

TOWN IN HANDS OF PORTLAND EXCURSIONISTS

Hundred Boosters From Metropolitan Chamber of Commerce Arrive on Schedule, Take in Town, Prepare for Auto Trip and Banquet

Running exactly to schedule the Southern Pacific special bearing 100 members of the Portland Chamber of Commerce pulled into the Southern Pacific station at 9 o'clock this morning and, escorted by a large delegation of local business men on hand to meet them, the visitors disembarked and proceeded on a voyage of discovery about town.

Most of the tourists found themselves in an environment entirely new to them, although a portion of the excursionists are not strangers to Klamath Falls.

Plenty of automobiles were on hand to meet the Portland boosters. A number, however, elected to walk from the station, with a view of becoming acquainted right from the start.

Their ignorance of the length of Klamath's main artery of traffic was considerably enlightened before they finally reached the heart of the business district.

The visitors are well equipped vocally and carry a sizable roll of rollicking songs with local application and a resounding tribute to Klamath's resources rent the air when the train pulled in.

The morning was spent by the party in looking over the business district, seeing old friends and making new ones, and generally knocking around as their individual choice dictated. This afternoon at 2 o'clock an automobile tour of Midland and Merrill started from the White Pelican hotel. The big event of the day is the banquet tonight at the White Pelican. The program for the banquet was published in The Herald yesterday.

EXCELLENT FILM SHOWN TONIGHT

Billie Rhodes, the vivacious little star, who is appearing in productions of the National Film Corporation, released by Exhibitors Mutual, is seen in an unusually excellent picture "The Lamb and the Lion," her latest production. At the Liberty Theatre tonight.

Billie Rhodes plays the part of "Boots," a waif who has been adopted by "The Lion," the leader of a gang of crooks.

In an attempted robbery, "Boots" is captured by the society woman whose house was being burglarized, and imposed by her on her friends as a girl of good family. This unusual procedure was carried out so that the society woman might marry "Boots" to the son of a man who had adopted her, and thus put a taint on his family name by exposing the fact that "Boots" parents were crooks.

"Boots" is an ingratiating little waif who shocks the society ladies by her daring and unconventional capers. She is compelled to be the helpless tool of the scheming woman by threats to deliver "The Lion" to the police if she fails to go through with the plan.

Mystery, romance and the machinations of high society intrigue are imposed in a play that vibrates with thrilling situations.

Melbourne MacDowell, the noted Canadian, plays the part of "Uncle Ben," known as "The Lion"—and Maude George, an actress of striking personality, plays the role of the scheming society woman. Others in an excellent cast are Hal Clements, Walter Hiers, Vera Lewis and Charles Spere.

PRAYER MEETING

Cottage prayer meeting for the Presbyterian Church will be held tomorrow (Wednesday) evening at the home of Mrs. Phillips on Pine street, opposite the Presbyterian Church.

GREETING TO KLAMATH FALLS

By NATHAN STRAUSS,
Chairman Trade Excursion of Portland Chamber of Commerce

"The business men of Portland are glad of this opportunity to meet with the people of Klamath Falls and to continue the pleasant relations which have always existed between these two cities of Oregon. There is so much in common between us in the larger affairs of the state, and so much we can do to effect closer co-operation that should be reflected in the benefits of all in the future.

"During the period of the war we have learned some lessons and it becomes the duty of the people of Oregon to continue that splendid union of spirit and action which gave this state of ours the record now so generally recognized throughout the United States of being first in all important war works. The same effect, the same united action and the same disposition toward complete co-operation will make Oregon first in the conquests of peace.

"We have a great future, we have wonderful resources awaiting development. Our effort now should be to leave nothing undone which will bring Oregon to that state of prosperity she so well deserves. We must use nature's gifts to their full capacity.

"This may be accomplished if we all work together. Klamath Falls has had a marvelous development and no city in the state has a brighter future. Your agricultural and timber resources are very great, and you have wonderful natural advantages which will make Klamath Falls one of the populous cities of our great commonwealth.

