HIGH PRAISE FOR YANKEE TROOPS

Australian Commander-in-Chief During War Says That the Americans Never Failed to Deliver the Goods When Called Upon.

LONDON, Aug. 4.—Australian and American soldiers are "full blood brothers," in the opinion of Lieutenant General Sir John Monash, commander-in-chief of the Australian forces in the war, because the Americans were never placed in any position, nor called upon to perform any duty, when, as the general expressed it, in an Independence Day speech here, they did not "deliver the goods."

General Monash said he first reached this conclusion in the early dawn of the 4th of July, 1918, when for the first time, Australian troops, fighting side by side with the Americans in the Somme sector, won the battle of Hamel, and gave to the allied arms the first success they had achieved since the Germans began their memorable advance on March 21st.

"This battle was the turning point of the war," said General Monash. "It was a brilliant and unqualified success, and its effect upon the morale, both of the enemy and of our own men, was electric and startling. It became the model of all subsequent achievements in France, and it paved the way for the great counter offensive in August."

The American troops engaged, the general said, were 1,000 men from the 33d division, commanded by General John Bell. The 33d division was then undergoing training. General Monash said he had asked and obtained permission to employ 1,000 of the Americans in the battle of Hamel, but on the eve of the battle the permission was withdrawn.

"Those 1,000 Americans covered themselves with glory, and I can pay them no greater compliment than by saying that from that day on our Australian veterans took them to their hearts as full blood brothers."

"I have been asked over and over again to express my opinion of the American troops," General Monash continued. "I am not going to be so foolish as to attempt to do so here and now, I am only going to say that in your own expressive vernacular that at all times and in every place where I have used them, the American troops 'delivered the goods.'

"You may well believe that this close association in war of such large bodies of Australians and Americans has erected a very real and lasting friendship between our two democracies. The foundations of that friendship had already been laid many years before by the visit of the American battle fleet to Australia."

"I can assure you that Australia attaches much importance to securing and maintaining the friendship of America. We look upon the United States as our big brother in the Pacific, and if any one of you has reflected on the problems of the Pacific which are going to arise in the future, he will know what I mean by that observation."

ELK ROAM GAME PRESERVE IN LAGUNA MOUNTAINS.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Aug. 5.—A band of twelve elk, including three bucks and nine does, is roaming the game preserve in the Laguna Mountains and are an attraction to campers who chance upon them from time to time. Originally the animals were in Balboa park here.

The elk were turned loose at an altitude of 6000 feet where the climate and surroundings are ideal for their successful propagation. It is expected that their numbers will increase as they are protected against molestation from hunters.

PLATINUM DEPOSITS FOUND.

PAPEETE, Society Islands, Aug. 5.—Platinum deposits are reported to have been discovered on the island of Rurutu one of the Austral group approximately 200 miles south of Tahiti. A mining engineer from the United States is investigating the reported discovery for the holders of mining rights here.

SAYS LEAGUE IS DREAM.

MEXICO CITY, Aug. 5.—Luis Cabrera, secretary of the treasury, is quoted El Democra as saying in an address before the Chamber of Deputies. "The league of nations continues to be a dream for there is not one nation that cares to renounce a part of its sovereignty as a sacrifice to the good of the rest."

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness.

If we would all practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anaemic-looking souls with puffy, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-checked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood.

Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleaning, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to any one its cleansing, sweetening and refreshing effect upon the system.—Ad

OLCOTT ISSUES PROCLAMATION

Sounds a Warning That Must be Heeded by Those Visiting the Great Forests of the State During the Dry Season.

Confronted with the great danger that threatens the great forests of this state, Governor Olcott has issued a proclamation warning the public to be careful in the use of fires during the dry season now prevailing. It reads as follows:

With the State of Oregon confronted by a condition which threatens destruction of forests, grass and grain fields because of lack of rain, I feel justified in ordering all State Fire Wardens to exercise the greatest caution in issuing permits to burn.

I further proclaim that no camp fires shall be started in or near forest or brush covered lands within twenty (20) feet of any standing or down trees, brush piles, or other litter that may cause the spread of fire, and under no condition is a fire to be built until the ground is cleared to mineral soil for a distance of six (6) feet in every direction and no such fire shall be left even temporarily until it has been completely extinguished with water.

Inasmuch as the forests are one of the state's chief material resources I strongly urge every person going into the woods during the current dry season to refrain from smoking, as any fire allowed to get beyond control is not only extremely dangerous to all classes of property but necessitates the use of labor and supplies

EXPORTERS GIVE CARE TO TRADE

Denver Merchants Win Favor With South American Firms by Practicing Courtesy and Efficient Methods With Them.

DENVER, Aug. 5.—Denver exporters are rapidly pushing open the gates of commercial South America by giving greater attention to the needs of Latin American countries.

by more careful packing and by refraining from hurrying the South American merchants to pay their bills.

Lessons derived from the experiences of Denver manufacturers may be a benefit to those of any section of the country. Business circulars are being issued in Spanish and correspondents familiar with that language are being employed so as to approach the customer in his own language.

Realizing that much of their merchandise must be transported by mules over the Andean passes, the Denver men are limiting the weight of packages of machinery to about 250 pounds and are packing them in cases composed of heavy planks reinforced with steel bands.

Extension of credit is being arranged through the assistance of certain New York banks.

Denver exporters find that it is best not to introduce innovations with painful suddenness.

There is scarcely a South American country with which some Denver manufacturer has not established commercial relations. The Andean mines of the west are reached by way of the west coast of South America, and the best customers for the class of machinery which Denver has to offer.

One local exporter of mining machinery reports that he has received more inquiries from Latin America in the past six months than ever before during corresponding period.

Notice to Subscribers

Under authority of the Postmaster General, on account of recent increases in wages to employes, totaling for the State of Oregon upwards of $225,000.00, certain changes in exchange rates have been approved and made effective July 29, 1919, for the State of Oregon.

The changes in rates apply particularly to residence service, changes having been made in the principal business rates May 1, 1919.

All new business taken on and after July 29th will be at the new rates, and bills to present subscribers for the month of August will be rendered at the new rates.

The increased rates will yield an annual revenue upwards of $250,000.00, but as the increase in wages is upwards of $225,000, the net return to the company under the rates now made effective is approximately 2 1/4 per cent on the valuation of its property at $13,464,000.00, as found by the Public Service Commission.

The new schedule of rates is identical with the one approved by the Postmaster General for the State of Washington, which has been in effect since March 1, 1919. The rates are the same in both states for exchanges that are comparable.

We believe that no proof as to the advanced cost of living and the general high cost prevailing for labor and materials is necessary, and that the telephone using public will accept this increase in rates in the same spirit of fairness and consideration as it has the advances in almost every other necessity in these unusual times.
