OREGON BREVITIES

BUXTON, Dec. 29.—The new lumber and planing mill of the Standard Box & Lumber company is 75 per cent completed and will be ready for operation March 1.

DALLAS, Dec. 29.—Charles E. McDonald, living a few miles west of this city, who has made a success of raising skunks for furs, has added a pair of foxes to his pens and will breed these animals for their furs. One is a silver fox and the other of the black species. The pelt of either is worth several hundred dollars.

SALEM, Dec. 29.—Governor Olcott, as chairman of the fish and game commission, in a letter to the members of the commission, recommends that the action of December 11 in deposing Finley be rescinded, that Finley be reinstated as state biologist, and that he be given a free and independent hand in the management of the educational and biological department of the commission to the end that his knowledge as a naturalist may not be lost to the state.

ASHLAND, Dec. 29.—Clarence Prescott of this city crashed into an automobile driven by the son of J. C. Kaegi of Ashland at a street intersection here and suffered injuries which resulted in his death. He was thrown high in the air by the heavy six-cylinder car and then ground beneath the wheels, leaving hardly a bone unbroken. Prescott leaves a widow and three children.

PORTLAND, Dec. 29.—To fill the place of the late Dr. T. B. Ford as superintendent of the Salem district of the Methodist church, Rev. Ernest E. Gilbert, pastor of the church at Medford, has been appointed by Bishop Matt S. Hughes.

Rev. J. Randolph Sasnett, who has been assistant pastor of the First Methodist church at Seattle, will succeed to the pastorate of the Medford church.

ROSEBURG, Dec. 29.—Ed Moser of Umpqua received the highest price for turkeys last Saturday ever paid for birds wholesale in Douglas county. Thirty-five birds, weighing 647 pounds dressed, were sold to Charles McCullough, a San Francisco buyer, for $355.85—an average of $10.55 a bird, or at the rate of 55 cents a pound. More than 12,500 turkeys were marketed for the Christmas trade.

PORTLAND, Dec. 29.—"The Child Caring League of Oregon" was organized recently in Portland by the election of W. D. DeVarney as president; Clarence Gilbert, secretary, and Dr. David N. Roberg, state health officer, and Father E. V. O'Hara as vice chairmen.

PORTLAND, Dec. 29.—With a thousand or more former service men in Portland and vicinity out of work, and additional hundreds in other parts of the state seeking employment, the people of Oregon are particularly urged to patronize home industries in order that the production of local factories may be increased and the number of employees increased thereby. Proclamations urging the use of home products have been issued by both Governor Olcott and Mayor Baker, at the suggestion of the Associated Industries of Oregon.

PASCO, Wash., Dec. 29.—Four spans of the bridge across the Columbia river here have been washed away and there is little hope of saving the remainder of the structure, which is used by the O.-W. R. & N. railroad.

FOREST GROVE, Dec. 29.—Lieutenant Mark Hogue, who for some weeks past has been visiting his mother, Mrs. Anna Hogue, has left for New York City, where he will take up aerial work for the government and will pilot one of the government mail planes from New York to Chicago.

ASTORIA, Dec. 29.—While the full amount of the tax levy on this year's roll will not be known until after the county budget meeting, it is certain the millage will be considerably higher than last year. Practically every tax levying body in the county has been asked for more money.

SALEM, Dec. 29.—A total of 165 bridges and culverts, involving an aggregate cost estimated at $1,696,777.52, were under contract or ad-

Letters From The People

IRRIGATION SHOULD HAVE UNITED SUPPORT.

To the Editor of The Herald and to the property holders and others interested in the several new irrigation districts throughout the county.

While I was in attendance at the Irrigation Congress held at Salt Lake November 20 and 21, 1919, plans were laid by the delegates from thirteen western states, to elect and send to Washington, an executive committee consisting of one member from each state, to confer with their senators and help to create interest toward passing before Congress a bill making available a fund of $250,000,000 for the completion of unfinished reclamation projects, and such new projects as were approved by the Reclamation Service. It was also suggested that each delegate should request that the people of their districts and all interested should be asked to address a personal letter to the Oregon Senators, requesting them to use their best efforts to secure passage of said bill.

Now it can readily be seen, that if all concerned would comply with such a request it will cause these Senators of our western states to sit up and take notice. Therefore I would suggest that each person in our county who has the good of Klamath county at heart appoint themselves a committee of one to address a short and to the point letter to our Senator and to have letter started on its mission January 2nd, 1920. Don't be a slacker. Show them that Klamath County people are alive and awake to every worthy movement, and that we want what we want when we want it.

NATIONALIZING LIQUOR MAKING IS ADVOCATED

CARLISLE, Eng. Nov. 27.—(City Mail)—A campaign for the nationalization of the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor was inaugurated a few days ago at an important trade union and labor conference here.

J. H. Thomas, member of Parliament and general secretary of the Union of Railway Men, supported a resolution urging all labor parties and trades councils to demand the extension of the principle of state ownership and control of the liquor trade to the whole country.

Mr. Thomas said he believed there was no evil like the "drink evil." "Is there any man or woman," he asked, "who would dare suggest that our experience during the war would justify the state in letting the drink traffic and the public house return to the old system?"

Prohibition, he said, was an alternative to adoption of the Brewers' Bill. It was time, in his opinion, for the government to deal boldly and comprehensively with the question. "If you want to keep the drink problem free from politics," he declared, "or you want to take a vested interest out of the region of politics, you can only do it by taking the drink traffic out of the hands of private ownership."

advertised in letting of contracts during the year 1919, according to the report of C. B. McCullough, bridge engineer with the state highway department. Bridge construction work completed during the year is estimated at $375,000. The report shows that 148 special designs were prepared for bridges of 18-foot span or more, with an aggregate estimated cost of $2,295,229.21. Special designs prepared for bridges of smaller dimensions than 18 feet totaled 74, with an aggregate estimated cost of $95,250.

PENDLETON, Dec. 29.—The Pendleton Tribune has announced that it will become a morning paper on January 1.

EUGENE, Dec. 29.—The city of Eugene alone is losing $4000 daily in its payroll, due to the lack of cars for the shipping of lumber, according to A. C. Dixon, manager of the Booth-Kelly Lumber company. The loss to the county in wages amounts to $200,000 a month, he said.

The Booth-Kelly company has on hand a big supply of logs and an abundance of orders. During the past week 750 employes of the Booth-Kelly company have not been employed, although it is probable the camps will start again next week.
