

DEPUTY CENSUS DIRECTOR HERE TO SPEED WORK

Co-operation of Every Citizen Asked to Make Enumeration of Population and Resources Complete—Will Appoint Enumerator.

G. W. Fairfield, representing the district supervisor of census, W. A. Terrell, of Wasco, Oregon, arrived in Klamath Falls last night to straighten out the work of enumeration in this city. Two enumerators are working, Mrs. Frank Morris in Wards One and Two, and Mrs. Anna E. Watson in Wards Three and Four. Ward Five, which takes in Shippington and contiguous territory, has no enumerator, but Mr. Fairfield expected to make an appointment today and get the work in that ward started.

The enumeration in municipalities must be completed by January 15, and in rural districts by February 1. In the city of Klamath Falls progress has been made, but the census bureau urges that every one cooperate, so that the work may be completed by the time limit which the law fixes, and a full and accurate estimate of population be obtained.

If there is laxity and neglect in regard to this important matter, it is pointed out by those anxious for the community's development, the end of the census may find Klamath Falls with only a partial list of its population and gravely handicapped in its advancement. It would certainly make a difference in an attempt to attract business enterprises and settlers whether the city's population were set at 4,000 or at 6,000 or 7,000. It can readily be seen that co-operation on the part of every good citizen is necessary. The enumerators should have the information that they seek without question or quibble, and every assistance should be given them if they call for aid in any detail.

The rural districts of Klamath county all have enumerators, and as far as Mr. Fairfield knows the work is going ahead without any hitch.

It is suggested that every citizen make it a personal duty to see that he and his family are included in the census. If he feels that the census-taker is delayed and may overlook him, let him look up the census-taker.

Following is a list of the county enumerators, their postoffice address and territory to be covered:

- Clive L. Sporup, Dairy—Algoma and Swan Lake precincts.
- Fred Ohlemeyer, 304 Ninth street, Klamath Falls—Chiloquin and Wood River, including part of the Crater Lake and Umpqua national forests.
- F. J. Boldin, Merrill—Dairy, Hildebrand and Poe Valley.
- M. M. Obenchain, Klamath Falls—Klamath Lake and part of Crater Lake forest.
- Ernest M. Hoppe, Merrill—Linkville precinct, including the almshouse, Midland, Mt. Laki, and Pine Grove.
- George E. Gillette, Bonanza—Lost River precinct, including Bonanza City, and part of the Fremont national forest.
- A. L. Andrieu, Merrill—Malin, Merrill, Tule Lake.
- B. S. Bothwell, Crescent—Odell, including part of Crater Lake and Umpqua, Deschutes and Fremont forests.
- C. W. Tower, Worden—Plevna, Taps, Worden, part of Crater Lake forest.
- W. L. Crune, Yainix—Sprague River, Yainix, part of Fremont national forest.
- Gomer Jones, Klamath Indian agency—Klamath Indian reservation.

FILES DIVORCE SUIT.

Suit for divorce has been started in the circuit court by J. W. Swartogager against Retta Swartogager.

DEMOCRATIC LEADER IS AGAINST SUFFRAGE.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—Opposition to woman's suffrage was expressed by James R. Nugent, New Jersey Democratic leader, in a letter to Chairman Cummings of the Democratic national committee, made public today. He wrote that woman suffrage was the "mother of all isms" and the greatest menace now threatening the stability of the American government and American institutions.

STAFF OF STORE JOIN IN FEAST

Each year Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Moe are host and hostess at a dinner for all of the employees of the Woman's Store. Last night the third of these dinners was served in the banquet room of the Rex Cafe and was the most successful of the series. As indicative of the strides made by this establishment since it opened its doors to the public of this county, there were fifteen diners at the table, and this fact speaks plainly that Mr. Moe has made a success—success built upon honest, efficient service and co-operation.

Four years ago Mr. Moe came here from Medford and opened a store in one of the rooms of the White building. He had one rule that he never permitted to be transgressed, and that rule contained just three words—"Value and Service." The business grew until more room became necessary and he took over the leases of other tenants and expanded. It will not be long until he will have to do the same thing over again. In addition to giving close attention to his business, he has also found time to enter with energy into every undertaking that has for its purpose the development of the county and the welfare of the community.

Those attending the banquet last night were:

- Mrs. Helen Guest, Mrs. Clayton Cornish, Miss Eunice Vandenberg, Mrs. Basil Gregory, Mrs. Ivy North, Miss Mary Walker, Miss Minnie Walker, Mrs. G. W. Ingerson, Mrs. Frank Metchan, Mrs. Eda Carr and Mrs. H. N. Moe; and Messrs. F. Wygant, W. M. McNealy, Mauritz Jalo, and H. N. Moe.

