JEWISH PRESS LAUDS SOLDIER

LONDON, Oct. 16.—(Correspondence of Associated Press)—Since the triumphal return of Lord Allenby, "conqueror of the Holy Land", there has been some discussion in the press and military circles of the relative merits of military leadership in the East and West. There have been suggestions that war in the West and war in the East are so different in character that the laurels gained in the second are, in a military sense, not comparable to the laurels gained in the first.

The "Zionist Review" the official organ of the English Zionist Federation, makes a spirited reply to certain critics who, they infer, seek to discount what is widely acclaimed as General Allenby's proved military genius.

"Lord Allenby has returned from the East to England with a military reputation and the romance of success second to those of no British commander," says the "Review". "We are convinced that no British commander could have conducted the Palestine campaign with brilliance superior to that manifested by Lord Allenby. From Gaza and Beersheba to Aleppo his work bore the stamp of genius and we are disposed to doubt whether any British commander during the war has a surer claim to military genius than he."

SHERIFF FINDS AN EASY VICTIM

PRESCOTT, Ariz., Dec. 4.—Sheriff Warren G. Davis, of Yavapai county, and Grant Carter, one of his deputies, one evening recently, found themselves in Grand Junction near here.

Entering a small restaurant, they ordered supper. Half way through the dinner, according to the officers, the proprietor came around the counter, leaned over confidentially and said:

"Want a little nip?"
"Well, don't know but what I do," the sheriff replied. The sheriff said the man disappeared, returning from the kitchen a moment later with a pint of whiskey.

"Fine," beamed the sheriff. "How much for the bottle? Only $8? Have you got any more?"
"You bet!" answered the cafe proprietor, according to the sheriff's version. "Lots of it."

"You must be the man I am looking for then," said the sheriff, displaying the star of Yavapai county. "Come along. If we hurry, we can make the train for Prescott."

OAKLAND MAN INVENTS A MAP FOR AVIATORS

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Dec. 4.—Flyers in the proposed 1920 world-girdling air derby will not travel by Mercator's projection but by a new "butterfly" map devised by B. J. S. Cahill, of Oakland, Cal., which has just been adopted by Major Charles J. Glidden, executive secretary of the Aerial Derby Commission, now on his way to the Far East and who gave the map his approval before leaving here.

Mr. Cahill, who is the originator of San Francisco's $12,000,000, "civic center" plan, said that an aviator using the Mercator projection as a guide, would go 1,000 miles out of his way in a trip from Panama to Yokohama. "If the North Pole were on an island a mile wide," he said, "it would appear on Mercator's projection to be 25,000 wide, or nearly the total circumference of the earth at the equator."

The inventor of the new map, who worked on his drawings fifteen years, said that "an impartial and rational world geography is essential to world peace." He said that Mercator's projection, which was originally devised by the Belgian cartographer as a guide for navigators, "distorted and exaggerated the earth as it receded from the equator." This, or instance, made it appear as if South America were much smaller than North America when, as a matter of fact, he said, they were about the same area.

The Cahill map is as though an actual sphere had been cut and flattened, its appearance somewhat resembling the outspread wings of a butterfly.

A nation looking unduly expanded on the map may easily, Mr. Cahill says, develop a sort of geographical "big headedness," inducing an overbearing diplomacy. A nation whose territory is so unduly exaggerated on the maps in common use may well come to exaggerate its resources, its economic strength and even its virtues and so create an atmosphere anything but conducive to mutual good will and consequent world peace.
