

COUNCIL LAYS EIGHTH STREET CONTRACT OVER

Three Members Present Vote to Wait to Decide Time Extension Controversy When All Councilmen Are Assembled at Meeting

An unusually large crowd, drawn by knowledge that the eighth street improvement contract would be under discussion, was present at the council meeting last night.

In view of the absence of Councilmen Moore and Lavenick, Councilman Upp moved that the matter be laid over until all councilmen were present.

A motion of Councilman Brandenburg to annul the eighth street contract with the Warren Bros. was lost for lack of a second.

Ordinances authorizing bonds for Tenth, Esplanada, Market and Grant streets passed the final reading.

Permits were issued to F. R. Anderson to build a tent house on Lot 6, Block 14, original townsite.

The council will meet again tomorrow evening to consider the financial condition of the city and determine whether a special election to provide additional funds shall be called.

KING ALBERT PAYS TRIBUTE TO ARMY

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—King Albert of Belgium paid homage in the House of Representatives today to the American army, which, he said, was the "decisive factor" in determining the victory of the allied powers against Germany.

Owing to the illness of the President, Belgium's rulers are officially the guests of Vice-President and Mrs. Marshall during their visit at the national capital.

RED CROSS WORK FOR SOLDIERS IS STILL BIG TASK

While it is hoped that the great, permanent Red Cross work of the future will be wholly a work of peace—that wars have ended for all time with the laying down of arms in the conflict which recently has convulsed the world—it is important to bear in mind that the obligations of the American Red Cross respecting the care and comfort of the country's defenders is not completed.

Figures show that demobilization of the military forces of the government has not decreased the demands on the Red Cross in important branches of effort affecting the welfare of the men in uniform. On the contrary, there has been greater volume of work in certain lines during the last few months than there was before demobilization began.

There still keeps up also the original distinctive work in the camps and hospitals for the vigorous and the wounded and the convalescent. All of it is work that must continue until the last man has been mustered out and the last of the hospitals is closed.

MAS ACCUSED OF SERIOUS CRIMES

Lark N. Evans, aged 30, accused of robbery and parole violation and suspected of murdering his aged partner near Jacksonville last spring, is in custody here.

Evans is an auto mechanic and had been working in local garages for several weeks, before he was recognized by the police from a photograph. He was arrested Sunday night.

He is accused of robbing W. G. White, a jitney driver, whom he hired in Grants Pass to drive him into the country. When they arrived at a point across the Jackson county line the passenger pulled a gun, took $29 from the driver and left him bound and gagged in the brush, driving away in the car, which has never been recovered.

Evans was convicted of burglary in Portland last January and admitted for a year's probation. When questioned by Sheriff Terrill last night he could not deny the burglary conviction but said he could prove an alibi on the hold-up charge.

Familiarity with the roads and territory in which the hold-up took place lead the officers to believe Evans knows something about the murder of an elderly man, whose body was found in the hills near Jacksonville several weeks ago.

PARENTS SEEK LOST CHILDREN

WARSAW, Sept. 5. (By Mail).—Names and faces of streams of returning refugees are being eagerly scanned by Red Cross workers in every city of Poland each day in search for the parents of ten thousand and unclaimed children, lost in the chaos of the German drive of 1918.

Every day from among the starved ranks of the wanderers, some worn mother or broken father clasps the thin wall from whom they were mercilessly torn almost three years ago—a reunion takes place as often as not in some Red Cross refugee station. There are thousands who will never be claimed, for their parents, driven away when the Germans came, found only temporary safety in Russia where they were caught in the web of anarchy and suffered death in the days of Russian terror.

All of the children are now under the care of the American Red Cross and such supplies as are available have been devoted to their needs. But for the thousands who will never again be united with their parents, more than temporary aid is needed. Some permanent institutional scheme will have to be devised, but this must wait more normal times than the present.

Unless rescued from actual starvation and nakedness and mothered by the outside world, until they are strong again, these children will bear the mark of war for the rest of their lives. Anaemia, rickets, tuberculosis and kindred diseases, fast becoming chronic will forever handicap them.

FOREST SERVICE GUIDE MAP FOR SOUTH CASCADES

"Recreation in the Southern Cascades" is the title of a folder just issued by the Forest Service.

One side of the map contains a map, 18 by 24 inches, showing the recreation features of the Crater National Forest, in southern Oregon. The map includes considerable of the surrounding country. It shows the roads and trails giving access to the Forest from Medford, Ashland and Klamath Falls, and calls attention to the public camp grounds and summer home sites maintained by the Forest Service at Lake of the Woods, Dead Indian Soda Springs Recreation, Union Creek, Odessa, Natural Bridge, Blue Mountain and other places.

The back of the folder carries a brief description of the Crater National Forest, and calls attention to its more important recreation features. Importance of care with fire is emphasized, and five rules for preventing fire are given.

Forty thousand people visit the Crater National Forest for varying periods each year, and there is room for thousands more. The visitor is not trammelled by rules or regulations. He may go where he likes, pitch his tent, help himself to wood for his fire and forage for his horse, and enjoy himself in his own way.

HOUSE PASSES PROHIBITION BILL OVER VETO

By Vote of 176 to 55 President's Veto of "Dry" Enforcement Measure Is Overridden—Hoped Senate Will Take Action on Bill Today

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 28.—The prohibition enforcement bill was repassed this afternoon by the Senate over the President's veto. The section relating to wartime prohibition becomes effective immediately upon its transmission to the state department. The vote was 65 to 28, or eight more than the necessary two-thirds.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 28.—War-time prohibition will be brought to an end immediately after the senate ratifies the treaty with Germany, it was said at the White House today. Dry leaders in Congress, temporarily nonplused by President Wilson's veto of the enforcement bill yesterday, were later encouraged by the equally unexpected united action of the House in passing the measure over the veto by a vote of 176 to 55.

Prohibition advocates are working today to get the two-thirds Senate vote necessary to override the veto. It is hoped to call the measure up for consideration before adjournment of the Senate today. An effort was made to get it before the Senate this morning but several Democrats objected and a parliamentary wrangle over rules ensued, defeating consideration for the time.

JAPANESE MUST VACATE STORES

WOODLAND, Cal., Oct. 28.—Notices have been served on five Japanese business men to vacate their stores by December 1. Richard Alge and R. C. Lawson, owners of the property, have secured other tenants. The new tenants are George Atkins, P. J. Hiatt, W. A. Bloodworth, J. F. Garrette, C. G. Epperson, W. P. Boyce & Son and H. E. Heaton.

The Yolo Board of Trade and other civic bodies are investigating a rumor that the Japanese are attempting to secure a new lease on West Main street by using the name of an infant. The Rose Lee building, now occupied by a Japanese laundry, is the property said to be sought.
