AT THE THEATERS

One of the prettiest scenes in "Hitting the High Spots," the Metro play starring Bert Lytell which will be shown at the Liberty theatre tonight, is that of the wedding of the young engineer and the girl he loves.

The scene was staged in Christ Episcopal Church, the home of the most fashionable congregation in Los Angeles, and was done in such a realistic manner that many people passing by thought that a real wedding was taking place and dropped into the church to see the ceremony.

Their surprise on discovering that the beautiful scene was for the benefit of a motion picture was only equalled by their disappointment that the romance was not a real one as they had first imagined. The scene shows the bride and groom slowly moving up the aisle with a train of pretty girls carrying huge bouquets of lilies and roses. The church is garlanded with smilax and banked with palms and a full choir of white-robed men and boys sing the appropriate hymns and anthems. In the chancel stands a surpliced clergyman, book in hand, ready to perform the ceremony, while the pews are filled with fashionably dressed men and women. That the marriage was only a make-believe one was hard to realize—even Mr. Lytell and Miss Percy doubting that they might not be really married after all.

All the world loves a lover—and especially a fighting lover. That is one of the potent reasons why William Farnum makes such a splendid and heroic figure in "Rough and Ready," his newest and tremendously interesting de luxe production.

The picture, which was directed by Richard Stanton, among the snows of the mountains, for the most part, comes to the Liberty Theatre on Sunday, as the chief attraction for a two day run. There are four performances Sunday at 1:30 to 3:30 and 7:00 to 9:00 p. m.

Mr. Farnum has the role of Bill Stratton, who has always led a high-principled life, and who is as square with his fellow-men as he is with himself. He saves the home of a dear friend from disruption, but his masterful handling of the situation has a most pathetic result. Evelyn Dur-

HERSEY YEARLING CLAIMS BUTTER RECORD

All records for the production of butter is claimed for Lulu Alpha of Ashburn, registered yearling. She produced 13,669 pounds of milk, or 1000 pounds of butter in the year ending Nov. 1, which was 100 pounds more than she herself weighs. The milk tested 5.35 per cent butter fat or 50 per cent more than the law requires. Her feat is said to be five times as much as ordinary production. She is shown here with her owner, J. J. Van Kleeck, at the American Jersey Cattle Club show.

ant, to whom he is engaged and in whom he has found his ideal, misconstrues a situation in which she finds Stratton and breaks off their troth. The man's hopes are dashed to earth. His faith in everything good and fine and true is almost shattered. He determines to sever all the ties that bind him to a city of hypocrisy. With a sudden return of energy, he packs his bag and is soon headed for the great open Northland to tramp the trail that brings weariness—but with it, happiness.

With his sleds and his huskies he is deeply contented, until he comes to the mining settlement of Yellow Gulch. It is there that he meets "Lucky" Durant, his former sweetheart's father. From "Lucky" he learns that Evelyn will arrive in the village next day. Bill cannot forget the past, as he thought. He remains in Yellow Gulch and faces Evelyn. The intervention of Jack Belmont, a sinister influence, is the cause of stirring complications in the story, and makes Stratton wage a long battle for victory.

COUNTS OUR BUSHELS AND POUNDS FOR US

It may be the task of most of us to produce the bushels and pounds which is the world's supply annually, but it is this man's job to count them and he does it all through a maze of figures which few laymen could understand. He is Leon M. Estbrook, chief of the Bureau of Crop Estimates in the Department of Agriculture at Washington—and himself a farmer—over in Maryland.

RECLAMATION HEAD URGES ALL TO AID

SALEM, Ore., Dec. 27.—The keeping alive of the interest aroused in the work of reclamation throughout the western states is urged in a letter received here by Percy A. Cupper, state engineer, from D. W. Davis of Boise, president of the Western States Reclamation association. Mr. Cupper was a delegate in attendance at the recent reclamation conference at Salt Lake City and is a member of the executive committee of the organization.

"Since my return from the conference of the Western Reclamation association, recently held at Salt Lake," says Mr. Davis' letter, "I have been delighted to note the continued and keen interest manifested in the proposed activities of the organization.

"This has inspired me to address the delegates who were in attendance at the conference, asking that each one take upon himself to keep alive in his section the interest aroused in the work of reclamation. If we do this there is no doubt great things may be accomplished. A united strength behind one program that will be beneficial to all the western states cannot help but be felt by Congress.

"In Idaho we are keeping the people alive to the necessity of reclamation work. I believe that one of the strong contributing causes to a successful result of our big national program, should it succeed, will be the fact that all of the different states have local reclamation associations co-operating and co-ordinating with the larger organization."

One of the most extraordinary recent discoveries in regard to plants is that they are conscious of wireless messages. Experts who have experimented in the matter declare that plants receive and make a response to wireless messages, and that the response can be detected by the newer electrical instruments. The latter are so sensitive that they can detect and register the minutest internal movements in plants.

For many years Queen Victoria personally conducted a Sunday school for the children connected with Windsor Castle.

It is only within the past few years that the French law has permitted women to act as guardian to their own children.

APARTMENT HOUSE FOR MILLIONAIRES

NEW YORK, Dec. 27.—Six New York millionaires refuse to be homeless. Like thousands of others here they have sought in vain for a place to live, and now they are going to spend $4,000,000 for an apartment house, principally for themselves. F. Coleman Du Pont, Dallas B.

Pratt, Col Benjamin McAlpin, Arthur Coppel, L. L. Dunham and L. M. Boomer are the "homeless."

The all-millionaire apartment house will be sixteen stories high and cost $4,000,000. It will be in the exclusive Central Park west section of the city. A lease on the property for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of more than $2,000,000 was signed by the syndicate. Apartments in the proposed building will range from 29 rooms and 10 baths to 17 rooms and 7 baths. A staff of trained servants to relieve tenants of housekeeping burdens will be maintained, and a restaurant will be operated that will take up the greater part of the ground floor.

Women are now eligible to election to all public offices in New South Wales.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING

WHAT IS IT?

It is the best paying class of advertising in the world if you have something to sell that belongs among little ads that you find in The Herald.

JUST TRY IT ONCE

If you have something in your attic, your basement, your spare room, your barn, around you anywhere that you want to sell, try The Herald classified ads and you will find a buyer.

IF YOU WANT SOMETHING

Advertise for it, trying The Herald's classified ads. Someone has something for sale that you want. Let The Herald find it for you. It costs you but a few cents a day.

Classified ads cost you 5 cents a line a day—five words to the line. They must be paid for in advance and cannot be received over the telephone—that is why they are so cheap.

Americanism

VS. Internationalism

"Not under any circumstances would I sacrifice the spirit, the character, the nationalism of America, or the constitution and the institutions that have bred America's manhood and womanhood. If we plunge America into the welter of internationalism we shall destroy America, and, in the name of good to the world, we shall make our country incapable of good either to the world or to ourselves.

"Free and untrammelled, with safe frontiers, America's task is to perfect America's own national life in America's own way. Only so can America—North, South, East and West—the America we all love, endure. Only so can America irradiate an even higher influence in the world.

"Internationalism would destroy us at home. Nationalism will save us at home. If there is anything through which we can do good to the world it is our Americanism. If we sacrifice that distinctive thing we destroy the hope that the world has in America. We are the salt of the earth, and for the earth 'Salt is good; but if the salt has lost its savor, wherewith shall it be seasoned? It is neither fit for the land, nor yet for the dung-hill, but men cast it out. He that hath ears to hear, let him hear.' Thus spoke the Savior of mankind, and, to paraphrase another divine expression, What will it profit America to gain the world and lose its own soul?"