WILL DISCUSS CHILD PROBLEMS

Parents listen! There are four hundred and seventeen children in Klamath Falls who are under weight. Is your child one of them?

Come to the meeting of the Library club, Friday afternoon at 2:45 o'clock in the Library club rooms and hear the facts presented concerning malnutrition of children. Weigh and measure the height of your children and bring these figures to the meeting. From them you can ascertain whether your child is a victim of malnutrition. If so, you will find some useful information as to a cure in the home by simple methods of bettering the diet, sleeping conditions and activities of your child.

Trained dieticians will be present to explain how to use the increase of calories of food necessary, and a trained nurse will give helpful information as to better living conditions.

The subject of malnutrition is one of vital importance to parents. The need for studying it was strikingly brought out in the figures obtained during the war, when it was found that one of every five men examined by the draft boards throughout the country, was rejected because of conditions arising from malnutrition in childhood.

The Burmese and Maoris have no wedding ceremony, marriage being regarded by them as a business partnership.

RENEWED TALK OF INDUSTRIAL Y. M. C. A. HERE

An Industrial Y. M. C. A. movement, the scope of which will largely depend on the interest shown by the community, is being discussed by leaders of the city's social development and the movement has gathered headway that indicates establishment of industrial Y. M. C. A. centers in various mill and logging centers, and no doubt a large central Y. M. C. A. and auditorium in Klamath Falls at no very distant date.

U. S. Duncan, Interstate Y. M. C. A. secretary for Oregon and Idaho, was here last spring and visited leading industrial plants. All of the operators interviewed gave encouragement to the movement, and while work since Mr. Duncan's visit has been carried on quietly a marked advancement has been made and considerable support gathered for the movement.

The Y. M. C. A. industrial center plan has worked successfully in Coeur D'Alene, Idaho, Bend, Oregon, and other industrial centers of the two states. For camps remote from any large center a circuit is established, reading rooms, gymnasiums, or other recreational features suitable to local needs furnished in each camp, and a secretary secured to cover the circuit each week to direct the local activities.

For a combined mill town and city, such as Klamath Falls, the Coeur D'Alene plan has proved successful and, with modifications suitable to local needs, could be fitted to apply here. The plan is outlined by Mr. Duncan as follows:

First—That the organization be an Industrial Association whose primary object will be to serve the men in the industrial plants of the community, but that such features be included as to serve as a community center as well.

Second—That funds for the erection of the building (not to exceed $50,000.00) be secured on a basis of 70 percent from the milling industries, and 30 per cent from the community, the pro rata from the mills being determined on the basis of shipments, and all amounts binding when the total amount has been secured.

Third—That a Building Committee, consisting of the mill managers and two representatives of the community be created, and with the co-operation of a representative of the

WILL BE ASKED TO ENDORSE THE SINNOTT BILL

One of the first matters to be submitted to the annual convention of the Oregon Irrigation Congress is the Sinnott bill restoring to entry marsh lands on the Upper Klamath Lake, which the department of the interior is considering leasing to Doak & Brown over the objection of the American Legion and supporters of the Legion's opposition.

The local post is advised by Attorney General Brown that he will do all he can to gain the support of the Irrigation Congress for the Sinnott bill. It is expected that consideration of the bill by the irrigation convention will be taken up today.

Interstate Committee of the Y. M. C. A. of Oregon and Idaho, agree upon such plans as will best suit the local needs.

Fourth—That the building be owned and managed locally, a Board of Trustees to hold the title and property interests and a provisional committee of management for the active management, representation on those committees to be from the above interests, and in proportion to their investments and contribution toward maintenance.

Fifth—That at least one third of an (estimated) annual working budget of $12,000 be provided by the above interests, the same percentages to prevail as in securing the funds for the building. The mills to make payment monthly, and the community's share to be raised at the beginning of each fiscal year, and payable during that current year.

Sixth—That the regular relationship with the Interstate Committee be established by a lease of the building to the committee, said committee to secure for the local committee of management and subject to their approval, competent, trained executives, and insure the permanence of the work by maintaining the usual advisory relationship.

Seventh—That when it is decided what amount the mills will assume (on condition that balance be raised by the community), the Interstate Committee will send in one of its secretaries to set up the machinery to raise the community's quota of the cost of the building, plus their pro rata of the first year's subscription toward the budget.

BOURBONS CHOOSE S. F. FOR 1920 CONVENTION.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 8.—San Francisco was selected today by the Democratic national committee in session here for the 1920 national convention. After 27 votes had been cast, Kansas City and other cities withdrew from the race and the choice of San Francisco was unanimous. Monday, June 28, was fixed as the date of the convention.

GOLDEN WEDDING IS CELEBRATED

Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Haley, who came here five weeks ago from Eugene, where they resided for eight years, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Tuesday evening at the home of their daughter, Mrs. G. I. Holbrook, 617 Alameda street.

