FIRST DIVISION MARCHES BEFORE CAPITOL CROWDS

Robert L. Bullard, who took it into action and surrendered command only to take a higher post. Marching ahead of the formation, also, came a host of officers and men who saw their first service with the First Division in France, later to go to other units as instructors.

So far as the First Division itself is concerned, the official record of its activities during the war recently published by the war department speaks for itself. It stood 93 days in active sectors of the front against 123 in quiet parts of the line; it fought its way forward over 51 kilometers of sharply contested ground; it captured 163 German officers and 6,304 German men; it captured also 119 German guns, 63 trench mortars and 413 machine guns. It lists

4,411 officers and men killed or died of wounds and had 17,201 men wounded or gassed in the days it spent at the front and lost only 152 of its own personnel as prisoners to the enemy. Its replacements were greater than its original strength, 30,206 and 356 of its members won Distinguished Service crosses for conspicuous gallantry in action.

Food For Thought.

A mighty church organization is raising a fund of $105,000,000 to educate the peoples of the so-called savage part of the world in the ways of America.

Herbert Hoover says that in CIVILIZED Europe there are between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 little white children in WANT.

We believe it was the late W. C. Brann who said: "I would rather see the whole black-and-tan aggregation go short on bibles than that ONE WHITE CHILD SHOULD CRY FOR BREAD."

ALASKAN POSTS GET BUILDINGS

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 16.—Establishment of Knights of Columbus buildings at six army posts in Alaska has been decided upon by the K. of C. war activities committee, according to information received here by Albert G. Bagley, western department director, from Dr. E. W. Buckley, supreme medical examiner, and Martin H. Carmody, deputy grand knight of the order, who have left Seattle for Juneau on a tour of investigation in the northern territory.

It is expected that three of these posts will be permanent and the others temporary. The main base will be at Juneau, where a Knights of Columbus Council has been established for several years. Permanent posts will also be erected at Fort Gibben and Haines.

The new projects are being financed by subscriptions raised by the order previous to the recent United War Workers' campaign. This money the Knights feel in duty bound to expend in maintaining welfare work among the soldiers and sailors for whom it was given and an effort is being made to utilize it especially in posts where the men have to meet the most unfavorable natural conditions and where opportunities for recreation and enjoyment are few and far between. To that end large supplies of indoor athletic equipment have already been shipped to the headquarters at Juneau.

WILSON GREETED BY MEDFORDITES

MEDFORD, Sept. 16.—President Wilson was greeted by thousands today on his arrival here at 11:30 a. m. His train stopped a few minutes, but he made no speech.

Both the President and his wife shook hands with the crowds that gathered at Grants Pass and Glendale.

DECIDE ON MEETING

That every other meeting of the local chapter of the Women's Relief Corps from this time on will be a social gathering of some nature, was decided at the regular meeting of this body last evening.

Plans were also made at this time for the entertainment of the state president, who is to visit Klamath Falls on October 2. Committees were appointed to prepare for this function and it is expected that a large number will be present at that time.

CONFINED TO HOME

Mrs. O. C. Applegate, wife of Captain O. C. Applegate, is very ill at her home at 426 North Seventh street.

Time Will Tell

If according to some authorities, prohibition brings sunshine, it is also suggested by others that it will tend to boost both the popularity and quantity of moonshine.

The Woman's Store

H. S. MOE, Proprietor

A Garment for Every Woman at About the Price She Wants to Pay

Mainly because many people appear to be on the verge of panic regarding the apparent high cost of wearing apparel, we make the statement as a simple truth, that here you will find a garment about the price you want to pay.

Do not forget that, unlike food supplies, wearing apparel is a very elastic term, covering endless grades of fineness. Sugar is sugar; pork, in the main, is pork; potatoes are potatoes; beans are beans. And the prices of these food staples are almost wholly standardized from day to day, varying slightly with the quality, and somewhat more with the policy of the food store selling the things.

But a woman's blouse isn't merely a woman's blouse. Nor is a coat only a coat, nor a dress a dress. A woman's coat these days may be a plain, stylishly-cut coat of good material at $20, and we've some nice ones at this price. Or it may be an elaborate creation of expensive fabric, designed by a high-salaried designer, and trimmed with fur or other costly material, altogether resulting in a coat to retail at $85 to $100. Such garments also are to be found here. And between these two extremes are coats at prices to please almost any woman.

Next, take blouses as an example. We still have new and excellent cotton blouses at one dollar each. Of course, they aren't as good in quality, perhaps, as those of two or three years ago, but they're new and stylish and tasty—and, besides, in changing our general standard of value, we aren't making comparisons with the garments of several years ago. They belong to the past. And there are still really beautiful Georgette Blouses at $6.50 each—we have them. To be sure, we have blouses to sell at several times that price, but aside from their fineness of fabric and their artistic and extreme design, can they really do more than the lower-priced blouses for the woman who wishes more moderate apparel?

Have you ever looked at the high cost of clothing from that viewpoint?

And will you please remember, while discussing this subject with friends, that there is still a garment for every woman at about the price to pay?

SULPHUR ORDERS OVERDUE ON SATURDAY EVENING

All orders for sulphur and checks to cover the same should be in the hands of the various banks that are taking orders by Saturday September 20, according to County Agriculturist E. H. Thomas.

Mr. Thomas will send the orders off to San Francisco on Saturday night, which will mean that all the checks must be in the hands of the banks by Saturday afternoon. Already 150,000 pounds of sulphur have been ordered and many more pounds are expected to be ordered before Saturday. At $2.75 per hundred pounds this totals $4,125. On alfalfa land where the sulphur has been tried the increase was one ton per acre in alfalfa cut. On 1,500 acres, figuring on alfalfa selling at $20 a ton, next year's hay increase will amount to 30,000.

SAYS PLANS APPROVED

PRIOR TO OPERATIONS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 16.—Charles Boynton, executive director of the association for the protection of American rights in Mexico, told the Senate committee that the Senate department approval of its plans for publicity was secured by the association before it began operations.

The association was formed in New York last January. Boynton denied that they had been trying to bring about intervention in Mexico. He declared that he did not regard armed intervention as being necessary now.

ENGLAND REALIZES VALUE OF CHAMBERS OF COMMERCE.

COLOGNE, Sept. 16.—British business men have taken notice of the strides made by Americans in acquiring trade in Germany. At a meeting in Cologne recently of directors of the British Chamber of Commerce for Germany, C. Knott, of London, said:

"America has more than 1,700 Chambers of Commerce in all parts of the world, and these associated chambers some time ago sent a delegation to Europe which visited Cologne and Berlin and departed with German orders in fabulous amounts. The goods are to be delivered at once on three years' credit. In this way the United States is securing the lion's share of Germany's import trade. Such is the result of the co-operation of their Chambers of Commerce. I see no reason why British Chambers of Commerce cannot employ such methods.

"Helpful Hints" A CERTIFIED CHECK

THIS is one that has been stamped "certified" and then signed by an official of the bank. It is, in other words, guaranteed to be good. Such a check is immediately charged to the depositor's account and is equivalent to cash. Care should be taken, then, that it is not lost or destroyed.
