AGREEMENT REACHED ON WARRANT TANGLE

It was our view that not less than $100,000 should be levied for this purpose, and that we were willing to contribute our share for the taxes for a levy of this amount, nevertheless, we knew it was a question of business judgment and that they were the representatives of the people of the county and were in closest touch with the needs of the county. We would abide by any decision which they might make in the matter.

This first levy of $50,000 practically determined the program, for the passage of the constitutional amendment in 1916, preventing the increase of any levies more than 6 per cent per annum, prevented the levying of as much as $100,000. Had the original plan been adhered to, all the indebtedness of Klamath county would now be paid.

I trust that this letter will serve as a final chapter in an unfortunate period in the history of Klamath county. Our part in working out the final solution of the difficulty has not been pleasant, but we feel that the results obtained have justified our efforts.

It should be remembered also that whatever was accomplished was to the equal benefit of every taxpayer of the county, both large and small, and that we have not profited individually in any respect more than any other taxpayer of the county.

Before the suit was filed, we carefully marked out our course along the lines indicated in this letter, and now, that the end has been reached, we are glad to be able to say that we have never deviated from that course.

From time to time, we have been asked to take a hand in local politics. To all such offers we have given a flat refusal.

There was nothing new and novel about this conclusion, as far as we were concerned, because long years of experience have shown us the wisdom of keeping hands off and letting the voters have a free hand in selecting all county officers.

We invested heavily in Klamath county with full confidence in the common sense and ability of the county to choose their officers. Subsequent events have shown that whenever the voters had the facts before them they ultimately cleared up every difficulty.

Again, there have been rumors that we were taking a hand in the court house controversy. We unqualifiedly state that such rumors were false. We have not taken part in any Klamath county difficulty except only as set forth in this letter. In fact, our suit did not cover any warrants issued after January 1, 1915.

We wish the foregoing statement to be taken as a clear and distinct announcement of our policy.

However, after the officers are duly elected, we, as large taxpayers, are interested to the extent that we wish to have the laws and the constitution of Oregon obeyed and lived up to. Beyond that, we can express no logical objection.

As growing business concerns, we are likewise concerned with careful and prudent management of the affairs of the county, because then we are encouraged to go ahead with plans for further development in Klamath county. This will not only mean material growth to the city itself, but will offer a market for the products of the whole county.

Experience shows that one of the determining factors in locating industries is the manner in which the local public affairs are conducted.

In conclusion, we wish to express our confidence in the present county court. We believe that you are administering the affairs of the county with much ability and we have no criticism to make. Many of the problems which have confronted you were created prior to the time when you took office, and we hope that by this letter we have eliminated one of them.

With best wishes, we are
Respectfully yours,
J. T. S. LYLE,
Attorney for Weyerhaeuser Land

WOMEN RESCUED BY RED CROSS

WARSAW, Sept. 30.—Captain Leo J. McGuire of the American Red Cross returned to Warsaw from Odessa yesterday with 56 rescued Polish families, having fulfilled his mission to repatriate wives and children of Polish officers, left behind on the evacuation of the city by General Zeligowski and his Polish troops in April last.

Early in September, the French Military Mission of Warsaw learned that the Bolshevik officials at Odessa were holding for ransom wives of Polish officers. The Bolsheviks offered to give up the women for a ransom of one sack of American flour per woman, but stipulated that they would travel only with an officer of the American Red Cross. On the request of the Polish government, the Red Cross Commissioner to Poland detailed Captain McGuire to make the trip.

Accompanied only by an interpreter, Captain McGuire attached his two box cars of ransom to a military train leaving Warsaw for Lemberg. From Lemberg, by way of bluff, bribery and the prestige of the American uniform, he traveled south through the Ukraine and Rumania to Galatz, and thence to Odessa. General Denikin, the anti-Bolshevik commander of the Cossack army had captured the city before Captain McGuire arrived.

The Captain found the Polish women living in conditions much resembling those of a town in northern France after an attack preceded by heavy artillery preparation. The Bolsheviks had destroyed whole blocks of houses, first rifling them with amazing thoroughness. Terrorist Commissions had executed 5,000 persons during the two months of occupation. Eventually the American was able to get his charges out of the city and back through Rumania and the Ukraine.

Captain McGuire comes from Tulsa, Oklahoma. A volunteer in the French army, he enlisted in the American army in France and was decorated with the Distinguished Service Cross. He is twenty-two years of age.

NO HOUSES FOR GERMAN NEWLYWEDS

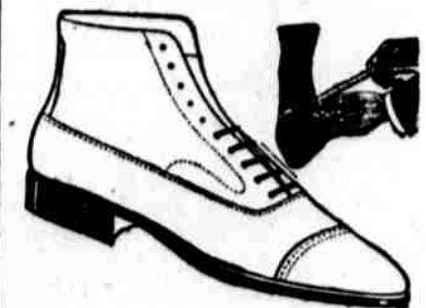

BERLIN, Oct. 10. (By Mail)—Berlin's Dwelling Bureau has notified newly-married persons that there are no houses or apartments available for them and has advised them to live with their parents or other relatives until the present dearth of dwellings has been overcome. The bureau also has advised love-lorn couples to postpone their marriage until conditions improve.

The new consular officials and Entente Commissions are meeting with difficulties in finding suitable quarters. The Hamburg senate has appropriated 2,500,000 marks to improve the situation in that city with respect to the shortage of homes.
