ATHLETIC LEAGUE MEETING INDICATES BRIGHT PROSPECTS

A meeting of persons interested in the organization of an athletic association was held in the city hall last night, but no definite action toward perfecting the organization was taken as the hall committee stated that they were still investigating the matter of securing quarters and would not be able to report for a few days. The committee on constitution and by-laws also reported that their work was still in the preliminary stages. An adjournment was accordingly taken until next Tuesday night.

Discussion brought out statements indicating that sentiment in favor of the association is growing and prospects for a large and stable organization seem bright.

GOOD SCORES IN BOWLING CONTESTS

Some good individual scores were made in the bowling contest between Mason's and Van Riper's teams on the Elks alleys last night. Mason's team, won two games out of three. Tonight, Jester's and Swanson's teams will meet. Last night's scores:

FISH AND GAME BOARD FIRE FINLEY

PORTLAND, Dec. 17.—William L. Finley, state biologist, was dismissed by the state fish and game commission last Thursday, it became known today, according to a story published in the Portland Telegram, which ascribes the dismissal to Finley's refusal to do politics. Sportsmen of the state are reported to be indignant and are said to be planning to preal the matter to the governor.

WELL-KNOWN YOUNG PEOPLE ARE WEDDED

David E. Cox and Miss Gladys Poole were married last evening at the residence of the Rev. J. W. Bryant, who performed the wedding ceremony. Both are well known young people. They have purchased a bungalow on Eleventh street and expect to occupy it about January 1. Mr. Cox is in the employ of the Wells Fargo Company here. His bride is a popular young lady who was born and brought up in this community. She is a niece of Mrs. B. S. Grigsby, of this city, with whom she made her home during the years that she attended the local schools, and a sister of Mrs. R. S. Cowley of Langell Valley. Many friends will join in congratulating her husband on his good fortune and extending wishes for long continued happiness to both of the newly-wedded pair.
