CLEANLINESS

Water Company Is Complimented

The Oregon State Inspector, on finishing his examination of the reservoirs, which store the water for use in the City of Klamath Falls, remarked:

"I WISH TO CONGRATULATE YOUR COMPANY ON THE CONDITION OF YOUR RESERVOIRS. THEY ARE THE CLEANEST AND BEST CARED FOR OF ANY I HAVE EVER INSPECTED IN THE STATE."

Klamath Falls has absolutely pure water; it is artesian in source and is pumped from capped wells. The water is clear as crystal, which is emphasized by the clean condition of the reservoirs, which drew favorable comment from the State Inspector.

GAS MUST MEET TEST STANDARD

SALEM, Ore., Oct. 4.—(Special)—Regardless of any gasoline shortage that may confront consumers, all oil companies operating in Oregon will be compelled to comply with the state law providing for a product testing at least 56 gravity, according to an agreement reached at a conference recently held in the offices of Governor Olcott. Besides Governor Olcott, State Treasurer Hoff, W. A. Daliel, deputy state sealer of weights and measures, and Attorney General Brown, there were present at the meeting W. R. Donaldson, representing the Standard Oil company, A. D.

Parker of the Associated Oil companies, V. H. Kelly of the Union Oil company, and J. C. Storey representing the Shell Oil company.

Although it was brought out that the Standard Oil company was the only concern of its kind operating in Oregon that had shipped into the state gasoline of lower gravity than allowed by statute, it was agreed among the four representatives of the oil corporations that the situation had improved only slightly during the past three weeks and that unless the law regulating the gravity of gasoline that could be sold in this state was made inactive for an indefinite time an oil famine might be expected.

Intimation also was made that in the event the oil companies were forced to sell gasoline in Oregon testing 56 gravity an advance in price might follow. This inference was based on the representations of the oil company representatives that Oregon is the only state on the Pacific coast having a gravity law, thereby necessitating much additional equipment to produce a quality of oil conforming with the statute.
