LABOR UNIONS PLAN BIG TIME

State Is Set for Celebration of the National Holiday by the Affiliated Labor Unions in Klamath Falls. Mayor Struble to Head Parade.

Arrangements are practically completed for the coming Labor Day celebration to be held in Klamath Falls, Monday, September 1st.

Opening the day's festivities will be the big parade at 10 a. m., headed by Mayor Struble and speakers of the day. The Klamath Falls brass band and several beautiful floats, symbolizing various phases of labor, will be entered. Esther Uerlings, queen of the celebration, attended by ladies, will occupy the position of honor in the parade on a magnificently decorated float.

Upon the arrival at the grounds, at Seventh and Main streets, patriotic exercises will be held. Addresses will be made on the labor question, and Labor Day's significance. Local ministers of various denominations will deliver appropriate invocations, and Mayor Struble will address the audience in welcome. The principal address of the day will be delivered by Mr. B. W. Sleeman of Portland, Ore.

Mr. Stephen Baralis will also speak in English and Italian. He is well posted, not only in the two languages, but upon his subject, and he will, no doubt, please his hearers. Refreshments will be provided on the grounds.

In the afternoon an elaborate program of games and sports has been arranged, no fewer than sixteen events being planned. These include races of various kinds, for boys and girls and grown-ups. Many valuable prizes are to be given to the contestants.

Many unusual comedy features are also on the list, and much amusement will be afforded to all those present. The games will be held Main street, in the block between Seventh and Eighth streets. The big feature of the sports will be a tug-of-war for cash prizes between the huskies of the two locals of the Carpenters and Joiners, Local 194 of Carpenters, and Local 1764 of the Millmen and Boxmakers. Much good-natured rivalry exists between the two local unions, and the opinion is freely expressed by both sides that no matter who wins, they will know they have been in a tussle.

In the evening at 8 o'clock dancing will commence, and continue until 10 p. m., when the distribution of prizes will take place. Some really beautiful and expensive articles will be given away, including gold watches. After the distribution dancing will be resumed, and will continue until 1 o'clock in the morning.

The committee has worked very hard to insure the success of the celebration, and are very gratified with the response and co-operation they have met with. The local business men have treated the committee most generously in the matter of prizes, several hundred dollars in cash and merchandise having been cheerfully given.

Invitations have been issued to the Business Men's Association to participate in the celebration of the great National Holiday which falls on next Monday.

At the Theatres

Tom Mix rises to correct an erroneous impression. While he was making scenes for "The Coming of the Law," the new William Fox picture, a visitor asked him how anyone could distinguish a cowboy from other citizens when the cowboy was not in his riding regalia.

"Oh, I don't know," mused Tom, pursing his lips. "I guess the only way you can tell them is by the short steps they take."

"Well, Mr. Mix," reminded his interrogator, "aren't cowboys usually bow-legged?"

Mix turned on his visitor like a flash, and said:

"No, I don't believe cowboys are half as bow-legged as people in other walks of life. Why, I have seen men on the street who never rode a horse and they were so bow-legged they looked as if they were walking on ice tongs."

"The Coming of the Law" is coming to the Liberty Theatre tonight.

Perhaps "nothing succeeds like success." But the great hold that stories dealing with success will always have on the reading public is more than justified in the cleverly screened story "It's a Bear," starring Taylor Holmes, at the Temple Theatre tonight.

This picture is replete with quick-action, humorous situations that furnish Mr. Holmes every opportunity for the display of his unquestionably light-hearted talents. You'll laugh. But likewise those who view it will come away with a buoyant spirit of determination.

All who agree with our scientists that "the best general tonics in the world are hope, joy, contentment, cheerfulness and mirthfulness" will find this Holmes production better than a spring tonic. See "It's a Bear" tonight and you'll prosper tomorrow.

The man who tries to use the rules of Wall Street to play the game of love brings disaster on himself as well as the girl in the feature picture, "The Grain of Dust" which is coming to the Liberty theatre on Sunday and Monday. The girl rebels and in the end, it is the man who acknowledges his defeat. "The Grain of Dust" is David Graham Phillips' greatest story. Since its appearance in serial form in the Saturday Evening Post, it has been read by millions. On the screen, with Lillian Walker in the leading role, it is a smashing success.

GARICH'S GROCERY NEWS

VOLUME I. KLAMATH FALLS, OREGON, FRIDAY, AUGUST 29, 1919. NUMBER 21.

EDITORIAL

I have just returned from the Rogue River Valley, where I was fortunate enough to purchase an entire car of the finest and best quality fruit that is produced in that country.

Barring any delays that may be caused by the railroad strike, the car will be in Klamath Falls Monday night. The fruit will be ready for distribution on Tuesday, September 2d.

My advice to the housewives of Klamath Falls and others who may desire some of this high quality fruit is that they put their orders in immediately. Canneries in the Rogue River Valley are bidding lively for the choice fruit, and this may be the last car of fruit that will reach Klamath Falls during the season.

I have seen few peaches to equal those that are arriving on my special fruit car. They are large, fancy Albertas and Crawfords—well packed, and solid. Seventy peaches is the limit of any box. Some of the boxes have but forty peaches in them, so you can judge of the size of the peaches.

I know there are cheaper peaches in Klamath Falls. I could have bought cheaper ones in the Rogue River Valley. But I bought the best, knowing that the people of Klamath Falls wanted that variety. You can bank on Garich's fruit being the best.

Don't wait until the last minute—order now—and get in on some of the best fruit that the Rogue River Valley produces.
