Hans Christian Andersen. Hans Christian Andersen, styled the children's poet, was a celebrated Danish writer, born at Odense in 1805 and died at Copenhagen after a brief illness, August 4, 1875. His last years were unhampered by criticism and attended by the honor and love that should accompany genius combined with old age. As the child of poor, shiftless parents, he had little instruction and few associates, but his dramatic instinct was developed by Fontaine and the Arabian Nights, and the visit of a theatrical company to his native city led him to seek his dramatic fortune in Copenhagen, where for four years he worked diligently but produced nothing of note. In 1835 he essayed the "Fairy Tales," by which he was to receive world wide recognition. The classic "Tinderbox" and "Big Claus and Little Claus," are also of this year. A short time afterwards "Only a Fiddler" gave him a European reputation.

Beautiful Marine Organisms. A beautiful marine organism which floats in tropical seas is not a single creature, but a colony of many individuals, connected with each other like Siamese twins, and of several different kinds. The largest and most brilliantly colored is inflated with gas and floats on the water surface. All the other members of the colony hang from its under side. Some are small and trumpet-shaped and do the feeding for the entire community. Others are flagellate and are "feelers." Still others resemble bunches of grapes. These are egg layers. Another kind are like long streamers and extend down into the water to act as "drag anchors." They are also armed with "sting cells" to stay young fishes, which they afterward draw up to the hungry mouths above.

Waste of Money. Magistrate—That fellow knows too much about my affairs. I had to give him $5,000 to keep me out of jail. Wife—Oh, Henry, please stop spending your money so foolishly.

Start Tomorrow and Keep It Up Every Morning

Get in the habit of drinking a glass of hot water before breakfast.

We're not here long, so let's make out stay agreeable. Let us live well, eat well, digest well, work well, sleep well, and look well. What a glorious condition to attain, and yet, how very easy it is if one will only adopt the morning inside bath.

Folks who are accustomed to feel dull and heavy when they arise, splitting headache, stuffy from a cold, foul tongue, nasty breath, acid stomach, can, instead, feel as fresh as a daisy by opening the sluices in the system each morning and flushing out the whole of the internal poisonous stagnant matter.

Everyone, whether ailing, sick or well, should, each morning, before breakfast, drink a glass of real hot water with a teaspoonful of limestone phosphate in it to wash from the stomach, liver and bowels the previous day's indigestible waste, sour bile and poisonous toxins; thus cleansing, sweetening and purifying the entire alimentary canal before putting more food into the stomach. The action of hot water and limestone phosphate on an empty stomach is wonderfully invigorating. It cleans out all the sour fermentations, gases, waste and acidity and gives one a splendid appetite for breakfast. While you are enjoying your breakfast the water and phosphate is quietly extracting a large volume of water from the blood and getting ready for a thorough flushing of all the inside organs.

The millions of people who are bothered with constipation, bilious spells, stomach trouble; others who have sallow skins, blood disorders and sickly complexions are urged to get a quarter pound of limestone phosphate from the drug store. This will cost very little, but is sufficient to make anyone a repudiated crank on the subject of inside bathing before breakfast.—Adv.

Priests Fought as Poilus.

Yesterday on the Rue St. Honore I met two priests, one wearing an empty sleeve, one wearing a mechanical leg and both wearing the Croix de Guerre. "Were you in the war as chaplains?" I asked. "No," replied the one-legged priest, "we were poilus. Most of the younger priests fought in the ranks." "But I suppose very few were wounded?" "On the contrary," replied the one-armed one, "the percentage was high. You see, we had no families, so it was only right that when there was something dangerous to do we should go first."—Lee Shipley in Kansas City Star.

Cotton Production Welcome.

Mesopotamia has always grown some cotton, which modern methods may improve. Of this material may have been the veil with which Rebekah covered herself at her first meeting with Isaac, as she journeyed under the guidance of Abraham's servant from Mesopotamia to Canaan to become Isaac's wife. Cotton competition between Mesopotamia and Egypt would be particularly attractive. And cotton is one good thing of which war's tatterdemalion, the world of today cannot have too much.—Boston Herald.

INCREASE FOREST RESERVE

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 1.—President Wilson has signed a proclamation adding 29,440 acres to the Crook National Forest, Arizona. The lands added are located in the Winchester mountains and southeast of the Galluro division of the Crook forest. They are rough and broken in character and are not suitable for agricultural purposes. Practically the entire tract is covered with a stand of oak, juniper and cedar timber of fair quality. Considerable of the area along Pine Canyon is covered with a good stand of western yellow pine.
