Rossie Harriscate, the blonde emotional star who appears at the Liberty Theatre today in a film production of the Kathleen Norris best-seller, "The Heart of Rachael," wears twenty-two modish costumes during the course of the picture. True enough, some of them are extremely simple, but as the play deals with modern fashionable society, all of the star's costumes are of the very latest styles; the sort used by New York's smart set today.

A large supporting cast of splendidly appeared men and women appear with the star in the society scenes of the picture. The novel and its screen version shows, during the unfolding of its plot and its poignant human situations, every phase of social life for which different costumes are necessary. The result is a great variety, showing the diverse tastes of the individuals in dressing correctly for the country club, the theatre, the street, the formal dinner, and the other regular functions. And finally, a touch of the bizarre and barbaric is added in the infinite variety of costumes used at the bal masque, where the society belles and their escorts come out in all manner of grotesque apparel, from the cave man's earliest fads to futuristic garb which may, or may not be used a century or so hence.

Readers of Zane Grey's novels will be interested in the announcement that his most famous book, "Riders of the Purple Sage," has been pictured in graphic form for two days, beginning Sunday at the Liberty Theatre, with William Farnum, the dynamic star, playing the part of Lassiter.

The story has to deal with several startling incidents that occurred in Utah, in the early days of the Mormon settlement. Beginning with the abduction of a girl by one of the powerful dignitaries of the Mormon Church, the picture reveals the hunt of the girl's brother through the years for the man who wronged her, the tremendous power of the elders of the cult over their followers, and the final accounting at the hands of Lassiter.

This picture will be followed by "The Rainbow Trail," one of the best and most popular Western stories, was written by Zane Grey, and the action centers in and about the wilds of the Arizona desert. The scene settings are said to be of unsurpassed beauty and include the famous cliff dwellings, the painted desert and the famed Grand Canyon of Arizona.

The story is full of dramatic situations and show Farnum as the famous Lassiter and also in the character of Shefford.

"The Rainbow Trail" is a sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage."

Laugh and the world laughs with you. This is a saying old as the hills, but it is applicable to "A Nine O'Clock Town," the latest Paramount picture starring Charles Ray, which is to be shown at the Temple theatre Sunday. This is a comedy drama of unusual merit and is said to be one of the finest turned out by the Thomas H. Ince producing staff in many months.

The story deals with a young man who is the son of a merchant in an inland city. He has advanced ideas regarding the management of the "Emporium" which do not meet with the approval of his father, and the result is of disagreement. The young man goes to New York, meets with sundry adventures and loses his position just as his father wires him to come home and look after the store.

He readily complies with this command and the "Emporium" is transformed. He employs a corset model and things really happen after that. He is threatened by a woman and her alleged husband who seek to blackmail him and is providentially saved from disgrace, though innocent of wrongdoing. There is comedy in every foot of the picture—comedy that will make you scream with laughter and thrill with anticipation as each new scene is unfolded on the screen.

HAY REACHES HIGH PRICE IN MONTANA

HELENA, Mont., Aug. 9.—High prices of hay in this state makes even more serious the situation presented to farmers of Montana by the scarcity of feed on account of dry weather this summer. Hay is selling here for $27 in large quantities, and it is reported that in some sections of the state the price has reached $40.

At a meeting held recently at Great Falls, stockmen and ranchers of that county decided to cut Minnesota hay with their own crews and equipment and ship it to this state. The local farm bureau will have charge of the work. A committee has gone to Minnesota to arrange for the purchase of the hay in the field.

At Roundup the commercial club has inaugurated a plan of buying hay in carload lots and reselling it to farmers at cost.

INFERIOR CURRENCY IMPEDES PROGRESS

BELOGRADE, Serbia, Aug. 9.—The chief difficulty at present in the financial situation, says Colonel D. M. Stewart, of the United States army, retired, who has investigated the economic situation in the new Jugoslav kingdom for several large American corporations.

"The immense amount of inferior currency in circulation, at least 7,000,000 Austrian Kronen, has impeded establishment of trade," he said. "American business representatives have no difficulty in obtaining orders. The trouble comes in the proper solution of the problem of payment." Steps have been taken to establish banking communications between this country and America.

CARUSO LIVES PEASANT'S LIFE

Famous Opera Singer of Metropolitan Opera Company Receives the Same Rations as Peasants of Italy. Limousine Commandeered.

FLORENCE, Italy, Aug. 9.—Food is now being allotted to Enrico Caruso, opera singer of the Metropolitan Opera Company of New York, whose picturesque Italian villa is situated on the heights of Signa-Lastra nine miles from here, on the same ratio as to the peasants in this section.

The new deluxe American limousine he imported was commandeered by the military authorities, while the Italian motor car he owned was requisitioned by the prefect of the commune of Signa-Lastra. The work committees of the district had had their eyes upon his villa for many days and, when the outbreak against the high cost of living occurred here a few weeks ago, made an inventory of his cellar and pantry, told him he had far too much for one man and his small family to live upon and seized some of the wine in his cellar. Describing the affair Signor Caruso said, to the Associated Press correspondent:

"I was visited by a distinguished commission of men and women, conveyed up these hills in two luxurious automobiles decorated in red streamers. These read to me my mode of life in Italy and I have since been forced to live under their mandates.

"You know we have not starved here, though. We have had enough to eat. We have divided our supplies with the people in the red automobiles and have managed to get along. I do not know just what I will do in the future. I pay the Italian government more than a million lire taxes a year but I can ask for little protection for my property. I have given two year's work during the war to the cause of the allies and, therefore, to the cause of Italy."

MANY CASES SETTLED BY LAKEVIEW JUDGE

During his stay here Judge Conn, of Lakeview, cleared up the court docket to some extent.

Judgment was awarded to the First State and Savings Bank against John and Rose Knott in the sum of $915.89 as well as a lien on all land described in the complaint. In the case of the First State and Savings bank versus R. S. Van Campen, judgment was given the bank in the sum of $4,999.70. To raise this sum car owned by Van Campen are to be sold at auction.

John Siemens in his case against Frank and Charles Keister was given a favorable decision, the judgment being $369.15 and $309.13.

The case of the Oregon-California and Eastern Railroad company against Charles Burgdorff was dismissed and will be settled out of court. The suit included a dispute over a railroad right of way.

Lowengart versus A. L. Bradley settled their differences and the Judge dismissed the case.

Luke E. Walker secured judgment against A. J. McDunna for $280.

One of the biggest shows of the year comes to the Liberty Sunday and Monday. The two popular Zane Grey pictures, "The Riders of the Purple Sage" and "The Rainbow Trail" will both be shown as one program and since the latter is the sequel to the former the entire play will be very interesting. William Farnum is the star in both pictures, and as this will be the last time these pictures will be seen here anyone who failed to see either of these pictures when they were shown here before should not miss this opportunity.
