

Jewelry Prices Have Not Advanced Greatly

Your dollars paid for jewelry come nearer having "before the war" purchasing power than any other money you spend. Jewelry has been most lightly touched by the universal increase in prices. Good news, indeed, for your Christmas purse—for nothing else quite equals good jewelry as a present. There is never doubt about the quality of jewelry at Upp's. To give it is the highest compliment you can pay a friend.

At the Theatres

For Keith Burton there was the dawn of a splendid, big, new hope when the day came when he knew that his blindness had not made him utterly helpless—an object for nothing but pity. "Dawn" is the title of the feature picture on the program at the Liberty Theatre, today.

Eleanor H. Porter, who wrote "Follyanna," also wrote "Dawn," from which J. Stuart Blackton produced this picture co-starring Sylvia Freeman and Robert Gordon. Miss Porter imbues all her stories with a beautiful spirit of optimism. The characters in "Dawn" are less saccharine than in "Follyanna" and the drama more practical.

The story is a particularly timely one, yet at no time does it attempt to preach a sermon or to be propagandist, nor is it morbid.

Humor and pathos are ideally blended in the story and the cast is a large and excellent one, with good old Flora Finch playing the role of a cross-tempered aunt who didn't stay long and Harry Davenport, James Furey, Fanny Rice, Gus Alexander, Eddie Dunn and others in important parts.

"Dust of Desire" is the title of the latest World release, which will be shown tomorrow at the Liberty Theatre and it will be interesting news for the patrons of this theatre to learn that this production is one of the most dramatic and intense pictures of the year.

A newcomer in screen stardom is Ruby de Remer, whose interpretations of Beth Vinton, the society girl, thrown on her own resources and making her living by maintaining a tea house for New York's society people, and who, in order to marry the man she loves, tells him a lie about her past, is fired with the deep dramatic qualities which have marked her character portrayals upon the speaking stage.

The story of "Dust of Desire" is by Clara Branger, the well known story and scenario writer, and Forrest Halsey, the novelist. It is intense and gripping from start to finish.

FASTED SEVERAL DAYS AT A TIME

EMORYVILLE WOMAN LOST THIRTY-NINE POUNDS BEFORE HEALTH RESTORED BY TANLAC.

"I now feel perfectly splendid since Tanlac restored me after a nervous breakdown," said Mrs. Lela Pitts, of 1302 Sixty-Fifth St., Emoryville, Cal., recently. Mrs. Pitts has lived in Emoryville for thirteen years and is known to a wide circle of friends.

"I had fallen off so much I was almost a shadow of my former self," she continued, "and I was so nervous the striking of a clock would sometimes upset me so I would tremble and shake like a leaf. Night after night I would get no rest at all and would have to lie down for several hours every day. I had no appetite and the sight or smell of anything to eat was so unpleasant to me I would go for days at a time without touching a bite. I lost thirty nine pounds and got so weak I could hardly get about the house. My head ached terribly and almost continually, and sometimes I would be so dizzy I thought I would faint. I also had rheumatism and my hands at times were as stiff as boards. For the last year every joint in my fingers ached and throbbled so I could hardly stand it. I took medicine and treatments nearly all the time but nothing gave me any relief and I got worse instead of better.

"One day a friend made me promise to get some Tanlac and the very first bottle made me a lot better. After taking four bottles I am in splendid health. My nerves are so steady nothing ever startles me and I sleep soundly for nine hours every night. When I get up I feel so refreshed and strong I never have to rest in the day time any more. I am hungry nearly all the time and eat heartily of everything without any bad effects afterward. My rheumatism is gone and my hands are as supple as they ever were.

"I feel so grateful to my friend and to Tanlac I shall never be able to repay them for what they have done for me."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lorella by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

ALASKANS ARE MAKING GOOD

They Show Marked Inclination Toward Good Citizenship and Patriotism.

What the Alaska natives are doing and are willing to do in proof positive of their fitness to live under the Stars and Stripes is impressed on all who come in contact with the natives and their numerous activities along lines of advanced citizenship and patriotism.

By way of a minor illustration that shows which way the wind blows with them: The natives in Juneau through the press, advocated the killing of dogs, that there might be more food for human consumption. They advised their native friends to protect the deer from their dogs that might kill deer during their helpless condition following this last winter's deep snows, when many starved and all were weakened for lack of food.

Down at Kake the natives have only about one-third to one-quarter the number of dogs that they had last year. One who went through the village last fall and again this spring remarked on the fact that there were almost no dogs in town.

