ROYALTY IS HIT
BY THE H. C. L.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(Correspondence Associated Press).—Several members of the royal family have been setting an example in the matter of economy. With the exception of King George, all of them are subject to taxation in precisely the same manner as any other subject.
It is said that many of them are finding it impossible to maintain their former state.

Some time ago Queen Alexandra decided to dispense with two of the three police chauffeurs formerly employed at Marlborough House, and she has in contemplation other reductions.
The Princess Christian also has decided to dispense in future with all of the male indoor servants she employed in the past, and these are now being replaced by women.

The latest royal economy involved the King's Privy Council, the last session of which was held at Balmoral Castle, Scotland. It has always been the custom for some of the councillors and the clerk to go from London to the councils at Balmoral, but, owing to the high cost of travel it was arranged that the Duke of Connaught, the lord chamberlain, and Lord Stamfordham, the king's secretary, should act and so obviate the cost of the journeys to the government.

SHE OFTEN CRIED
OVER CONDITION

MRS. SELIGER ONLY WEIGHED 65 POUNDS—GAINS TWENTY FIVE POUNDS TAKING TAN-LAC

"I have gained twenty five pounds in weight since taking Tanlac, and I feel as fine as I ever did in my whole life," said Mrs Edith Seliger, Route A, Box-306, Portland, Ore., recently.
"Something like two years ago my stomach began giving me trouble," she continued, "and from that time on my health gradually got worse in spite of all I could do.
I had little or no appetite and what little I did manage to eat didn't agree with me but would ferment and cause gas to form and gave me such a heavy, uncomfortable feeling that I suffered no end of misery.
I had pains in both sides and under the shoulder blades, and at times I was troubled with headaches and blinding dizzy spells. I was so nervous that even children playing around me would completely upset me, and at night I was too restless to ever get a good night's sleep. I fell off in weight from one hundred and twenty-five pounds down to ninety-eight an actual loss of twenty-seven pounds, and I was in such a miserable, run down condition that half the time I was too weak to move about, and sometimes I would actually break down and cry over my awful condition.

"It looked like I would never be able to find anything that would do me any good for I tried medicine after medicine, but got no relief. I was just about to give up all hope and resign myself to fate when my husband and I began to notice in the papers what Tanlac was doing for other people, and at his suggestion I started taking it. I didn't believe it was possible that any medicine could help anybody as much as Tanlac helped me. Why, I am not bothered one bit with any of my old troubles now. My digestion is perfect and I can eat just anything without having a sign of indigestion or gas afterwards. I have almost forgotten about ever having pains in my sides and under my shoulder blades, and I am never troubled with headaches or dizzy spells. My nerves are in fine condition and children play as much as they please around me without disturbing me in the least. I am sleeping as sound as a child every night, have gained back just about all my lost weight and am stronger than I have been in years. Tanlac was certainly a blessing to me, and I am so thankful for the way it has restored my health that I think I ought to tell everybody about it so they may benefit by my experience." Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Loretta by the James Merc., Co.—Adv.

MONARCHIAL
IDEA PERSISTS
AMONG HUNS

BERLIN, Oct. 9.—(Correspondence the Associated Press).—Colonel Reinhard, commander of the Berlin brigade of the National Defense army, is quoted in the "World's Stage" as declaring himself a monarch-ist. The army officer had denied the authenticity of the interview, but Erich Dombrowski, of the "Tagblatt" avers that he obtained the interview and that the colonel said:

"I make no bones of the fact that I am a monarchist. When one has served the king and kaiser for 30 years, one suddenly cannot say from tomorrow I am a republican. That is simply impossible. But do not be afraid. I consider it impossible to resurrect the monarchy for the time being. The entente forbids it. But what can happen in ten years, how the conditions may have altered, no one can tell. Naturally, a royal or imperial government as we had before the war will not do. But a democratic monarchy is conceivable."

According to the newspaper's account, Colonel Reinhard then asked the correspondent his opinion of the future and agreed with the newspaper man that military dictatorship or something similar must come. The colonel declared that a strong government must be established and that order should be brought about by sheer force if necessary.

"I entered like a thunderstorm," said the colonel, "and ordered a few leaders shot. It must go that way."

Colonel Reinhard had been accused by a soldier of calling the German government a rabble and the new red-gold-black flag, the Jewish colors. When asked by the interviewer about this, he is quoted as replying:

"The Jewish flag is right. It turned the hearts of our old soldiers to see the white-black-red flag abolished in an instant. Under that flag which they have simply thrown on the dust heap hundreds of thousands of soldiers lie buried in enemy territory."

MANY DIVORCES
FOLLOW WAR IN GREAT BRITAIN

LONDON, Oct. 11. (By Mail).— England and Wales have furnished a record number of cases for the new term of the Divorce Court in October. It is expected that there will be about 2,000 cases, or more than double the total for any previous list. About half these will be brought by people of small means, who have taken advantage of the facilities offered by the official bureau which has been established since the war began to assist the poor people in obtaining relief in the Divorce Court without going to the heavy expense which the ordinary procedure involves.

There has been a steady increase in the number of divorce cases in this country since the beginning of the war and the problem has been receiving much public attention.
Two parties have grown up, one favoring more liberal divorce laws, and the other decrying the growing number of separations of this kind.
As to the cause of the increase there is a divergence of opinion.
Official records show that a large number of soldiers on returning from the war have instituted suits against their wives on the ground of infidelity. The claim frequently has been made that the war has resulted in a decided lowering of moral standards. This is denied emphatically by D. Figur, a firm of solicitors, who have more than a hundred divorce cases coming up in the next term, and who are handling about one thousand in various stages.

"The increase in the number of divorces is certainly due to the war," said Mr. Figur to a representative of the Associated Press, "but it is absolutely wrong to say that there has been a great slump in English morals. Undoubtedly there have been many cases of infidelity due to separations incident to the war, but this is not the main factor in the increase.

"The reason we are getting more divorces is simply because the war has taught both men and women independence, and has taught them to think. Women have learned that they have an individuality and that they can look after themselves. The men, too, have come to take a broader view of life.

The fact that there would have been just as many divorces before the war if people had not been shackled by lack of initiative and fear of changing conventions of society. The desire for divorce was there, but instead of taking action people went on in the old, unhappy state. Now, after over four years of separation, many couples have come to a realization that they can be happier apart. That is the situation in a nutshell."

CANADIAN TIME
METHOD URGED
FOR ENGLISH USE

LONDON, Nov. 17.—A committee has been appointed by the government to report on the advisability of adopting the 24-hour method of expressing time which was put into effect about twelve years ago in Western Canada and which is said to have many advocates in the United States. Italy for a long time has used the system and it is extensively employed on the Continent for railway, postal and telegraph purposes.
Astronomers always use it.

It is the starting point of the 24-hour method, representing mid night. The hours are then counted as on the ordinary clock face up to 12. After that 13 takes the place of 1, 14 of 2, and so on up to 23 and the reappearance of zero.

Notice is hereby given that there are funds in the county treasury for the redemption of Klamath County paid for the want of funds) on or date.

Dated at Klamath Falls, Oregon, this 12 day of November, A. D. 1919.
