Associate Director Robert E. Smith Says People in Twelfth District Are Not Standing Up to Their Full Responsibilities

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 18.—During the first eight months of 1919 the people of the Twelfth Federal reserve district, embracing the states of Washington, California, Oregon, Idaho, Utah, Nevada, part of Arizona and the territories of Hawaii and Alaska, saved $7,079,255.75 by the purchase of Thrift and War Savings Stamps, according to a report just issued by the War Loan Organization. "High prices were hit just that hard," said Robert E. Smith, director of the organization, "as every dollar saved helped bring down prices."

The amount saved, however, the report shows, is only 13.9 per cent of the quota asked to date by the government from residents of the twelfth district. At the beginning of the year the treasury department fixed a quota of $10 per capita as sufficient to help the government meet its war debts. The $10 quota is just half the per capita quota asked in 1918. "The people are not standing up to their responsibilities in the district," said C. A. Farnsworth, associate director of the War Loan Organization. "The government needs this money just as much now as it did during the war and is depending upon every man, woman and child in the district to lend it $10 before the end of the year. Of course there are indigents in the west who haven't $10 to lend their country and there are others who have the $10 who aren't enough American to lend it to their country. Consequently real Americans must invest more than their quota if the west is to save its face before the rest of the country." "High prices," the report points out, "would be struck a serious blow if the people of the west would only save something out of every pay envelope or salary check—if the wage or salary earner would make War Stamps the first item on his budget each week. The money saved would shut down the demand for luxuries and at the same time provide capital for greater production of necessities. The best economists in the country," the report continues, "are agreed that this is the only way to lower prices—that congressional investigations and prosecutions of profiteers will not effect price reductions. "Work and save regularly," is the only remedy," the report concludes.

MONTANA TO PROBE INTO LIVING COST

HELENA, Mont., Sept. 18.—Not later than October 1, the Montana trade commission is expected to begin active work on its statewide inquiry into the high cost of living and its cause. This task was assigned the commission by the recent special session of the state legislature. The trade commission, which also is the state railway commission and the public utilities commission, already, it is declared, faced a vast amount of work. The commission has at its disposal a quantity of data gathered by the state efficiency commission, which previously had the investigation of living costs in charge, and in addition the trade commission now has agents in the state investigating conditions. "No official statement has been made but it is expected that the first formal session of the commission's inquiry will be held in Butte.

Jump from Bed in Morning and Drink Hot Water

Tells why everyone should drink hot water each morning before breakfast.

Why is man and woman, half the time, feeling nervous, despondent, worried; some days headachy, dull and unstrung; some days really incapacitated by illness. If we would all practice inside-bathing, what a gratifying change would take place. Instead of thousands of half-sick, anemic-looking souls with gasty, muddy complexions we should see crowds of happy, healthy, rosy-cheeked people everywhere. The reason is that the human system does not rid itself each day of all the waste which it accumulates under our present mode of living. For every ounce of food and drink taken into the system nearly an ounce of waste material must be carried out, else it ferments and forms ptomaine-like poisons which are absorbed into the blood. Just as necessary as it is to clean the ashes from the furnace each day before the fire will burn bright and hot, so we must each morning clear the inside organs of the previous day's accumulation of indigestible waste and body toxins. Men and women, whether sick or well, are advised to drink each morning, before breakfast, a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it, as a harmless means of washing out of the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels the indigestible material, waste, sour bile and toxins; thus cleaning, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. Millions of people who had their turn at constipation, bilious attacks, acid stomach, nervous days and sleepless nights have become real cranks about the morning inside bath. A quarter pound of limestone phosphate will not cost much at the drug store, but is sufficient to demonstrate to any one its cleansing, sweetening and freshening effect upon the system.—Ad

MUSICIAN ENDS HIS OWN LIFE

LILLE, Sept. 18.—The tragic death of Adolphe Degerter, the composer of "Internationale," who passed away here during the German occupation, has just become known to the city. Degerter, a man of strong character, laborious working man, had written several songs which he and his brother-in-law used to sing. He made no pretension to being a musician but took great pleasure in playing the bugle. It was on this instrument that he played the famous air which he wrote to the words of Eugene Potier's hymn and the first time he sang it was to some of his comrades in a cabaret here. Then his wife died. His brother went to Paris and passed himself off as the author of the famous air.

The two misfortunes worked disastrously on Degerter's mind. He began to drink heavily and conceived for all music a dislike so strong that he would leave a cafe if any one began to sing or play on a musical instrument. Then the Germans came. Degerter suffered acutely from having to work for them on the town water supply. When the typhus epidemic spread he was ordered to report at the military hospital and one day he failed to present himself. The "Kommandantur" issued a warrant for his arrest. In the evening he hanged himself. He is buried in the cemetery near the hill here where a little wooden cross with the name "Adolphe Degerter" marks the grave of the author of "Internationale."
