Society

The Elks Convention has cut into the local social whirl to such an extent this week that there has been very little entertaining, outside of public gatherings. However a few of the younger set have given small informal parties for visiting friends.

One of the most delightful of these was the informal dancing party given by Geraldine Watt at her home on Pacific Terrace. The dance was in honor of Pearl Craine, Melba Williams and Grace Doland, all visitors in the city.

The guests were: Clara Calkins, Marjory Dezell, Pearl Leavitt, Maybelle Leavitt, Eleanor Torrey, Alice McCourt, Kenneth Perry, Richard Slater, Colman O'Leary, Leavitt, James S. Sheehy, Don Newbury and Robert Riggs.

Many social affairs are being planned in honor of Mrs. Vera Crisler-Berryhill, to take place directly after the Elks Convention. Among these will be the entertainment given for the young singer by the Music Club, at its next meeting.

Miss Grace Doland, of San Francisco and Miss Alice McCourt were guests yesterday at the home of W. E. Lamb on Modoc Point. The party went from there to Harman Lodge, where they attended the barbecue.

Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Bratton were hosts at a dinner yesterday and trip to the barbecue, entertaining Barney Goldstein, United States district attorney, his father, and A. F. Alexander, United States Marshall with his deputy Mr. Flanders.

The Misses Melba Williams, Pearl Craine and Pearl Leavitt, were the guests of Miss Betty Gaddis, of Eagle Ridge, Tuesday, on a delightful fishing excursion and luncheon on the banks of Williamson river. The young ladies returned to the tavern about 8:30 p. m. They were a tired but happy party in their khaki outfit suits when they gathered around the large outdoor fire place to little music before retiring.

Dr. and Mrs. Hardin Carter are entertaining Dr. Lloyd Stewart, of Washington D. C. this week, on a camping tour throughout the county.

The three left by car yesterday for Rocky Point, where they will be for several days before going on to Crater Lake and Fort Klamath.

Miss Verda Cozad leaves today for Crater Lake with her two guests, Miss Margaret McMahon and Miss Mae Sullenger, of Martinez, California. Miss Cozad will entertain them at the Rim Hotel for the next two or three days.

Pride of McMinnville

Ralph Wortman

Introducing Ralph Wortman of McMinnville Lodge No. 1283, the pride of the Yamhill County antlered herd, who turned to be the pioneer blazer of the "bumpy" air lanes between Portland and McMinnville in a recent air flight. Now he is interested in aviation, and has purchased the plane which has been in evidence in our fair city.

"Our Ralph had the distinction of bringing the first automobile to McMinnville, when the benzine buggies were as scarce as hen's teeth; now he brings an airplane, and has thus brought added distinction to his home city, where he was born and grew up," said a prominent McMinnville Lodge member.

Brother Wortman is one of McMinnville Lodge's live wires. He is always boosting for the order, and takes an active part in the work of the order. He is the editor of the Honkey Tenk, the humorous publication of the Yamhill Lodge, and the last issue, which flared out in flamboyant type at a recent high jinks given by the lodge, was so full of good stuff that the members are still talking about the edition.

AN EFFECTIVE WINDOW.

No window in the city has attracted greater attention than has that of K. Sugarman's. One entire window has been devoted to the idea of conveying to the Elks the welcoming sentiments of the city and scores of the visitors have called on Mr. Sugarman and expressed their appreciation of the effort he has put forth. It has been an object of attention during the entire convention and Mr. Sugarman has reason to feel greatly flattered over the success that he has attained.

NAMED AFTER FATHER.

The nine pound baby boy that was born to Mrs. Robert Donner a few days ago, was named Robert Reuben, after the father Robert Donner. Both the baby and Mrs. Donner are doing nicely and are at their home at 2 Main Street. Dr. Warren Hunt attended at the birth.

WITH THE BILLS

The special arrived yesterday, and with it came the remainder of the Eugene visitors, very much alive, and most awfully happy, and they have continued to be so during their few hours in the city. They began yesterday in the right way by kidnapping Miss Rachel Parker, a daughter of one of their brothers, H. N. Parker, and bringing her along. They were assisted in their dark deeds by the Marshfield contingent.

When the Bills from Eugene were asked about their brother, Guy Mock, they could say nothing in his favor except that the poor fellow is not so very smart. And as for J. P. Macky, the charitable fellows who shared his sleeping quarters spent the night keeping him soaked in ice water from his toes to his head. But Mr. Macky, when allowed to speak for himself, insisted that he was a "perfect gentleman from Lane County."

An unusual thing seems to have happened to Jack Rodman, secretary of Chapter 357, since he was last seen going northeast, with his head hanging out of a Ford jitney. Anyone finding the unhappy secretary will please return him to the Elks Temple and receive a generous reward.

"John Williams slept in his car last night, and there is every indication that he sawed at least a cord of wood before morning," said Mr. Macky.

"Ed Anderson was ordered off the train yesterday, but please don't tell his wife. Her address is Cresswell, Oregon," pleaded his kind friends.

