Russell Mocassins and Pacs For Men and Women

"Protect Your Feet on the Trail"

The Russell Moccasin's are the outdoor footgear which will protect your feet against the natural obstructions without the burden of excess weight or forfeit to styles

They give you the sturdiness of the regular boot, with added flexibility. They lack that rigid stiffness—there's a give to them that allows you to forget your feet.

A few ounces off the weight of a pair of boots makes an appalling difference in the course of a day's workout.

Lifting several excess ounces thousands of times in the day's tramp sums up many pounds in a given number of steps taken.

Come in, try on a pair; they feel like a stocking on your foot.

LAST EVENING'S CONCERT

A refreshing surprise was given the musical people of Klamath Falls at the Vera Crisler concert.

The voice, rich and full, expressed a wide range of feeling, and conveyed an impression of a reserve power and possibilities as yet untouched.

Miss McCloskey, the pianist, produced beautiful tone effects upon the Lyon & Healy Baby Grand, supporting the voice in an admirable manner.

MOST ASTOUNDING MARRIAGE ON RECORD

Would you, a woman, marry the first man you met on a country road? Question sounds foolish, of course. But—this is exactly what happened one day in the Ozark Mountains of Missouri. And bride and bridegroom never had seen each other before. Why did they marry?

Peggy Hyland in The Rebellious Bride

Found a Good Reason

The man she married was a millionaire, but she didn't know that. She was a girl worth any man's love, but he didn't know that. For details and for many a laugh and many a thrill, see this brilliant production at the

BARTLETT PEARS YIELDING WELL

Crop Summary for Week Through—Oregon Predicts Good Market for Fruits—Nearly All Hay Crops Are Out of the Way.

PORTLAND, Aug. 22.—There was no precipitation of consequence during the past week and the drought throughout much of Oregon was aggravated by high, drying easterly winds, according to the weekly crop and weather summary of the weather bureau here. The water supply for stock and for irrigation continues to diminish. The week opened with moderately cool weather but the temperature soon began to rise and by Friday was abnormally high.

Some little winter wheat remains to be harvested but in most sections threshing of winter wheat is well advanced. In some western counties threshing is being retarded by lack of adequate equipment? Harvest of spring wheat is in progress in the more elevated districts and is generally complete elsewhere and a considerable part of the crop has been thrashed. The warm weather has been favorable for irrigated corn but most unirrigated corn needs rain badly.

Bartlett pears are being shipped generally and are yielding well. Harvest of early apples is in progress. Peaches are coming into market in increasing quantities. Most unirrigated fruit is of small size. Dropping of prunes continues. A good crop of evergreen blackberries is being marketed. Second crop strawberries are in market.

Practically all hay crops except the later cutting of alfalfa, are out of the way. The warm weather has been favorable for alfalfa where there has been sufficient water. Feed on the range is becoming scarcer but some stock is finding subsistence in meadows and stubble fields. Stock is deteriorating in places but in most sections is holding up well.

Irrigated potatoes and gardens are generally promising. Where not irrigated they are generally suffering from drought. Melons, cucumbers, tomatoes and beans are fairly plentiful in market. Hops are suffering somewhat from drought. High temperature and drying winds contributed to the spread of forest fires.

DID YOU FIND IT?

The attention of the readers of The Herald is called to the various advertisements for lost articles. Nearly all of these being sought were lost by visitors to the city for the Elks convention. What better advertisement could anyone ask for this city than to have the owners of these articles say that the people of Klamath Falls are honest, for they returned that which was lost during the convention. Liberal rewards are offered for nearly all of them—running as high as $20. But the reward should not be the real inducement. It should be the principle of honesty—returning that to which you have no just claim. If these lost notices have escaped your notice, and you have found anything bring it to this office, and we will place you in touch with the owner.

L. L. Brownell, who with Harry Stilts has been operating the Central Garage, has purchased the interests of the latter in the establishment and in the future will handle the business alone. Mr Stilts will probably return to the stock business.

At the Theatres

Peggy Hyland, in "The Rebellious Bride," will be the attraction at the Liberty Theatre today. This new Fox photoplay tells the story of a pretty, happy bright girl of the Ozark mountain region, who contracts a peculiar marriage. Her old grandfather, with whom she lives, fearing that the child is getting beyond his control, forces her to marry the first man they meet on the country road. This happens to be a wealthy St. Louis man who had dropped into the mountains during an airplane flight.

Of course, in marriage a girl always takes more or less of a chance. Did this girl assume any greater risk of marrying the first man she met than if she had known him for years? "The Rebellious Bride," it is said, answers this question in a delightful way, and, according to advance notices, Peggy Hyland makes the girl a thoroughly wholesome and pleasing character.

After holding the stage in England and this country for more than thirty years. "The Silver King," the famous melodrama of English life, written by Henry Arthur Jones and Henry Herman, has been pictured with William Faversham in the stellar role and this great Paramount-Artcraft special picture will be shown at the Star Theatre tonight.

"The Silver King" deals with the adventures of Wilfred Denver, an English country squire, who is ruined by a supposed friend in revenge for cutting him out in the affection of a beautiful girl whom Denver marries. Years later, Ware induces Denver to bet all he owned upon a Derby race, the result being that he is impoverished. When Denver hears Ware gloating over the success of his scheme, he goes to the latter's house at night with the intention to kill him, but Ware instead is slain by the leader of a band of robbers.

"Petticoats and Politics" is a Plaza Picture starring the Outdoor Girl, Anita King. The picture tells, in humorous vein, the story of when women ran the town of Red Dog. This lawless desert town was in sad need of reform, as "Efficiency Ann" Murdock realized after a particularly daring daylight raid on the Express office.

How Ann incited the meek, slavering women of Red Dog to rebellion.

forces the men to vote for the women candidates and then runs the town judiciously, despite opposition plots and tricks, makes "Petticoats and Politics" a lively picture crammed full of clean fun and rapid fine action. You will want to see it when it comes to The Liberty Theatre Saturday.

Patrons of the Temple Theatre will heartily enjoy "The Little Rowdy", which will be shown on Tonight only.

Hazel Daly, who is the star of the production, has become widely known as an actress of genuine ability. She played leads with Bryant Washburn in "Skinner's Baby" and "Skinner's Dress Suit," and recently was featured by Triangle in "A Wild Chase." In "The Little Rowdy" Miss Daly's portrayal of the hoydenish little school girl is excellent.
