HUSKY HARVARD OUT TO CRUSH OREGON TEAM

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Although the intercollegiate football season of 1920 is still some nine months away, the prospects of a record gridiron season during the coming year are clearly indicated by the playing of the Harvard-Oregon game at Pasadena, California on New Year's Day as part of the Rose Carnival. In many respects this contest is the most unusual ever staged and the breaking down of generation old football traditions bears out the fact, demonstrated in the latest schedules, that the sport will reach a pinnacle next season never approached in the past.

While there have been numerous inter-sectional football games in other years and the playing of eastern college elevens on Pacific Coast gridirons is not unprecedented, the appearance of a team from one of the oldest and most famous of America's universities in this role is a decided advance and recognition of the ever increasing scope of the autumn sport. No championship is at stake and the claim is not made that the two elevens are the best in their respective sections. They were, however, ranked high at the close of their seasons and can be accepted as fully representative elevens of the Atlantic and Pacific Coast type of play.

Oregon won five out of six games played during the 1919 schedule and was scored upon in three others. Harvard took part in nine games, won eight and was tied by Princeton in the other contest. The total scoring against the crimson consisted of two field goals and one touchdown made in the Yale and Princeton games. There is no way in which to obtain a line upon the respective strength of Oregon and Harvard, even through the unsatisfactory method of comparative scores, for the institutions are so widely separated that a mutual opponent was out of the question.

In the few Atlantic vs. Pacific Coast intercollegiate football games played to date the advantage rests with the Pacific institution elevens. In 1915 Washington defeated Brown 14 to 0. The following year Oregon defeated Pennsylvania by a similar score. During 1916 Syracuse made a tour of the far west defeating Occidental college 35 to 0 and Oregon Aggies 28 to 0. Previous to reaching the coast, Montana had tied the Syracuse combination in a 6-to-6 game. In 1917 and 1919 Syracuse played Nebraska, winning the first game 10 to 9 and losing the second 3 to 0. These games constitute a majority of the contests involving far western trips by eastern colleges. While Harvard has never made an extended trip an inter-sectional game is not an innovation for the crimson, for Harvard and Michigan, to cite

WOMAN'S VOICE IN G. O. P. MEET

Woman's voice was heard in the affairs of the Republican party when the national committee at Washington recently selected Chicago as the place for the 1920 presidential convention. Mary Garrick Hay, chairman of the executive committee of the woman's party, took an active part in the meeting.

only one case, have met in four games. In 1881 the Wolverines were defeated 4 to 0; in 1883, 3 to 0; in 1885, 4 to 0, and in 1914 Harvard completed its quartet of victories by winning 7 to 0.

Harvard had an easy schedule this year, and until the Princeton game on November 8 did not have to extend itself. Crimson teams are developed physically through a season with the idea of having them in condition to play their best against their old rivals of Yale. All other games are taken "in stride." A result of this, combined with an easy schedule, is that the Harvard team is expected to pick up again for the post-season contest much easier than teams which have been trained for several special games in a season of hard play. "Pooch" Donovan, trainer of Crimson teams for many years, said before he left with the eleven for the coast: "My boys ought to be in top form by New Year's. I don't think they have been at their highest yet this year. I'll bring them along, I'm sure, and we'll make California's milder climate help instead of retard us."

Whether in open-field running, where his ability to shift and dodge, to change suddenly both pace and direction, and to protect himself by warding off opposing tacklers with stiff straight arm, gave him gain after gain; in forward passing, where he served both as thrower and receiver, more often as the latter and for considerable advances, Casey proved himself one of the best backs of the east for all time. Harvard's principal weapon of attack, Casey tied the game with Princeton and won the game with Yale by receiving forward passes and completing them with elusive runs. In the contest at Pasadena he will be playing his last game under Crimson colors, as his service in the navy will count toward a degree.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE.

In the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon, For the County of Klamath, Gus Melhase, Plaintiff, vs. Frank M. Dayton, Defendant.

No. 1104, Equity. Notice is hereby given that, by virtue of an execution and order of sale, duly issued out of the above entitled court and cause on the 2nd day of December, 1919, in favor of the above named plaintiff and against the above named defendant, directing the sale of the premises therein, and hereinafter described, to satisfy the sum of $1300.00, with interest thereon from the 19th day of September, 1914, at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, $175 attorney's fee, $17.20 costs, and disbursements, and accruing costs.

Now, therefore, by virtue of said execution, and in compliance with said writ, I have fully levied on said premises and will, on Tuesday, January 6, 1920, at 10 o'clock a. m. of said day, at the front door of the county court house, in the City of Klamath Falls, Klamath County, State of Oregon, sell, at public sale, to the highest bidder, for cash, all the right, title and interest of the above named defendant, in and to the following described real property, situated in Klamath County, State of Oregon, to wit: The SE 1/4 of section 25, Township 35 South of Range 11 1/2 East of Willamette Meridian, except a tract 74 by 8 1/2 rods out of southwest part thereof, or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy said execution, together with the tenements, hereditaments and appurtenances thereunto belonging or in anywise appertaining.

The proceeds of said sale will be applied to the satisfaction of said execution, order and decree, interest, costs, and accruing costs, and the overplus, if any there be, paid into court to be further applied as by law directed.

Dated at Klamath Falls, Oregon, December 2, 1919.

WM. J. BRYAN IS AT IT AGAIN

OMAHA, Dec. 29.—William Jennings Bryan will speak here on January 12 on "The Attitude of the Democratic Party for 1920." Friends say he plans a several weeks' tour in which he will discuss the League of Nations, peace treaty and other possible issues of the 1920 campaign.

NEW YORK, Dec. 29.—Harry W. Walker, who managed the campaigns of William Jennings Bryan for president, left today for a tour of New York and New England, with the announced purpose of interviewing the old members of the Bryan leagues regarding the revitalizing of these organizations. Martin H. Glynn seems to be favored as Bryan's running mate, according to Mr. Walker.

The last act in the life of the female cochineal insect is to lay a large number of eggs, upon which her dead body rests, protecting them from the burning rays of the sun until the little ones emerge.