McMinnville Live Wire

C. M. (Shorty) Brigham

By some hook or crook "Shorty" froged his way into McMinnville Lodge. He is well known by the Pinkerton Detective Agency. If the plainclothes men will lay off him while he is in Klamath Falls it will be very much appreciated by the McMinnville bunch. "Shorty" is a plumber by trade, and is one of the live wires of McMinnville Lodge.

Ben Russell, manager of the Lane County poor farm, was lost, but was found in a short time by the W. W. Club.

Orlo Hendershot, proprietor of the Gun Store in Eugene, hasn't had a shot since his arrival in our happy city.

The "Baby Elks" are still loyal to their tent quarters; that is, a few of them are. J. D. Donivan, head of the Lumbermen's hospital of Bend, isn't one of them, as he gave up the ship last night, and ascended a tree in search of peace, and slept with a squirrel.

Other benedicts able to speak for themselves this morning were Dr. Moore, who appeared to be in search of more; Lee Thomas (a Bend architect, dressed when he went to bed last night, so as to save time this morning, and J. Charles Smith, "why he never was unconscious of the movement of life around him, but he acted strange at times," said G. J. Addink.

"Let justice be done," said Supreme Judge L. T. Harris, who came down with the rest of the Bills and Hillikens from Eugene. The Judge is no stranger to Klamath Falls people. He has a host of friends here and he has had a time trying to fill all of the engagements they are making for him, but he will do it or die—he is that kind of a fellow. But as I started out to say, the Judge rendered an opinion on the Klamath Falls Elks that I know they will not ask for a re-hearing on: "Let justice be done to the Elks of Klamath Falls," said the Judge, "and tell them that we from the rest of the state are proud of them. It was a big undertaking to handle this convention in a city the size of this and the remarkably successful manner in which it has been done shows unremitting zeal on the part of the Elks and every citizen. We all leave Klamath Falls with pleasant memories that will always call for a return visit, and, at least as far as I am concerned, that visit will be an annual event."

Mr. and Mrs. Zim Baldwin of Lakeview, old residents of Klamath Falls, are back for the convention and a visit with their many friends.

COLORATURA SOPRANA WHOSE SWEET VOICE HAS CHARMED MANY VISITORS

MRS. VERA CRISLER-BERRYHILL

Roy W. Edwards, a member of the Oregon City Lodge is having a fine time every minute of the day.

Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Haney of Medford, Ore., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Rogers over the convention.

Mr. and Mrs. Asbury Bell, of Central Point, Mrs. Bell Fronck, of Medford, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wilson of Medford and Mrs. A. L. Harvey of Ashland are here visiting Mrs. Harry Goeller and Mrs. Nate Otterbein, during the convention.

A. J. McMahon and daughter Margaret, accompanied by Miss Mae Sullenger are visiting Miss Verda Cozad, from Martinez for the three convention days. After this time the two families will spend a short time at Crater Lake, before returning home.

E. A. Kurtz with his wife and sons, Chester and Elton are here after a three weeks trip, to attend the Elks Convention. Their home is in Eugene and Mr. Kurtz is a member of Chapter 357.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Carsner drove over from Heppner in their car and they are out for a good time and are getting it.

J. T. R. S., and W. J. Dixon, cattlemen from the Bend country are the tamest men in the state in spite of their occupation.

"I stopped at Diamond Lake on my way down here and broke the fishing records for the season when I caught a 32 inch dolly varden trout, and that is no fish story, in spite of everything these Elk friends of mine say to the contrary," C. F. Nell said this morning and his wife backed his story too.

J. H. Rolston is a fine representative of the Medford Lodge who only wishes the roads were better so that he might feel at liberty to call more often.

William C. Brown arrived Thursday on the special from Portland, and has been splashing around in the swimming tank most of the time since. He remarked this afternoon that he sure liked our people, town and natatorium.

Sheriff and Mrs. C. E. Terrill are visiting Klamath Falls for the first time in 25 years, from Jackson county. They were surprised at the change and pleased with the ocean like quality of the morning breeze.

H. G. Launsbach, a delegate from the Medford lodge, is having "his" of his life. If you don't believe it ask the man.

E. C. (Jerry) Jerome, squire for the Medford Chapter, whose chapter will back him against any other squire in the state, is in the city some place this week.

Roseburg sure must be some town, for it is able to send two newspaper editors to an Elks Convention at one and the same time. The Review is represented by L. Wimberly and The News by B. W. Bates, and both show wisdom of the prophets of old in that they live in peace and brotherly love. Wimberly says Bates is a fine fellow and Bates says Wimberly is "O. K. from top to bottom."

Funny, isn't it? One by one the old customs of the profession are melting away as the world is being made safe for democracy, and little nations—except Ireland—can have self determination and the Japs can have Shantung and—say don't you think it is time to make editors out of the Irish instead of policemen and state-men? They don't forget tradition.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and neighbors for their many kindnesses and sympathetic assistance in our late bereavement.
