TAKES NO ACCOUNT OF TIME

Australian "Sundowner" a Carefree Wanderer Along the Dusty River Roads of Australia.

And there, a lone pathetic figure on the river road of the Australian bush, is the swagman, the sundowner—thus picturesquely named because of his habit of arriving at a homestead exactly as the sun goes down, and so insuring that he will be offered rations and a place to camp should he desire it. There he stumbles in the crossing wheel tracks, Australia's tramp and wanderer, with an individuality of his own which marks him out from all the wayfarers of the world.

The gray dust of the plains is on his bronzed and bearded face, on his simple dress of Crimean shirt and moleskin trousers, on his rough unblackened boots, on his blanket bundle strapped across his shoulders, on his swinging billy can and dangling ration bags. He carries no staff or stick, but instead a light switch, broken from a wilga tree or buddah bush, with which to brush away the myriad persistent flies which follow him in a dancing cloud.

At his heels is a dog which may be the veriest mongrel, or may be a champion sheep dog of purest pedigree and worth anything up to $250. His day's march may be two miles or twenty, according to the goal which he has set himself to reach as the sun goes down. Sometimes he will camp for a day or a week or a month in a bend of the river. Time is of no account to the sundowner on the river road. —Will H. Ogilvie in the King's Highway.

WORDS TOO OFTEN CONFUSED

Excellent Point Made in Emphasis of Difference Between "Training" and "Education."

The difference between training and education was well expressed by Dr. C. Stuart Gager in his address to the graduating class of the school of horticulture for women, when he said:

"Cloth would be spun on hand looms today had no other factor been introduced into spinning than the instruction of daughters by mothers. This kind of instruction does not make for progress; it can never convert a trade into a profession. The spinning jenny was not invented by a spinner, nor the wireless telegraph by a telegraph operator, nor the science of agronomy by practical farmers.

"Progress depends upon a fullness of preparation exceeding the limits of anticipated requirement in practice. That is why I have never liked the phrase 'teachers' training class.' Horses may be trained, and a well-trained horse may be depended on to do accurately and promptly the tricks that are taught him. But place him in a new situation or confront him with a new problem or an old one somewhat altered—and you may then learn clearly and easily the difference between training and education."—Montreal Herald.

Life Without Microbes.

Microbes are not indispensable to all life if they are indispensable to any. The question has been definitely settled, it is claimed by some authorities.

A cage completely sterilized at 90 degrees was made and the openings of the cage closely stopped with cotton and protected from the outside by a hermetically closed metallic chamber. Such manipulations as were necessary in opening the cage were made by hands guarded by aseptic rubber cloth. Into such sterilized cage three hens' eggs were placed after having been externally sterilized. The cage was fitted with a glass pavilion or chicken run, where the chickens could develop during their six weeks' sojourn in the cage. In the cage were sterilized air, pure water, sterilized sand and sterilized feed.

The experiments showed that life does not depend upon microbes, but that the vital work of the organism is easy and natural when everything is sterilized.

Despised Wares.

Seeing that I cannot choose any subject of great utility or pleasure, because my predecessors have already taken as their own all useful and necessary themes, I will do like one who, because of his poverty, is the last to arrive at the fair, and not being able otherwise to provide himself, chooses all the things which others have already looked over and not taken, but refused as being of little value. With these despised and rejected wares—the leavings of many buyers—I will load my course, distributing, not, indeed, amid the great cities, but among the mean hamlets, and taking such rewards as befits the things I offer.—Leonardo da Vinci.

Date Tree Rightly Prized.

To the Arab the date tree is the perfection of beauty and utility. Every part of this tree has its use to him. The pistils of the date blossom contain a fine curly fiber, which is beaten out and used in all eastern baths as a sponge for soaping the body. At the extremity of the trunk is a terminal bud containing a white substance resembling an almond in consistency and taste, but a hundred times as large. This is a great table delicacy. There are said to be more than 100 varieties of date palm, all distinguished by their fruit, and the Arabs say that a good housewife can furnish her husband with a dish of dates differently prepared every day for a month.

MEAT INJURIOUS TO THE KIDNEYS

Take a tablespoonful of Salts if Back hurts or Bladder bothers.

We are a nation of meat eaters and our blood is filled with uric acid, says a well-known authority, who warns us to be constantly on guard against kidney trouble.

The kidneys do their utmost to free the blood of this irritating acid, but become weak from the overwork; they get sluggish; the eliminative tissues clog and thus the waste is retained in the blood and poison the entire system.

When your kidneys ache and feel like lumps of lead, and you have stinging pains in the back or the urine is cloudy, full of sediment, or the bladder is irritable, obliging you to seek relief during the night; when you have severe headaches, nervous and dizzy spells, sleeplessness, acid stomach or rheumatism in bad weather, get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoon in a glass of water before breakfast every morning and in a few days your kidneys will act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to flush and stimulate clogged kidneys, to neutralize the acids in urine so it is no longer a source of irritation, thus ending urinary and bladder disorders.

