DISSENSION IN BOLSHEVIK RANKS

WITH THE AMERICAN FORCES IN GERMANY, Oct. 10, (Correspondence of The Associated Press.)—Sidelights on the trend of events in Soviet Russia indicating that internal dissension in the Bolsheviki ranks is sapping the power of the Soviet leaders, are contained in the report of a soldiers' and sailors' conference, details of which recently reached American headquarters. The conference held in Petrograd in the summer and much dissatisfaction at conditions was displayed by soldiers who charged that officers enjoyed special privileges and that affairs generally were worse than they had been under the rule of the former Emperor.

Portions of the report read: "The convention of the supporters of the 'Red' guard and the sailors, held in Petrograd, was attended by several thousand from the army and the fleet. The minutes show that the commanders and the war commissioners still take advantage of their office, and although members of the communist party, are ever trying to secure special privileges. The soldiers and sailors were indignant because of the increase in pay of the commanders and declared that conditions were worse than prevailed under the regime of the Emperor. They demanded that the pay be equal for all, whether the soldier be a private or a general. "Complaints were made against the conditions of the barracks, because no repairs were made and the funds appropriated for this purpose went into the pockets of the high officials. The condition of the hospitals is still more deplorable. There are no doctors or medicine and those really sick or wounded have to shift the best they can for themselves. The worst problem of all is to provide for the families of soldiers in the field. Nothing is done for them and the money for them also disappears in the pockets of the official thieves."

WAR-TIME THRIFT AND PEACE-TIME SAVING

"Either the people as a whole must finance the government, either through taxation or bond purchase, or the government must borrow from individuals, from banks, or from corporations of large fortunes. If it does the latter, these interests hold exactly the same relation to the government that the holder of a first mortgage does to the owner of the property and the payer of the interest. If, on the other hand, the debt is divided between millions of citizens who are the government, the relationship is as different as is a co-operative society from a Uriah Heep."—William Gibbs McAdoo, in Pictorial Review.

Jewelry for the well-dressed man

Jewelry is the high spot in a man's clothes. A neat Waldemar chain puts style and smartness into a suit. An appropriate scarf pin adds much to the good looks of a tie. The wrong cuff links detract from a handsome shirt.

The well-dressed man gives careful attention to his jewelry. He buys it at Upp's because he knows the quality is right, patterns are the latest styles and prices are big money's-worth in value.

ORCHARD CRIME CAUSED FORTUNE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Nov. 10.—A grub stake and murder figured in the fortune of Damian Cardoner, whose estate recently came before the United States circuit court of appeals of California. It means a million to Cardoner because Harry Orchard was convicted of murder in the famous Moyer-Haywood-Pettibone case which arose over the killing of Governor Frank Stuenkel of Idaho. And Cardoner had nothing to do with the murder case either.

It started back in 1898 when Orchard "pawnd" his interest in the Hercules mine for a grub stake. Cardoner advanced Orchard about $1,000 worth of food, tools and clothing. When Orchard was unable to make payment, Cardoner received the sixteenth interest in the mine and from its dividends was able to forsake the little country store at Burke, Idaho, and go to Spain, where he bought a flourmill and made a million. He died in the Canary Islands in February, 1915.

Mrs. Cardoner, who died at Albuquerque in October, 1918, sold this interest in the Hercules mine for $350,000. In December, 1917, she brought suit at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, against the purchasers, alleging that her share in the mine was worth $1,500,000. The court of appeals held that the $350,000 sale was binding.

The money from the Cardoner estate goes to Mrs. Julio G. Pachot, Mrs. Cardoner's only daughter, and wife of a director in the Banca Arnis, Barcelona, Spain, and of Pierrier et Cie Pas. A million on the grub stake.