"We of Portland have come to declare our readiness to do our part in developing a greater Oregon."

WHERE SOME FARMERS LOSE

OREGON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE, Corvallis, Oct. 14.—A short course on using the home newspaper to sell surplus farm products will be offered farmers attending farmers' week at the college, December 29 to January 3, by C. J. McIntosh, farmer, farm writer and ex-newspaper man.

"I have known farmers to pay a local commission man $50 to sell 100 tons of alfalfa at $20 a ton, when they could have sold it by paying the editor a dollar," said Mr. McIntosh in announcing the course. "They could then have kept the extra $49, credited it to the buyer or split it with him. I asked why not advertise and sell direct, and they said, 'Why, I never thought of it.'"

"Not only the advantage but the method of using the home paper will be considered. The success of the advertisement depends on the facts selected for announcement, the form in which they are stated, and the reputation of the advertiser. All of these—except the last—will be explained and as far as possible demonstrated."

Specimen advertisements that have been business getters with results are wanted for this course.

Using the home press is not only profitable business but sound public policy as well. Mr. McIntosh asserts. These papers help farm production by running many a farm story that enables the farmer to increase or protect his crops, and are fairly entitled to a share of the paid news matter—advertising.

Editors generally like to run as news items farm stories of unusual yield, odd and interesting farm happenings and community enterprises, and the course will show how this matter may be handled to mutual advantage.

LABOR DELEGATES ASK ARBITRATION

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—Labor's demand that the nation-wide steel strike be arbitrated was reported to the national industrial conference today without recommendation, but with the suggestion that if arbitration is undertaken a committee be chosen of conference representatives not now in attendance.

INJUNCTION ISSUED

An injunction restraining defendants from interfering with plaintiff in administering the affairs of the estate of Louis B. Dixon, deceased, has been issued by Judge D. V. Kuykendall in the case of Benson Dixon, administrator, against S. E. Icenbice, Ivan and Cal. Icenbice.

Plaintiff in his complaint alleges that defendants attempted to stop the threshing of grain on land of the estate and when the grain was threshed tried by force to prevent it from being hauled to the warehouse.

Dixon is a brother to Louis B. Dixon, deceased, and S. E. Icenbice is father of the deceased's widow.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 14.—President Wilson's industrial conference adjourned in confusion this afternoon after Thomas L. Chubb, public representative, had proposed his plan to settle industrial disputes as a substitute for labor's resolution demanding arbitration of the steel strike.

WELCOME, PORTLAND

Putting aside the customary salutations and meeting you as business man to business man, Klamath Falls welcomes you. We welcome you for the reason that we want you to learn first hand that the old-time feeling of antipathy, suspicion, jealousy and opposition, has practically disappeared, and is replaced by our desire to be a part of the State of Oregon. Realizing that a state divided tends to retard development, Klamath Falls has adopted the twentieth century policy of co-operation, and wants to join hands with Portland, the Willamette Valley, the Rogue River Valley and that part of Eastern Oregon that lies to the north of us.

The best proof we have to offer you of our change of heart and the sincerity of our purpose is that we have bonded ourselves to the limit for the purpose of building a railroad to accomplish this purpose in one direction and a highway in the other.

With the completion of these we are going to give your our patronage and help towards making Portland the greatest city of the Pacific Coast. We know you are with us in this effort or you would not be here. We know you are going to help us build our railroads and our highways, for you have already begun the work. We know you are not seeking to exploit us, but only trying to help us build here the second city in Oregon. We want your help, because we need it. If we receive it our task will be easier. When we are joined by highways and railroads, we will pull together, and joined thus we will be part of the power that is going to place Oregon in the lead of the states of the west.

It is with this spirit that the people of Klamath Falls welcome you, the leaders of thought and action in Oregon, to what we know is going to be the Wonder City of the state we all love.

