GERMAN WIRELESS SYSTEM IS GROWING

BERLIN, Sept. 11.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—Use of the wireless is to be widely extended in Germany, especially for the press, if the plans of the ministry of posts and telegraph mature. It is proposed to establish a collection central in Berlin, and wireless plants in various wireless districts into which the empire will be apportioned.

Germany needs such an arrangement, for its telegraph service criticized, and in addition to greatly increased prices, it is now necessary to telegraph the simplest, shortest message urgent—at three times the ordinary rate. The wireless will be expensive, but it will be worth it to newspapers and business houses to be sure of speed.

The German papers that comment on the innovation are hopeful but call attention to the reliability of the wireless and raise the objection that anyone may pick up a message, so that a paper having an apparatus might easily steal the news of another paper.

This is partially controlled by the fact that the wireless for the present is subject to the imperial ministry of posts and telegraphs, and no one may have a wireless without official permission. A private plant that misuses its apparatus will be suspended immediately—if its owner is caught. The press message thefts could be prevented, it is suggested, by the proper publicity regarding the offender. Circular dispatches will be a feature of the plan, whereby the same bit of news can be sent to any number of stations at once.

NICHE IS DENIED TO PIONEER SCOUT

"Newsboys, bankers, cow punchers circus candy butchers, fathers of small boys with a hankering for wild west shows and other solid citizens will doubtless raise a hurricane of indignant protest from Eastport, Me. to San Diego, Cal., at the startling news that the late lamented Buffalo Bill Cody, who never occupied a niche in the Hall of Fame," says the New York Sun. The dread ukase has been issued by no less potent an authority than Robert Underwood Johnson, newly elected director of the Portico of Immortality, situated in the main building of New York university. Not all Uncle Sam's horses and all Uncle Sam's men can swerve in one fraction of an iota the determination of those grim watchdogs of the Hall of Fame, the members of the elective board, to prevent the entry of even the ghost of the picturesque long-haired scout and show man from riding up University heights and prancing upon a special steed through the dignified rotunda. "Even if the majority of people in this country should vote for him—and they might," said Mr. Johnson in an interview yesterday, "he would never be elected, because he is famous in a bad sense, and we admit only those famous in a good sense."

LONDON AGAINST TALL BUILDINGS

LONDON, Sept. 9. (Correspondence of The Associated Press).—The old question of whether London is to have skyscrapers is being revived because of the high price of property in the business section and the lack of space in office buildings. The government buildings in Whitehall are four stories high, but it has been found necessary to add a story to the War Office to meet the demands of the department. One well known architect in touch with the government's plans expressed the opinion that unless the new and the old ministries were content to do their work outside of the area devoted to governmental activities skyscrapers were inevitable in Whitehall. Generally, speaking however, London does not like tall buildings. Percy Tubbs, past president of the Society of Architects, declared that if the sky scraper was to come it would be necessary to widen the streets. "But space in London is not so scarce as it is in New York which is an island," he said. "I think the traffic problem will not become so unwieldy that we shall be afraid to let London expand any further outwards and we will be compelled to expand it upwards. Personally I always feel that where skyscrapers abound the man in the street moves in the bottom of a well." American architects who are here creating a huge department store have repeatedly asked for permission to extend the main building high enough to accommodate not only the present business of the concern but to provide for the future, and have met with no encouragement whatever.

How about some new records from Earl Shepherd's? 2t

NOT UNUSUAL AMONG EDITORS Mark Sullivan, former editor of "Colliers," is much impressed with the economies of Chicago millionaires on clothing. Yet he can teach Mr. Armour something. He writes in a morning newspaper: "Excepting the suit, I have not a piece of woolen clothing in my possession that is less than five years old. When one of my suits begins to look worn I take it or send it to a tailor I know in Union Square, New York. I tell him to turn it inside out. He turns it inside out, puts a new lining in it and sends me home the equivalent for a new suit for a cost that is less than a third of the price of a new suit. "Senator Medill McCormick of Illinois sent trunk full of clothes to this tailor and had them turned. He tells me that his experience is the same as my own—that these turned clothes, originally bought before the war began—are better in quality and appearance than any new clothes he can buy now at any price. "Senator Calder of New York has had several of his suits turned by this same tailor. I told Frank Vanderbilt of my experience and showed him some of my turned suits, and he asked me the tailor's name and address. "I am wearing today and have been wearing for the last month a pair of shoes that I bought in Boston that is less than a third of the price of a new suit. I was a student at Harvard, more than 17 year ago."

WOODSTOCK BACK TO THIS KEYBOARD Are All The "Worth While" Features Found in Typewriters—Simplified and Improved The standard typewriter is a machine of business—not of sentiment. It should be judged on its merits alone—not on its name or fame. Take the label off the bottle, take the stencil off the piano—the true connoisseur, the real musician can tell; apply the same test to a typewriter. The Fastest Test: Try six standard keyboard machines, with the eyes blindfolded the Woodstock among them. Let your sense of touch and hearing alone tell you, and then judge. Put the Woodstock to this test, and then let your eyes behold its many other advantages. The Woodstock must be seen must be felt and operated, to be appreciated. Give it that chance—let your typewriter equipment—It stays and grows in favor, because it is built to fit the hand, to fit the mood, to fit the job. Simplified and improved, the Woodstock with its unit system of construction has 20% less parts (20% less trouble). OLYMPIC FLOUR The Test by Actual Baking To maintain the unvarying baking quality in OLYMPIC Flour, tests by actual baking are made at every step from field to flour sack. In no other way could OLYMPIC Flour be kept so dependably the same in every cupful. When you order flour, simply say OLYMPIC to your nearest grocer. Ask him to send you the latest recipe cards. Graham Bread 3 cups compressed (not dry) yeast, 1/4 cup rapid water, 2 tablespoonful molasses, 1/2 cup skim milk, 1 cup OLYMPIC Graham Flour, 1 cup OLYMPIC Family Flour, 1 tablespoonful salt, 1 tablespoonful sugar. METHOD Thoroughly sift flour. Dissolve sugar and salt together in water. Crumble yeast separately in water. Mix all to smooth batter and add OLYMPIC Flour sufficient to make smooth dough. Allow to rise, then punch down and allow to stand fifteen to thirty minutes. Mold into loaves and allow to double in bulk in the pan. Bake in a moderate oven about thirty minutes.
