

FAMILY GARAGE A FIRE HAZARD

The automobile has become a necessity. It is used by the merchant and the farmer as well as by the pleasure seeker. The family garage is occupying the same position as the old family stable with as many fire dangers.

For the owner of the family garage Fire Chief F. C. Miller makes these few suggestions:

1. Never allow an open flame light in the garage.
2. Run your auto outside when draining the tank so that the gasoline vapors will disseminate.
3. Do not keep a quantity of gasoline or calcium carbide in the garage. An approved underground storage tank is the only safe way to keep gasoline.
4. Have a metal storage can placed at a convenient spot outside of the garage for the storage of oil soaked waste and rags.
5. Never allow grease covered overalls or rags to remain inside of the garage.
6. It is unsafe to use sawdust or wood shavings on the garage floor.
7. If the floor is wooden, scrub occasionally with hot water and lye.
8. The use of gasoline to clean parts of the machine is a dangerous practice.
9. Keep some sort of an approved extinguisher and a pile of sand always handy. Water on oil merely spreads fire.
10. It is better to be safe than sorry.

BRITONS DON'T UNDERSTAND IT

LONDON, Nov. 10.—(By Mail).—The defect of incomprehensibility is the main flaw in American novels by "M. A. B." (Mainly About Books), a monthly periodical, in pointing out reasons for "the comparatively small importation" into England of the American literary efforts.

After quoting extensively from a tobacco advertisement "culled from the pages of an American monthly magazine," in which references are made to "Jammin a joyous jimmy pipe chock full and blazing away" which, it is promised, will "put the quiz into your thinktank as to how much pipe or cigarette-rolling fun you've gone shy on," the English magazine says:

"Effective as the above doubtless is for the purpose of trans-Atlantic advertising, it is possible that vernacular largely corresponding to this, distributed over some hundreds of pages in works of American fiction, accounts for the comparatively small importation of American novels. Often, we do not doubt, they are intrinsically admirable. Only for us, they have the defect of incomprehensibility."

YANKEE SMOKES FOR COSSACKS

EKATERINODAR, Oct. 28.—(By Mail).—Half a carload of American tobacco has just been distributed by the American Red Cross among the troops of General Denikine, which are operating against the Bolsheviks in Southern Russia. General Denikine himself received two pounds, and the members of his staff one pound. The general was immensely pleased, saying:

"With a regular ration of American pipe tobacco, the Southern Russia forces could drive the Bolsheviks out of Moscow in short order." General Denikine places American tobacco in first position as a stimulant to morale among soldiers. Most of the American tobacco will be rolled into cigarettes as the ordinary Russian soldier loves to make his own.

When General Denikine learned that the supply of smoking material had arrived he said, "I should like to buy it all but my salary is only $60 a month and I am trying to live within my income. It is the most appreciated gift I have received in years," he added, as he tucked the tobacco away in his saddlebags.

THE BIG SALE AT THE BRADLEY SHOE STORE

Farm Lands Grow in Value. The value of farm lands is increasing steadily in the United States, the average for average grade plow lands being about $74.31 per acre on March 1, as compared with $68.38 a year ago, $62.17 two years ago, and $58.39 three years ago.

It's as essential to your shoes as oil to your gun. You believe in keeping your gun well oiled, because you know it needs it. Your shoes need BERGMANN SHOE OIL just as much. It's no joke climbing a mountain after game in stiff shoes, or getting wet feet at the edge of a slough. Put a little BERGMANN SHOE OIL on them. It softens them and makes hiking much easier, waterproofs them, and makes them wear longer. Get a can today—good for all kinds of shoes. Theo. Bergmann Shoe Mfg. Co., Portland, Ore.

EAST WANTS TO SAVE DAYLIGHT

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—Surveys by chambers of commerce and industrial organizations are in progress in sixteen states to ascertain public sentiment regarding a continuation of daylight saving and the campaign will be extended throughout the country before next April, according to Marcus M. Marks, president of the National Daylight Saving association.

The states where the movement is under way for permanently exchanging "an hour of night for an hour of light" are Massachusetts, New Jersey, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Maryland, Virginia, Tennessee, Illinois, Ohio, Michigan, Wisconsin, Colorado, Utah, Connecticut, Minnesota and Kentucky.

Proponents of the idea in Massachusetts, 2800 manufacturers belonging to the associated industries of that state, who are making the survey there, according to Marks, reported that a bill would be introduced in the next legislature which meets in January and that "it would be supported by a majority in both the senate and house."

New York state for two years has had a daylight saving law on its statute books and, Mr. Marks said, any effort to repeal it would be hopeless without the help of legislators from New York and Buffalo, most of whom, he said, had been found in favor of the law. At present the months for daylight saving in New York conform to the old federal statute, from March to October. To have the law uniform, Mr. Marks said, an amendment will be introduced changing the time from the last Sunday in April to the last Sunday in September. The New York board of aldermen's recent action in passing a daylight saving ordinance, it was said, had impelled other cities to take similar steps.

"Fifteen of the 18 mayors of Connecticut," said Marks, "recently voted unanimously at a conference in New Haven to initiate campaigns in their cities at once for daylight saving. Hartford previously had blazed the trail by adopting an ordinance which will be in effect the last Sunday of April next year. Plainfield, N. J., has taken similar action. In Baltimore, Md., a referendum vote showed that five out of six were in favor of it. Cincinnati has adopted it, so has St. Joseph, Mich., and we are getting encouraging reports from Hoboken, Jersey City, Paterson, Trenton and Camden, N. J.; Wilmington, Del.; Philadelphia, Scranton and Pittsburgh, Pa.; Richmond, Va.; Chattanooga and Memphis, Tenn.; Chicago, Minneapolis, St. Paul, Denver, Salt Lake City, Milwaukee, and Louisville and Lexington, Ky.

"It was the intention of the National Daylight Saving association, following the repeal of the federal law," said Mr. Marks, "to confine its efforts this year to the Eastern time zone, but so many cities and towns elsewhere have registered such an emphatic protest against the repeal that we are including the entire country in our movement."

AMERICAN LIQUOR GOES TO IRELAND

DUBLIN, Nov. 10.—(Correspondence the Associated Press).—The importation of many thousands of gallons of whiskey from America, as a result of prohibition in the United States, has caused alarm in the Irish distilling trade.

War restrictions have greatly hampered the Irish trade. The distillers were presented in the 1916-17 season from making the usual quantity of whiskey. Next year they were closed down altogether, and even in the present year were only permitted to make a reduced supply. The prices, of course, went up, and distillery shares advanced in the stock exchanges.

The American whiskey can easily be sold at a less price than the Irish article, and it is being freely taken up by the Irish retailers. One provincial bonder is said to have paid nearly $200,000 in duty on his consignment. What the distillers are most afraid of is that the American spirit may be blended or "faked-up" and sold as Irish or Highland whiskey.

One interesting fact stated in the Dublin papers is that at present no American whiskey is sold in Dublin as such.
