SCOUTS GAIN MORE MEMBERS

Another enthusiastic meeting of Boy Scouts and Boosters was held last night at the Methodist church. Two more boys of scout age were enrolled in the organization.

Preliminary work in scoutcraft was given by Scout Master R. S. Fry and the Rev. S. J. Chaney, assistant scout master. Lawrence Phelps was also present to assist in the work. The scout master is glad to get volunteer workers, for when the patrols are all organized there will be need for a great deal of leadership.

The regular tests are delayed, said Mr. Fry today, by the non-arrival of supplies. As soon as they come many of the boys will be given the prescribed examinations. They are studying eagerly and apparently getting well up in the work.

The Scouts will meet with the Boosters' club, which is for boys under the scout age of 12, for the last time next Tuesday night at the Methodist church. The boys are becoming too numerous to handle both organizations together and, after the next meeting, separate meeting nights will be arranged.

New Anesthetic.

How nitrous oxide gas, an anesthetic made available in large quantities in France through the joint efforts of the army medical corps and the American Red Cross, saved the lives of many American soldiers, was told in a statement by the Red Cross. The value of the gas was underestimated by medical men before the war, the statement said, but because of its tendency to increase blood pressure to strengthen the heart without producing a shock and to cause no depressing after effects, it came into general use in the operating rooms of most hospitals before the end of the war.

In the War News.

A young man told us about an old lady who used to come to see the wounded boys. Her one fault was asking too many questions. They decided that the next time she came they would all pretend to be asleep. She came. One, who was bandaged from head to foot, was the only one who appeared at all awake, so she went to him and asked: "How did you know you were wounded, my lad?" "Oh, I read about it in the papers," he replied.—Exchange.

At the Theatres

Russia, the land of the Bolsheviki, is the scene of the Theda Bara super-production, "The Serpent," which will be featured on the bill of the Liberty Theatre Thursday. An exciting bear hunt, leading to a love affair, is one of the spectacular features of the picture.

The principal characters, taken by a supporting cast including George Walsh, James Marcus, Charles Craig, Lillian Hathaway and Nan Carter, are all Russians, the locale being the estate of a Grand Duke. The latter falls in love with a peasant girl, impersonated by Miss Bara, and treats her unfairly. The girl leaves, goes to Paris and there meets and weds the Grand Duke's son, but without the Duke's knowledge. The father visits the son, finds the girl, makes love to her aunt and is discovered by the Prince who commits suicide.

"The Winning Stroke," a new William Fox photoplay starring George Walsh, should contain an abundance of excitement, for its scenes include the famous Yale-

Harvard boat race, one of the greatest college events. Walsh, big, handsome and athletic, is the sroko of the Yale crew and the hero of a story of college romance written by Edward Sedgwick. For this picture the race of this year was filmed with the monster crowds of cheering students, graduates, and returned military men, and the river gathering of launches, tugs and yachts attendant on the historic contest.

"The Inning Stroke" is announced to open at the Liberty Theatre Friday afternoon.

Getting the Fur Coat Out of the Moth Balls Should Be a Reminder That Your Automobile Battery Needs a Little Extra Attention

"The average motorist," said Judd Low, manager of the local "Exide" Service Station, the other morning, "is a queer combination of sound American common sense and unsound American eagerness. And what parts of his car he never sees or hears a complaint from he is prone to neglect. And that, of course, is mainly why the battery suffers—it never complains."

"It does its work, right up to the point where it has nothing more to give, under the most negligent and cruel treatment. But, of course, by the time it has reached such a point it is in mighty bad shape, and building it up again is going to cost Mr. Careless Motorist a penny that he might very well have saved himself."

"And all this in spite of the fact that we are continually writing our customers—talking to them, sending them folders and circulars—on the subject of getting better performance and longer life from the battery and keeping down big repair bills by giving it the right kind of service at the right time. Right now we are sending out a little folder showing the importance of giving the battery proper storage when the car is laid up for the winter. It has been the bad habit of many automobile owners at the approach of cold weather to simply run the old bus, fully equipped, into the garage and then lock the door till next Spring."

"Certainly so far as the battery is concerned, this is a mighty poor proceeding. Inside of the battery, owing to its chemical nature, a certain sort of action and reaction is continually taking place, even when it is idle. For this reason it demands certain attention at regular periods. This attention can best be given it when it is stored under such conditions and superintendence as only the battery expert can give it. Because of this, we advise our customers to remove their batteries from their cars, sending them to us to be stored and cared for in our storage department. The cost of winter storage is small and there is assurance that nothing detrimental can happen to the battery during Jack Frost's reign."
