LEGION POST TO FIGHT HIGH COST

WARREN, Ariz., Oct. 31.—L. A. Eagle Post of the American Legion has enlarged the scope of its activities to include a fight against the high cost of living. The fight is being successfully waged, according to a statement issued by Ira B. Joralemon, chairman of the "High Cost of Living committee" of the post.

The post established August 30, at Lowell an open air municipal market to serve the people of the district including that city, Warren and Bisbee.

The ranchers were skeptical the first day and although the opening of the market had been well advertised only 18 small truckloads of produce were taken there by the ranchers of the nearby valleys. But the fact that the produce was disposed of by 11 o'clock that morning inspired confidence and since that time the sales have averaged from $1500 to $2200 each Wednesday and Saturday, the two market days. "The ranchers," according to Mr. Joralemon's statement, "sell a lot of stuff they otherwise could not dispose of, since the stores buy principally from the larger ranches which can guarantee a steady supply. The people get absolutely fresh produce at prices averaging less than 60 per cent of prices they previously had to pay."

The county supervisors, Mr. Joralemon said, have agreed to provide funds for a suitable building for a permanent municipal market to be operated by the "High Cost of Living committee" of the post.

HALLOWE'EN DANCE IN GREAT CAVERN

PLACERVILLE, Cal., Oct. 31.—A Hallowe'en dance in a great cave in the Sierra Nevada mountains will be given by the Women's club, of Cool, near here.

This cave, which has a smooth and spacious floor, was used for social and other gatherings of miners who flocked during the gold rush of 1849 to what is now El Dorado Co.

For many years the cave had been in disuse, but now is being made ready by the club members for a dance which scarcely could have a setting more novel.