SECOND MEETING OF FARM BUREAU

The second of the series of Farm Bureau organization meetings held at Malin, last evening, showed much interest in the movement. After an explanation of the movement by O. E. Hunt, of the organization committee, the discussion of a program of work for the community was taken up. The following lines of work were decided upon, and the leader or chairman for each committee was appointed as follows: Rabbit control, Charles B. Bailey; squirrel and gopher control, John Cacka; Farm Bureau exchange, Frank Zampfer; hay measurements and costs, C. M. Kirkpatrick; weed control, E. L. Elliott; field demonstrations, Joe Kamrad.

At the close of the meeting the leaders of the various committees met and elected C. M. Kirkpatrick as community chairman for District No. 8.

Two more meetings of this series will be held this week. The meeting for District No. 6, Round Lake, Plevna, Keno and Worden, will be held at Keno on Friday evening, and District No. 1, Lorella, Langell valley and Barnes valley, will be held Saturday evening at Lorella.

BACK FROM HUNT

J. M. Watkins and party of friends who went out on a hunt for deer last Friday have returned. In fact, they returned Saturday night. Trying to get there in a hurry they broke down and met with such misfortune generally, but Jimmy smiles his usual smile and tells his friends who call for venison steak that he will get Mr. Deer next time.

LOGGERS STRIKE IN THREE STATES

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 14.—Union circles today received reports that several logging camps in Eastern Washington, Montana and Idaho are closed by strikes, resulting when an advance of 25 cents a day for board was announced.

Picketing of the working men's hotel here and efforts to prevent men from leaving for logging jobs, together with reported I. W. W. strikes in some camps, marked the day's local developments in what is believed to be an agitation movement among loggers of this section.

RED CROSS DRIVE FORCE ORGANIZED

The first meeting to handle the Christmas Red Cross Drive was held yesterday afternoon in the banquet room of the Deer Head grill.

Geo. J. Walton, local chairman, appointed the following: Dr. Fred. Westfeld, Rev. E. P. Lawrence, R. H. Dunbar, H. W. Poole, Mrs. J. E. Bratton, Miss Meg Bell, Mrs. Davis and Mrs. H. W. Poole.

The meeting was addressed by Miss Allan of the state board of health, who explained the aims of the Red Cross in times of peace for the Red Cross does not confine its activities to war work.

The big drive starts November 3rd and must be finished November 11th, and Klamath will not fail to show its appreciation of the noble work of the Red Cross in the great war that is so well known to all.

THEY'RE TUNEFUL LOT

Appeal to sentiment, rather than literary excellence, may be said to have set the mark of fame upon the following selections which were mixed at intervals with Klamath ozone by a glad chorus of Portland boosters, under the able leadership of E. N. Strong, agency director of the Oregon Life Insurance company:

Song for Klamath—
Tune, "America":
Old Klamath, 'tis of thee—
Which wise guys will agree,
Is sure some town—
Place where there's enterprise,
Where they big things devise,
And they all advertise—
Old Klamath town.

Tune, "Good Old Summer Time":
In good old Klamath town—
In good old Klamath town—
In good old Klamath town—
Something doing all the year,
In this sunshine town.
No day is dull; the banks are are full,
An dhat's a very good sign.
You all know how to hustle
in this lively Klamath town.

ORDINANCES UP THURSDAY NIGHT

Little of importance transpired at the meeting of the city council last night. As there was some question of the legality of consideration of bond ordinances at the meeting, it being a legal holiday, the council decided to "play safe" by postponing consideration of the ordinances relating to street and sewer bonds and the ordinance changing the fire limits until Thursday evening, when an adjourned meeting will be held.

Permits were granted J. F. Maguire to build additions to the Orpheus theater; Mr. Raburn, $100 porch addition to his home on Fifth street; W. E. Dennis, to operate the Fairmount rooming house; A. A. Aunes, to build one-story dwelling, $4500, lot 10, block 44; Bert C. Thomas, woodshed; M. McAndrews, remodel house, $1500, lot 6, block 50; Jerry Slick, dwelling, $400; J. N. Davis, to move shoe shining parlor to Main street; Lorenz Bros., corrugated iron garage and storehouse.

