

WORLD'S OLDEST MAN LIVES IN KAINUCK

Uncle John Shell of Leslie Co., Ky., has had his picture taken at last—age 153 years. He claims to be the world's oldest man—having been born in 1768. Newspaper photographers have snapped him recently—but this picture from a gallery at Louisville is his first "official" photo.

FAMILY MARKED BY ODDITY

London Newspaper Tells of Strange Fate That Pursued Group Both in Life and Death.

There lived at Ipswich in the reign of William III a family known as the "odd family," a most appropriate name, as the following facts prove, London Answers states: Every event, good, bad or indifferent, came to that family in an odd year or an odd day of the month, and every person was odd in manner or behavior or appearance. Even the letters of their Christian names always amounted to an odd number. The father and mother were Peter and Rahab; their seven children (all boys) bore the names of David, Ezekiel, James, Jonas, Matthew, Roger and Solomon. The husband possessed only one leg and his wife only one arm; Solomon was blind in his left eye and Roger lost his right in an accident; James had his left ear torn off in a quarrel. Matthew's left hand had but three fingers. Jonas had a stump foot, David was humpbacked and Ezekiel was 6 feet 2 inches at the age of nineteen. Every one of the children had red hair, notwithstanding the fact that the father's hair was jet black and the mother's white. Strange at birth, all died as strangely. The father fell into a deep sawpit and was killed; the wife died five days after from starvation. Ezekiel enlisted, was wounded in 23 places, but recovered. Roger, James, Jonas, David and Matthew died in 1713 in six different places on the same day; Solomon and Ezekiel were drowned in the Thames in 1723.

RECALL LEGENDS OF HAWAII

Two Idols, Recently Unearthed, Bring to Memory Folklore Tales Almost Lost to Memory.

Of the two old Hawaiian idols lately found concealed in the earth at Hoo-kupu, Paukukalo, one, a female idol, is in a fairly good state of preservation. The idol is supposed to be that of Kihawahine, the Undine of Maui myths. Her haunts are the springs at Paukukalo, the Kaunaha pond, and the matchless pools in the wooded glens around Piholo, Makawao. The legends about her compare with those of the German fairy folklore, and around the charms of her person as she sits combing her wealth of golden tresses at the edge of some bathing pool is woven many a half-forgotten Maui folk tale. In some of the latest ones she is reputed to have lured two hoies at different times on a merry chase only to see her disappear in one or another of the deep, clear-water pools among the wooded glens of Piholo. One, a doctor, ended his aimless wanderings to her glenoid haunts by becoming a paralytic, the other, a woodcutter, never ceased to describe the charms of this "wonderful woman with the golden hair," always able to elude his embrace, but ever beckoning him on to her lair among the vines and trees and pools and crags of the glens about Piholo.—Waialuku (H. I.) Times.

NOTICE

Bonanza, Ore., Dec. 31, 1919. To the Stockholders of the Bonanza National Farm Loan Association: On Tuesday, January 13, 1920, the annual meeting of the stockholders of our association will be held in the church in Bonanza, at 2 o'clock p.m. This is your meeting. Your interests are under consideration. We who have served you as best we could for the last twelve months are ready to report what we have done. This is the time to elect our successors for the ensuing year; the time to make arrangements for the improvement and enlargement of our association, and to correct any faults in its management. We have over thirty members now who have received over fifty thousand dollars. There is not one dollar delinquent. No new indebtedness has been incurred during the year and 50 per cent of the debts existing a year ago will have been paid. All this in detail concerns each of you directly. Will you not come at the time appointed and help us make a better record next year? H. M. DANIEL, Sec'y-Treas. B.N.F.L.A.

Safe Light for Miners.

Nowadays the up-to-date miner carries a package of electricity about with him while underground. It is a small storage battery attached to the back of his belt, and is connected by a cord with a lamp fastened to the front of his cap. The lamp, provided with a reflector, throws quite a flood of light in front of the miner. But its chief advantage is absolute safety. In olden days miners (who must, of course, have light) carried about with them open-flame lamps. These caused innumerable disastrous accidents through ignition of coal dust or gases. Sir Humphry Davy's invention of a safety lamp whose flame was protected by a wire gauze saved an immense number of lives. It is in common use today, but the electric mine lamp is better and more convenient.

Death Took Old and Young.

During the war the London Times, either wittingly or unwittingly, published innumerable items about the very old men and women in the British empire who were dying off. Their great age, their longevity, formed a melancholy contrast to the slaughter of youth then going on in Europe. During six months in 1918, 312 persons over one hundred years old died in the British Isles. But the figures of young men who fell during that time before the guns of the enemy and who died with influenza mounted toward a million. Not one of the old, so it said in passing, died from "flu."

TRYING TO KEEP R. R. LINE OPEN

SEWARD, Alaska, Dec. 21.—(By Mail.)—Attempts are to be made to keep the government railroad between Seward and Anchorage open this winter. Snowsheds were built along the line last summer to keep the track free of snow, which last winter slid down in such great quantities that operation was halted for several months. Trains operate between the two points regularly during the summer. Seward and Anchorage, about 100 miles apart, are both on the "ocean end" of the railroad, the government building between Seward and Fairbanks, the metropolis of the interior of Alaska. In India and Burmah the code still allows natives to be flogged for certain offences. As many as a thousand natives are flogged yearly in Burmah, but these floggings, as a rule, are not of a severe character.
