May Be Next Italian Ambassador to United States

Senator G. Marconi

Guglielmo Marconi, the famous inventor of wireless telegraphy, may be the next Italian ambassador to Washington. Senator Marconi is very popular in this country and few Europeans know us better. He first came over here nearly twenty years ago to report by wireless the international yacht races off Sandy Hook, and he has made many extended visits since.

AGED VETERAN OF TWO REVOLUTIONS DIES NEAR BORDER

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Aug. 28.—Geo. B. Hone, veteran of two revolutions, physician, miner and ranch owner, died recently at his home in Agua Puerta, Sonora, just across the international boundary from Douglas. Death was caused by illness contracted while campaigning in Southern Sonora against Yaqui Indians with the Mexican federal forces.

Dr. Hone was born in Germany, but came to the United States with his parents when he was five years old. More than 40 years ago he entered Mexico, and shortly afterward settled at Bavispe, in Eastern Sonora. When Porfirio Diaz began his last and successful revolution, Hone served with him as surgeon and as a major. Six years ago the elderly surgeon joined the ranks of the constitutionalist army, where he served until his death.

Dr. Hone was married three times, each of his brides being a member of the distinguished Samaniego family of Sonora. Thirty-six years ago he married Miss Rita Samaniego, who died two years later, leaving one son, Dr. George Hone Jr., of Agua Puerta. Three years later Dr. Hone married Miss Amelia Samaniego, a sister of his former wife. Fifteen years ago the second wife died, and three years later Dr. Hone married Miss Marin Samaniego, a cousin of his two former brides, who survives him, with their three children.

LIQUOR SMUGGLING INCREASES DAILY

EL PASO, Texas, Aug. 28.—Although many arrests have been made by customs officials, liquor smuggling has become so general on this part of the border that United States government officials have announced an investigation will be made to ascertain whether any American officers have been implicated in the bringing of intoxicants from Mexico.

Recently two Mexicans were shot and killed while bringing to the heart of the residential district two barrels of whiskey. Americans and Mexicans who formerly smuggled ammunition and opium are reported to have turned their attentions to the contraband liquor traffic. Quantities of whiskey, exported to Mexico when prohibition became effective, are being brought back into El Paso, it is said, and sold as high as $15 a quart.

R. C. SPINK Wishes to Announce to the Public That He Has Opened a General Real Estate Office at Chiloquin, Oregon on the Klamath Indian Reservation

He will handle exclusively Indian lands of this reservation and properties of his own, of which he owns or controls quite considerable. He will also have a loan and insurance department, as well as be equipped to make up leases, contracts, agreements and other papers of a legal nature. Correspondence and typewriter work done, and also notary work.

The long experience of Mr. Spink in governmental office work upon this reservation gives him a knowledge of all requirements necessary to transact any business expeditiously and knowingly, and parties desiring to do business upon the reservation will save time and money by consulting him.

The 25 years' residence in active business upon this reservation gives him a knowledge of this reservation, its people and the lands that can be acquired only in this manner. He knows every man, woman and child of the Indians, and knows their lands, the value of the same, etc. In all these years of residence he has made this a study, having in view at all times that this knowledge would be needed when the Indians became citizens and the reservation thrown open. This time has arrived, and a great number of the Indians have been granted citizenship and given deeds to their lands. Many more will be granted this and it is necessary for both Indians and Whites to have a responsible place of exchange, where they can feel they are being accorded the efficient service that is necessary for the benefit of both.

Mr. Spink guarantees honest and efficient service to both. It certainly will be to the interests of the Indians to recognize and patronize his office, as well as the Whites who wish to buy, lease or otherwise do business in Indian lands.

In conclusion Mr. Spink wishes to say that before he could open an office and do a real estate business in Indian lands, etc., upon the reservation, he obtained the permission of the Interior Department at Washington, D. C., in the form of a license, which is secured under a $10,000 bond, and which gives him proper recognition by the Department and secures the Department in the belief that the business conducted here is straight and honest, both to the Indian citizens as well as to his White neighbor.

Mr. Spink solicits and will appreciate your business. Some big things are going to happen in the development of this reservation. Read the advertisements published by him.
