COLLECTS TWINE BALL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 16.—Postmistress E. G. Crofts of Penryn, California, is setting a fine example to thrift. All the white twine she has come across in the past few years she has wound into a ball which now weighs eight pounds and contains fifteen miles of twine. The postoffice department no longer supplies the Penryn office with twine, so the giant ball comes in quite handy.

100 STUDENTS ENROLL

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Dec. 16.—Nearly 100 students—orchardists, horticulturists and farm advisers—are enrolled in the short course in horticulture which is now under way at the state university farm at Davis, California.

The total amount of dissolved salts in the ocean would, it is calculated, if extracted, form a pavement 170 feet thick on the entire sea bed.

SPECIAL LABOR CONFERENCE WILL CONSIDER THRIFT

Oregon State Federation Petitions Union Leaders to Adopt Savings Policy.

Portland, Ore.—The Oregon State Federation of Labor has asked the conference of the heads of international labor unions affiliated with the American Federation of Labor, which opens its session in Washington, D. C., December 13, to include in any program that they may promulgate as a result of the failure of the industrial conference a plank memorializing the Federal Government to continue and elaborate, if necessary, its Thrift and War Savings Stamps movement as a permanent national policy. The Oregon Federation also has asked all other State Federations of Labor in the United States to make a similar request of the conference. President O. R. Harwig of the Oregon Federation signed the letter, which follows:

"Inasmuch as the United States Government is engaged in advancing the War Savings Stamps campaign in a vigorous manner, and inasmuch as the War Savings Stamps are the best possible forms of investment for working men and women, particularly organized workers, and also because the possession of War Savings Stamps by workers while defending their rights either while on strike or otherwise, gives them a degree of security that ordinarily they do not possess, therefore, the State Federation of Labor, of Oregon makes the following suggestion: That your Federation join with us in urging upon the national conference that has been called in Washington, D. C., by the American Federation of Labor, the advisability of including in any program that they may promulgate, a War Savings Stamps plank or provision.

"We feel that this will materially strengthen the position of organized labor and will also give us the benefit of war when most needed. Trusting, therefore, that you will find it possible to join us in urging upon the national conference this provision, and thanking you in advance for concurring in this suggestion, we beg to remain,

LIBERTY BOND BUYERS HAVE 10 MILLION DUE

Interest on Third and Victory Liberty Loans Buys Christmas Presents

San Francisco—Patriotic citizens of the Twelfth Federal Reserve District who bought Liberty Bonds during the war have coming to them approximately $10,045,300 on December 15, as interest on bonds of the First and Fifth Liberty Loans. This is more than one dollar per capita for every resident in the seven states of the Twelfth District.

To many the interest money will come almost as a Christmas gratuity, but the Government is anxious that its creditors use the interest not as easy money but that they re-invest it immediately in Government securities, such as War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates carrying 4% interest compounded quarterly, thus making interest earn interest. To those who intend to make holiday money of it, the Government says: "Give War Savings Stamps for Christmas."

The total of $10,045,300 due is apportioned into $2,295,750 as interest on the First Loan and $7,749,550 interest on the Fifth Loan. If the entire $10,045,300 collectible on December 15 was invested in War Savings Stamps and Treasury Savings Certificates, and the securities held until their maturity date five years later, the interest on the interest would amount to nearly a half million.

'CASCO' GOES UPON ROCKS

NOME, Alaska, Nov. 15. (By Mail.)—The romantic and adventurous career of the old Robert Louis Stevenson schooner Casco as a yacht, smuggler, sealer and gold-seeker came to an end when she ploughed out of the rocks of King Island, north of Nome, recently, while hurrying south from Siberian gold fields in an attempt to beat the oncoming winter ice.

The Casco was built in San Francisco about thirty years ago as a yacht for a Dr. Merritt, of San Francisco, a friend of Robert Louis Stevenson, the author. Merritt, according to local records, took Stevenson and started West in 1888 on a circle of the globe in an attempt to restore the author's failing health. When Stevenson decided to remain in the South Seas, Dr. Merritt sold the Casco.

Next the Casco played the part of an opium smuggler in Hawaiian and Oriental waters. Revenue officers chased her through Asiatic and American seas, yet she continued her work for several years.

Sealing was her next task and she was sent north into the stormy North Pacific waters around Alaska.

In June of this year the Casco left San Francisco carrying a company of argonauts to an unnamed destination on the north Siberian coast, 1,000 miles east of Bering Straits. They had been told, it is believed, by an old whaler that gold could be found in the Kolyma River country of Siberia. Encountering one of the earliest winters recorded in Arctic history, she finally reached North Cape, the farthest north point reached by an American Island, where she now lies a hopeless wreck.

Mexico is bounded on the north by the United States, the south by Honduras and Guatemala, on the east by the Gulf of Mexico, and on the west by the Pacific ocean.

Hernsand, in Sweden, was the first town in the world where electricity was entirely substituted for gas in street lighting.
