Christmas in the Barnyard

By MARY GRAHAM BONNER

"CHRISTMAS is coming," crowed Mr. Rooster. "Christmas is coming," gobbled Mr. Turkey. "Don't be too happy about it, for you may be eaten, Mr. Turkey," said Miss Hen. And then she clucked. "Christmas is coming," "Gobble, gobble, gobble," said Mr. Turkey; "you needn't be so sure that you won't be eaten yourself."

"Well, it's the best time of the year to be eaten. It's an honor."

"That's what I've always said," gobbled Mr. Turkey. "Please, Miss Hen, try to be original."

"I may try to be many things," clucked Miss Hen, "but it is impossible for me to try to be original."

"Why?" asked Mr. Turkey, who was much puzzled.

"Because I don't know what it is to be original. I don't know what the word means. How can I be something if I don't even know what that something is? I can't try to be a thing I don't know anything about."

"You could ask what it means, couldn't you?" inquired Mr. Turkey.

"Are you too proud for that?"

"Not too proud," said Miss Hen, "but I don't ask favors. I like to have them handed to me without the asking. It makes me appear so superior."

"Absurd," said Mr. Turkey.

"Well, if you think so then," said Miss Hen, "I suppose I will have to swallow my pride or my superiority and be friendly at this time of the year. Yes, I will actually ask you. What does it mean to be original?"

"I will tell you," said Mr. Turkey, "but first of all let me say that you cannot swallow your pride nor your superiority. Those are not things to eat."

"You may rise above your pride, but it is impossible to swallow it."

"Now, Mr. Turkey, I may be only a poor hen, but I know a few things. It's a saying and a perfectly good saying when I speak of swallowing my pride. Everyone knows no one means to chew it and swallow it actually. Besides, as far as that is concerned, I might say to you that it was not correct to talk about rising above your pride as though pride were the ground and one took a trip in an airplane above it."

"Let us not quarrel," said Mr. Turkey, "for the joyous Christmas season is fast approaching."

"Yes," muttered Miss Hen, "and I was fast approaching victory in that argument."

Mr. Turkey pretended he hadn't heard.

"Oh, by the way," he said, after a moment's pause, "you wanted me to tell you what it meant to be original."

"Yes," clucked Miss Hen, while a smile passed over her hen face.

"Well," continued Mr. Turkey, "when a creature is original and says original things it means he is saying things he has thought up himself and hasn't copied from someone else. A person who has original ideas all his own. A creature who says original things, says things no other creature says."

"You copied me when you said it was an honor to be eaten at Christmas. That was what I have always said."

"Don't be so fussy, Mr. Gobbler," said Miss Hen; "we can't all be original, as you call it. Besides words are words and we all have to use the same ones to be understood, so what difference does it make how we put them together?"

Mr. Turkey walked proudly about, as though some creatures really hadn't enough brains to bother talking to, but soon a great noise was heard.

The pigs were all squealing and grunting.

"It is the time of the year when everyone should give me presents," squealed Pinky Pig.

"Everyone should give me presents. That is what Christmas means," said Porky Pig.

"They should all give them to me," said Brother Bacon, "or you pigs don't know the spirit of Christmas giving."

"You don't know it yourself," said Miss Ham. "Christmas is coming. I'm all ready for presents."

But the other animals sighed and shook their heads.

"Pigs don't even forget they are pigs during the Christmas season!"

COME IN TODAY—TOMORROW MAY BE TOO LATE

AT THE THEATERS

"The cheater cheated" is the basic idea of Hale Hamilton's newest picture, "That's Good," which will be seen at the Liberty Theatre tonight. Metro's newest star is cast in a role that fits him like the proverbial glove. He plays Marcellus Starr, a small town merchant who is hooked to be taken over by a gang of wire-tappers who use a beautiful girl as their lure.

Marcellus is quiet and easy going. "That's good," he says to most everything. But he proves in the end that the swindlers shot far of their mark when they picked him for a dub.

"That's Good" is a screen version of one of "The Phoenix" stories by Richard Washburn Child which ran in the Saturday Evening Post.

Ever see a desert sandstorm? No? Well by all means see Selig's spectacular special, "The Garden of Allah," at the Liberty Theatre, on Friday when a realistic Sahara sandstorm will be presented. We see the flying clouds, the day darken, then the eddies of wind continually gathering in force until a veritable hurricane results. In the rain of sand, the man and the woman journey forth to meet their fate.

Helen Ware, the famous emotional actress, is given many opportunities for sincere and appealing work. Other exciting situations in "The Garden of Allah," a film version of Robert Hickens' novel of the same name, is the attack on the desert caravan, the charge of the Bedouins, the forecast of the Sand Diviner, the meeting of the lovers, and the succession of passionate love scenes that then ensue. William N. Selig, who is responsible for the feature film successes, "The Spoilers," "The Ne'er-Do-Well," "The Crisis," "The Rosary," etc, spent a fortune in producing "The Garden of Allah."

In her new Goldwyn Picture with the interesting title of "Spotlight Sadie," Mae Marsh comes to the Star Theatre, beginning tonight, and the star promises to give an uncommonly good account of herself. She is Sadie Sullivan, a timid newcomer in the chorus of a Broadway musical comedy with the avowed intention of marrying a millionaire and being happy ever afterward. She meets him and they love each other, but their happiness is of short duration because of the jealousy of another girl.

Sadie's sweetness and innocence are made capital of by the management of the show, with the result that she is heralded far and wide as "the saintly showgirl." Stories are told of her fondness for reading a prayer book while waiting for her cue and when the young fellow learns that this is true he is convinced of her high character.

In time he is made to know that it is part of the role Sadie unknowingly plays. When he sees her at a notorious cafe, where she has gone in response to a false message from a friend, his worst suspicions are realized. A powerful climax is worked up from this point, in which

Mae Marsh displays all her whimsical appeal and unique dramatic power
