STOP, LOOK, LISTEN.

We are not referring to the danger signal of the railroad crossing, but to the danger that confronts the people now in Klamath Falls. This danger is simply their failing to listen to the "knock of Opportunity." In this issue of The Herald we are printing a story about the remarkable growth of one of the banks of the city. This growth is indicative of the rapid expansion of the city in every direction. It tells you that Klamath Falls is rapidly outgrowing the habitations of the small town and that we are today on the threshold of a city. Are you going to stop long enough to look the situation over and listen to the advice of wise business men who are telling you to invest in Klamath Falls property?

Twelve years ago a man could have bought property on Main street from Fifth to Tenth for from six to twenty dollars a foot. The price today is no higher—not as high—in comparison. What is true of Main street is true of every section of the city. Within five years Klamath Falls will have a population of over twenty thousand people. That will mean a great increase in values throughout the entire city and property that today is a joke, as was Main street property twelve years ago, will be making fortunes for the persons wise enough to invest.

Don't be afraid of the price you will have to pay. Klamath Falls property, as well as property throughout the county, is on the market today below its actual value. The man who is waiting for it to get cheaper will be like the man who was here years ago—he will be telling how he could have bought it for the price asked today and how he missed making a fortune because he did not have the nerve to invest.

There are many evidences of bettering conditions in Belgrade, Serbia. Belgrade university opened a short time ago. The American Red Cross is now erecting barracks to house the students during the summer.

In the spirit of the people there is a marked change for the better in the last few months. Social gatherings are more frequent, and a few moving picture theaters are in operation.

Shops in the city are gradually refilling with stocks. Prices are high. Reports from the interior indicate a large grain harvest with a possible surplus for export in South Serbia. These reports have had encouraging effect on life in the capital.

China to Make Cement.

The cement requirements of North China will probably soon be supplied by domestic production. One large concern is said to control this industry in North China, and its plant is located at Tangshan, a small town about 100 miles northeast of Tientsin, on the Peking-Mukden railway. It is equipped with modern machinery, and secures its supply of limestone on the site of the works.

To the Buying Public:

Some of our customers believe NOW when we say a certain time we mean it. When we advertise an article you can buy it as advertised. When we say a two day sale we mean it and four o'clock means four not three. We use our own original ideas and you are benefitted by it. It's up to the newspapers to tell you what we did on overalls and all through the different lines in the store. We, in the future will maintain the same policy, one price to all. Better service is our aim, and if quality is what you want we'll have it for you.

This Post-War Maxwell is a Rare Study in Automobile Development

WHILE the great plants of the Maxwell were busy in war production, the engineering laboratories were working night and day on a Post-War Maxwell.

Today this car is in our salesrooms. It expresses in a decisive way the progress of automobile making in this country.

Unquestionably it leads the way among cars selling under $1200.

There's a new type radiator, larger, more efficient, more handsome; a new Elliott type front axle, which makes steering now a tireless pleasure; a new rear axle, heavier, with an indestructible four pinion differential; an improved electric system; a new idea in an instrument board; a larger and more convenient gear shifting lever; full crown fenders with wire edge reinforcing, (the front fender aprons are crowned to eliminate all vibration and rattle); a new way of anchoring the running board; a larger gas tank, and hung in the rear; a new tire carrier; a new emergency brake, located at the transmission, and not on the rear wheels; a heavier service brake, and equipped with equalizer to prevent any tendency to skid. Also equipped with Hot Spot and Ram's-horn.

These are but a few; and yet it is the same fundamental chassis on which 300,000 Maxwells have been built.

To miss seeing this Post-War Maxwell is to miss the motor car treat of the year.

HOWIE GARAGE

At the Theatres

Those who have had the opportunity of seeing "A Man's Fight" declare it to be Dustin Farnum's best production to date. In this United Picture Theatres production Dustin Farnum has opportunity to gratify the desire he has for some time expressed to lay aside temporarily his accustomed cowboy roles, and, in fact, he is seen in the first part of the picture in evening dress. The earlier scenes are laid in the East with Mr. Farnum in the role of a young and somewhat profligate only son of a wealthy and aristocratic New York family laboring under a misconception of a tragic event which occurred in the aristocratic household, Dustin Farnum sacrifices himself for the sake of his adored and adorable sister. His resolve to shield her at all hazards from a charge of crime involves his being sent to Sing Sing. The locale then changes to the virile West where the young aristocrat having served his sentence, is essaying to begin life anew. At the very moment of his assured success he is confronted with the record of his earlier career. The denouncement of the crashing crisis is said to form one of the most thrilling scenes of this great picture. At the Liberty tonight.