Twenty-nine persons joined in the festivities. The two living children of Mr. and Mrs. Haley, Mrs. Holbrook and Mrs. Dallas Powell of Malin, their husbands and four children were present. Mrs. Haley's brother, B. C. Smith, of Gobelsville, Indiana, was also a guest. The remaining guests were friends who had been invited to participate in the observance of the occasion.

In addition to the congratulations showered upon the honored guests at having rounded out a half century of happy wedded life, many valuable and appropriate gifts were bestowed upon them.

Mr. and Mrs. Haley were married at South Whitley, Indiana, January 6, 1870. They lived in the East up until eight years ago when they moved to Oregon. Their plans for a future residence are indefinite, but it is probable that they may make their home here. Within a few days, however, they expect to leave, with Mrs. Haley's brother, for Los Angeles, where another brother lives, with whom they will make an extended visit.

LOCAL GIRL WEDDED IN THE FAR NORTH

Captain O. C. Applegate today received a telegram from Kodiak, Alaska, announcing the marriage there, January 7, 1920, of his daughter, Miss Annie E. Applegate, to Tullers Halferty, a business man of Kodiak.

The bride was born in Klamath Falls and spent most of her life here. She has a host of friends in this community who will extend the heartiest of best wishes for happiness to herself and husband. After completing her education she taught for several years in both Oregon and California. Last year she was induced to go north and take charge of a school on Spruce Island, about 15 miles from the far northern city of Kodiak.

OLD RESIDENTS TO GO TO CALIFORNIA

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Pell, who recently sold their home on Third street to Percy Burke, expect to leave shortly for San Jose, California, where they contemplate the purchase of a fruit ranch, on which they expect to make their permanent home. The change is due to a desire on the part of Mr. Pell to test the merits of a lower altitude for his health, and his friends hope that his desires will be gratified.

Mr. and Mrs. Pell for upwards of 17 years have been residents of this city and during that time have gathered around them a circle of friends who will deeply regret their departure.

As a token of the esteem in which they have been held, a number of social affairs are being held in their honor. They take with them to their new home the good will and wishes of the community.

SPORTSMEN TO REORGANIZE ASSOCIATION

Local Leaders Call Mass Meeting Tomorrow Night, in City Hall, to Construct Machine Opposing Removal of Fish and Game Board.

If there was any one thing needed to stir the sportsmen of the county into action, it came with the announcement of Governor Olcott that he was going to wreck the present splendid Fish and Game Commission. Ever since the announcement appeared in The Herald, it has been the subject of heated discussion among sportsmen, and daily they could be seen gathering in little groups on Main street, discussing what they term "an attempt on the part of the chief executive of the state to make the Fish and Game Commission over into a political asset."

This discussion has led to the inevitable result—the proposed reorganization of the old Sportsmen's Association, an organization that was one of the finest in the state and which, if what is heard is any criterion, will far exceed its former glory. With that end in view, a meeting is to be held in the council chambers of the City Hall, Friday evening, at which the preliminary steps will be taken to get the old club on its feet once more and make it a power in the game and fish affairs of the state.

PLANS FOR JOINT COMMISSION MADE

SALEM, Jan. 8.—After a hearing between Governor Olcott and the joint fisheries and game committee of the legislature, an executive session was held in the office of the governor. The discussion was continued informally and Governor Olcott was asked to state definitely his attitude toward a proposal for a law creating a new fish and game commission, with two distinct departments, one for the fishing and the other for the game interests, with three members in each department, and a seventh member, a chairman, to be chosen in a manner yet to be determined. The understanding is that the legislature will elect the six members of the proposed commission. To this proposal it is understood that the governor did not dissent, according to statements made afterward by some of those who were present. According to these reports, the governor expressed himself as willing to leave the question of the manner of organizing the proposed new commission or commissions to the legislature.

It was clear that the great majority of the two committees are not favorable to the scheme of two separate commissions, believing that great confusion and conflict in the administration of fish and game affairs will thereby result and that the people will not approve the creation of an additional commission where one will serve.

LEGISLATURE TO MAKE BERTH FOR FINLEY

SALEM, Jan. 8.—An effort will be made at the special session of the legislature here next week to provide a berth for William L. Finley, deposed biologist, it was announced by Senator R. S. Farrell of Portland, member of the game committee of the senate.

According to Senator Farrell, there will be introduced at the special session a bill providing for the creation of the office of state biologist, the cost to be paid out of the general funds of the state. Although not admitted by Senator Farrell, the latter's friends declared that Mr. Finley's name probably would be incorporated in the bill and, in the event of its passage, the deposed biologist again would get his name on the state pay-roll.