The council voted to contribute $75 to the relief fund being raised for flood sufferers at Corpus Christi, Texas.

Chief Miller asked the council to buy a five-gallon Foamite fire extinguisher for the fire truck, demonstration having proved its superiority in handling oil and gasoline fires. H. E. Rowe, Foamite representative, was present and stated the Associated, Standard and Shell Oil companies were installing Foamite exclusively. He also said that the Baldwin Hardware company would handle the extinguisher locally. The council decided to defer action a week for investigation.

Chief Miller brought up the matter of Fire Prevention Day, October 23, and requests previously made for appointment as fire marshal and other matters relating to fire control. No action was taken. The matters are in the hands of the fire committee which was not ready to report. It developed that the fire fund was short and the sentiment seemed to be against a parade and demonstration for Fire Prevention Day.

The street committee reported the need of sidewalk in front of the Klamath Development company's property on East Main street and the city attorney was instructed to draw an ordinance covering the installation. The sidewalk is essential, the committee reported, for teachers and pupils of the Mills Addition school during winter months.

Jacob Mortensen of Chicago, vice-president of the Pelican Bay Lumber company, who has been here for two weeks in connection with company interests, will leave tomorrow for Southern California.

PREVENTION OF DISEASE PLAN IS DISCUSSED

Red Cross Committee Confers With State Nurse and County Health Officer, With Result That Health Campaign Will Shortly Start

Community health nursing, with especial application to the local field was discussed yesterday afternoon at a meeting in the office of Dr. A. A. Soule, city health officer, of Miss Jane C. Allan, advisory nurse for the state of Oregon, who is organizing the county units, Dr. Soule, Professor R. H. Dunbar, president of the local Red Cross, Miss Twyla Head and Mrs. R. C. Bratton, the other members of the Red Cross committee on community nursing.

The plan for organizing a campaign for prevention of tuberculosis and other communicable diseases among school children, was explained by Miss Allan and tentative measures for applying the work in Klamath County outlined.

The state tuberculosis prevention bureau will finance the county work for the first three months, providing a nurse who will visit the schools of the county monthly, expecting to prove the worth of the movement by this demonstration so thoroughly that the public will be ready to accept the task of financing the work and making it a permanent part of public welfare activity.

For convenience of visiting, the county will be divided into four units, Klamath Falls and vicinity, Fort Klamath, Merrill and Bonanza. The country nurse who will be installed shortly by Miss Allan will visit schools in each unit once a month and make an examination of children, except those whose parents object to physical examination.

"Those parents who do not, for religious or other reasons, care to have their children subjected to a health examination, have only to write a note to their teacher and they will be excluded," said Miss Allan in discussing the plan. "There is nothing compulsory about the examination."

"Another thing I wish to emphasize, we do not frighten the child. The result of the examination is not disclosed to the boy or girl but a note containing suggestions for the raising of the health standard, if examination shows defects, is sent direct to the parents. They are at liberty to tell the child as much as they wish or nothing at all.

"We try to present always the beauty of health to the child, and avoid in every possible way reference to disease. It is our desire to be tactful and draw no dreadful pictures of the dangerous side."

Miss Allan has organized the community health movement in a number of Oregon counties. She left this morning but promises to return soon with a nurse, who will put the prevention work into active operation.

LETTS REGAIN LOST GROUND

COPENHAGEN, Oct. 14.—Rallied by their officers after panic had seized them, when armored cars broke through their lines near Riga, Lettish troops, reinforced by Estonians, have regained the initiative and are moving aggressively over ground from which they fled last week.

The offer of an armistice made by Colonel Bermond has been rejected.

British warships in the harbor of Riga are assisting the Letts in driving the Russian army back. The entire Russian coast is virtually blockaded.

Will Ackerson, an elderly employee of "Charley's Place," a tire and accessory station, was suddenly seized with apoplexy yesterday while crossing the street at Sixth and Klamath. He was taken to the hospital and is in a serious condition. His daughter has been summoned by telegraph. Mr. Ackerson formerly lived at Promontory Point, Utah.