Jad Salts is inexpensive and cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink and nobody can make a mistake by taking a little occasionally to keep the kidneys clean and active.

FRIENDS OF SUNNY FRANCE

Scotsmen for Many Centuries Fought and Lived Under the Flag of the Bourbons.

Until the eventual fixture of the Hanoverian line on the throne of Britain, there was always a company, at least, of Scots in the Royal Guard in France. When Louis IX made his fatal crusade in Egypt, a Scottish legion fought under the Bourbon standards. Likewise, in all the marches of Jeanne d'Arc there were Scottish volunteers, Scottish schools, academies, hospitals, convents and other institutions flourished in France for many years. Queen Marie, it is said, spent her last years in exile in one of the Scottish convents in Paris.

During these centuries, all France was a land of pilgrimage for the Scots. Trains of pilgrims were seen annually assembling at Saint Waast. Pious Scots also founded shrines at Meaux, Rheims and in many secluded vales of Champagne. As late as 1810 manuscripts attest the presence of Scottish emigrants, whose names soon became confused with French forms. It is said that one French king, despairing of the frivolity of his heir, said to him, "If thou should govern them badly, I would far rather that a Scot came to rule over them."

TRUST TOO MUCH TO LUCK

Few Have Proper Preparation for Work Which They Undertake to Do in Life.

Many persons go through life for a long time with a veil, as it were, obscuring their clear vision. They do not understand life as it is; they prefer to try to make of it what they think it should be in order to satisfy their ambitions; they do not like the obstacles that bar their paths; they want the right of way and cannot understand why they may not always have it. It is a difficult thing to make headway in any undertaking when we are compelled to grope in the darkness and feel our steps. We do our best, perhaps, but even so we make mistakes and set ourselves far back in our endeavors simply because we are not prepared for the work in hand. No one may even hope to accomplish really worth while results unless he understands the needs of the task in hand and is prepared to meet them. Good preparation is the foundation for our lifework, and unless our foundations are solid it is impossible to build strongly upon them for the future. That is why so many of us make such sorry failures of life. We have had nothing on which to build. The flimsy little base upon which we seek to set our lifework is not large enough to bear the hard strain of earnest effort. It gives way under the first heavy pressure and we find ourselves in the dark. Again we begin to feel our way and again we trust to luck to get results that will be worth having. —Charlestown News and Courier.

MOMENTOUS DAY IN HISTORY

Julius Caesar Said to Have Landed in Britain on Twenty-seventh Day of August.

According to calculations carefully made and that, at the least, establish a probable case, August 27 is the anniversary of the landing of Julius Caesar in the Island of Britain.

In his wars that resulted in the conquest of Gaul, or modern France, Julius Caesar kept a journal, in which he recorded all his operations. He called it, "Commentaries," and it has been pronounced to be perhaps the best record of campaigns ever written by a General in the field.

In the midst of these operations he found time to cross the channel and pay a military visit to the land known now as England, but not so known then, for the ancient Britons then inhabited the island. He states the year of that visit, which, according to our calendar, was 55 B. C. He also states other facts which enabled the calculation as to month and day to be made.

Caesar in his journal, or "Commentaries," relates that he set out on the expedition when little of summer remained, when the people of the south of Britain are engaged in their harvest, and that after a stay of three weeks, he returned to Gaul before the equinox. It is, therefore, concluded that the day of landing must have been in August.

A Teacher's Observation.

Really when I come to think on the various fortunes of my pupils after they went from under my charge, I am as much diverted and moved to laughter at the way and proceedings that were followed out by some as I am sobered into sorrow at the sad and pathetic fate that befell several others. If I could say conscientiously, that the wisest man always turned to be the happiest or the most fortunate, greatly should I be gratified. But truly, it hath never consisted with the little philosophy that I have gathered in going about the world, to deal much in general rules or specified conclusions; and I have often from my observations been rather tempted to say, with the proverb-making king, that folly was in some cases better than wisdom, and lightness of heart more to be envied than sobriety and sense.—Andrew Pickens.

Be Sure You Are Right.

It's a good thing to assure yourself before taking important steps. Sometimes you are too busy to give much time to things. At other times you may be too sure of yourself. Both cases are full of calamity. To be sure you may be able to do the right thing by intuition and do it with haste. As a rule the great things of life upon which important matters hang take time. You must know the facts if you are to advise others. You must know the facts to be able to make success of things. Remember it's not the amount of energy you put into a thing that gets results. A locomotive out of control is a mad thing of unlimited energy. The very power is the danger. It must be regulated to make it useful. —Exchange.

Cultivate Decision.

Decision is an asset to character. When rightly exercised you know and others know what you dare attempt. Each new problem is met with the spirit of decision and the result is continued progress. This grows on people and they learn to expect success. And that's half the battle. If you are not sure what the future has in store, decide to make the most of each revelation as it comes. You are just like other people if you yield to fear. You become a leader of them when you make every factor count for decision and progress. The consciousness of your own strength will help you and others to right relations in life.
