THE BRAT TONIGHT

By special arrangement with Oliver Morosco, Maud Fulton's delightful comedy "The Brat," will appear at The Opera House tonight.
The story of the play hinges upon the evolution and development of a child of the tenements "The Brat," when she is transplanted from her original surroundings to her real home. The Brat is for the most part laughter, but now and then come a few serious moments that tend to heighten the effects. With bright lines, particularly amusing situations and pungent little epigrams and up to date slang.
Miss Fulton carries the play to a successful and satisfactory conclusion, there is a strong appeal in the comedy that is thoroughly appreciated.

Music a Necessity

Music is a necessity in all home life. It educates, refines, soothes the tired nerves and keeps away the blues.

Any family that has once enjoyed good music in their home would make most any sacrifice to again add its pleasure.

Earl Shepherd's standard instruments are "Nationally priced as well as Nationally Advertised," and this is the reason so many people in our store say, "Why things in your line haven't gone up much."
