

At the Theatres

One of the cleverest of the many clever Metro plays in which Viola Dana has appeared on the screen will be the attraction today at the Liberty Theatre. This is the romantic comedy drama, "The Gold Cure," a play of five acts.

Annice, played by Miss Dana, finds a town where all the young fellows have left, a very dismal place to live in, and decides to take matters into her own hands and supply the lamentable lack of men. Her plot is a simple one and her only aid a box of carpet tacks. How she manipulates these simple articles to achieve her own ends is shown in the picture and the unexpected adventures which follow one another in quick succession gives action and life to the brilliant comedy.

Miss Dana is at her lively best in this new offering and has the able support of William B. Davidson, John MacGowan, Howard Hall, Elsie McLeod, Fred Jones, Franklin Hanna, Ed. Mack, Julia Hurley and George Dowling. The scenario was adapted from the story, "Oh! An-nice," written by Alexia Hayward and was directed by John Collins.

Do you remember "The Christian?" If so you recall it as a wonderful novel by Hall Caine. But "The Woman Thou Gavest Me" is still more wonderful. It is now a Paramount-Artist special picture and is on view at the Star Theatre tonight. The cast is all star and it is the biggest thing in screen entertainment seen here this season.

SELLS RESIDENCE

S. T. Summers has sold his home on Pine street, corner of Seventh, to A. A. Bellman and son. The consideration was not made public, but it is understood the property brought a good price.

GOOSE QUILLS "COME BACK"

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(By Mail).—Steel pens being both scarce and high in price, quills such as were used a half-century ago, are enjoying a vogue in London. A popular feminine notion is to have the quills died to match the color of the stationery or the correspondent's dress.

WOULDN'T HAVE IT

LONDON, Nov. 11.—(By Mail).—George N. Barnes, the labor leader who is now in the United States to attend the labor conference, was recently offered the British ambassadorship to Berlin and declined it, if published reports be true. There has been neither denial nor confirmation of the report.

This Thanksgiving and Next

If you are the proud possessor of a growing Bank Account that spurs you on to bigger things—be glad; you have just cause for thanksgiving. If you cannot count this among your blessings, now is an opportune time to begin an account in this institution. Add to your savings during the year. And next Thanksgiving you'll rejoice that you started when you did, and be thankful for the benefits which will inevitably have followed your action.
