition is to proceed until the vessel becomes fast from the ice. Mr. Cope is planning to be absent about six years.

R-34 LANDING IN AMERICA AFTER FLIGHT FROM SCOTLAND

About four and a half days after leaving East Fortune, Scotland, the huge British dirigible, R-14, descended without mishap at Roosevelt Field, Mineola, Long Island. This photograph shows the actual arrival of the first lighter-than-air machine to fly across the Atlantic after its history-making trip. In the foreground and the background are seen some of the thousands who cheered when this aerial triumph was accomplished.