"Yes," said a representative citizen, "the natives became convinced that from a sanitary standpoint and an economical standpoint they were keeping too many pets. As a result of this conviction they began reducing on dogs and improving on health and food supply."

Another point that impresses even a casual observer is that the natives all take local newspapers and read carefully—often very slowly—the events that are taking place locally and throughout the world. If a native is not a regular subscriber to a newspaper, you may be sure it is because he cannot read one word of English or any other printed language.

OUR CAPTURED FLAGS ABROAD

Emblems Taken During the War of 1812 Are Safely Preserved in London.

A recent walk through Chelsea brought me to several places of interest to Americans. Firstly, the old Royal hospital, built in the reign of King Charles II, the great hall of which is now used as a recreation room for the old pensioners and from whose walls a number of flags captured during the 1812-1815 war are suspended.

The colors hang sedately side by side with Napoleonic eagles and other war trophies, and if it were not for the records it would be almost impossible to discern their story. Among them are flags of the Sixty-eighth and Eighty-fifth regiments captured at Blundersberg; the Kentucky regimental flag, the Fourth regiment of United States Infantry, taken at Detroit; the Second regiment of the United States Infantry and another taken at Queenstown Heights.

I wonder how many Americans know of their existence. It would certainly be a graceful act of the British government to return them to America. No doubt the American authorities have some similar trophies which they would be pleased to exchange.—London Landmark Assists Visits to Graves.

According to a report received here the American Young Women's Christian association overseas has been requested by the United States army to open hotels to care for relatives visiting the four large American military cemeteries in France. The first hotel will be opened at Revinny, near the cemetery where is a small town, and prior to this had no hotel accommodations. A cable also states that hotel Petrograd, the Y. W. C. A. hostess house in Paris, which was to have been turned into an American women's club with an information bureau and guides, for the benefit of woman relatives going to France to visit soldier's graves, is now being used for the emergency housing of 200 British and French girls working with the American army.

Life One Leap Year After Another.

There exists at least one place in the world where men consider it below their dignity to notice women at all, much less make overtures of marriage. Consequently the proposing is left to the women. When a New Guinea woman falls in love with a man she sends a piece of string to his sister, or, if he has no sister, to his mother or to another of his lady relatives. Then the lady who receives the string tells the favored man that the particular woman is in love with him. No courting follows, however, for it is considered beneath the dignity of a New Guinea man to waste his time in such a pursuit. If the man thinks that he would like to wed the lady, he meets her alone, and they decide whether to marry or drop the idea.

Albanians Glad of Pajamas.

It is estimated that several hundred miles of unbleached muslin has recently been cut into pajamas for the Albanians, most of whom are in rags. Indeed, the shirt of one Albanian had scraps of 287 different kinds of cloth in it, when he "traded it in" for the stylish and neat suit of pajamas which he now wears proudly through the streets.

Always Some Drawback.

"They say Maud's second husband has $10,000 a year. How contented she must be."

"She isn't, though, exactly. A man of that grade doesn't hand his wife his pay envelope, you know."

Getting the Fur Coat Out of the Moth Balls Should Be a Reminder That Your Automobile Battery Needs a Little Extra Attention

"The average motorist," said Judd Low, manager of the local "Exide" Service Station, the other morning, "is a queer combination of sound American common sense and unsound American easy goingness. And what parts of his car he never sees or hears a complaint from he is prone to neglect. And that, of course, is mainly why the battery suffers—it never complains.

"It does its work, right up to the point where it has nothing more to give, under the most neglectful and cruel treatment. But, of course, by the time it has reached such a point it is in mighty bad shape, and building it up again is going to cost Mr. Careless Motorist a penny that he might very well have saved himself.

"And all this in spite of the fact that we are continually writing our customers—talking to them, sending them folders and circulars—on the subject of getting better performance and longer life from the battery and keeping down big repair bills by giving it the right kind of service at the right time. Right now we are sending out a little folder showing the importance of giving the battery proper storage when the car is laid up for the winter. It has been the bad habit of many automobile owners at the approach of cold weather to simply run the old bus, fully equipped, into the garage and then lock the door till next spring.

"Certainly so far as the battery is concerned, this is a mighty poor proceeding. Inside of the battery, owing to its chemical nature, a certain sort of action and reaction is continually taking place, even when it is idle. For this reason it demands certain attention at regular periods. This attention can best be given it when it is stored under such conditions and superintendence as only the battery expert can give it. Because of this, we advise our customers to remove their batteries from their cars, sending them to us to be stored and cared for in our storage department. The cost of winter storage is small and there is assurance that nothing detrimental can happen to the battery during Jack Frost's reign."
