

Personal Mention

Martin McAndrews has purchased the home of C. C. Hogue at 615 High street and has sold his home at 330 Ninth street to William Larker who came from Kansas last fall.

Miss Katherine McAndrews came in yesterday from her school in Orindale to spend the week end with her family.

Mrs. J. C. Stine, who has been visiting with the Evans families and friends for the past ten days, left this morning for her home in Severy, Kansas. Mrs. Stine expressed herself as delighted with the Klamath country, its scenic beauty, climate and wonderful future and expects to return again for a more extended visit in the not far distant future.

Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Keesee, who were married during the holidays and have been stopping at the White Pelican Hotel have removed to 1178 Crescent Avenue.

EVERYBODY WELCOME AT THE REVIVAL.

Everybody of every belief and creed is welcome at the Methodist church afternoon and evening every day till January 25th. Dr. Danford, the Methodist District Sup't. is preaching on the great themes of the Bible.

Don't miss him. You will go away if you go once. You will miss it if you miss the gospel meetings now being held at the Methodist church. Dr. Danford has a great message, and Johnston is a great singer.

DR. CAMPBELL BUYS PROPERTY

Dr. T. C. Campbell today closed a deal for the purchase of lot 2, block 8, Original Townsite. This property is the lot immediately west of the Hurn property on Pine street, between Fourth and Fifth, and is known as the Henley property, one of the slightly locations in the city. It is Dr. Campbell's intention to erect a home on this lot, construction to begin just as soon as plans can be drawn and the contract let.

SELLS RESIDENCE LOT

James Bennett, through the Fred Buesing real estate agency, has sold to Newbanks & Marchand his lot on Eleventh street. The consideration is reported as $500. The new owners plan to erect a residence building on the property.

SUIT IS DISMISSED.

The attachment suit of C. V. Fisher against F. W. Stephens and wife was dismissed yesterday by Judge Kuykendall at Plaintiff's costs and the attachment levied against six lots in Block 27, Second addition at Klamath Falls dissolved.

Pianos Are Scarce

Owing to strikes in a great majority of piano factories for four months and to the fact that pianos are under-priced in comparison to other things, it will pay well to purchase now. New and used pianos now on display.

BUSINESS MEN HOLD IMPORTANT MEETING

these lands may easily cost more than they are worth, unless the process of reclamation is carried on step by step with the business of stock raising. If the proposed plan is not approved, then the probabilities are that the lands will either be submerged or remain in the condition in which they have been ever since settlement has occurred in this vicinity.

Since the contractors are responsible parties with experience in work of this kind, it seems probable that through their efforts and example (if these contracts are approved) very shortly work will be in progress on a large scale looking towards the reclamation of practically all the marsh lands on Upper Klamath Lake. If that is done, then within a few years an area of about 60,000 acres of marsh lands, which are now largely covered by tules and swamp grass, will be made many times more productive than at present. About 35,000 acres of privately owned marsh lands, now taxable at a very low figure, will become productive and bring in a large revenue for the county. Moreover, by the regulation of Upper Klamath Lake a river having an annual discharge in excess of 1,660,000 acre feet will be controlled by human intelligence and not left to the freaks of nature. By regulation it will be capable of affording an adequate water supply for 200,000 acres, leaving about 1,500 second feet available for power largely needed locally for pumping and various other industries, and to the extent it is not needed locally is required elsewhere to the fullest extent to which it can profitably be developed.

The foregoing discussion has been an effort to make clear that the regulation of Upper Klamath Lake is of vital importance to this community. The fundamental facts I wish to impress on you are:

(a) That the regulation of Upper Klamath Lake is of immediate importance if you wish to have the irrigable area of the Klamath Project extended as rapidly as funds can be provided and as far as physical conditions will permit. If regulation is not provided, then during a year like 1918 water users within Pumping districts must expect to do without water during a considerable part, or all of July and August.

The proposed plan will give the project an adequate storage supply without cost to the United States or to the water users.

The proposed leases are with responsible parties who are under heavy bonds for satisfactorily completing the reclamation. If their leases are approved, the early development of about 60,000 acres of marsh lands around the Upper Lake may be confidently expected.

Those objecting to the leases have not yet evolved any reasonable plan as an alternative. The only suggestions which have been brought to my attention are get a congressional appropriation or form a Drainage District is more than doubtful because there is little likelihood that the bonds can be sold.

The settlement of honorably discharged soldiers on the Upper Lake Marsh lands, prior to the time they have been made productive, would be in the nature of a penalty rather than a reward.

There are many thousand acres of Tule Lake lands which are desirable, will respond to cultivation from the start, and on which returned soldiers should have a preference right.

Immediately following the conclusion of Mr. Newell's remarks, the members turned their attention to the matter of getting a complete census of the city. Postmaster Delzell was present and told of his efforts along this line and the difficulties with which the proposition is surrounded. Only three enumerators are assigned to Klamath Falls, and, according to a telegram received by Mr. Delzell while he was addressing the meeting, it will be impossible to increase this number, because of the regulations of the census bureau. It is utterly out of the question for three enumerators to make a complete census of the city, even if they had the thirteen days that would have been available if it had not been for the complete breakdown of the census management in this state. In view of this, the business men decided to co-operate with the enumerators and lend every assistance possible, paying for this help themselves and letting any benefit accruing go to the census enumerators.

President Rogers was authorized to appoint a committee to take charge of the work and to employ such help and adopt such measures as might be necessary to insure a

SORROW OVER DEATH OF DR. BERNARD DALY

Resolutions of regret and condolence at the death of Dr. Bernard Daly, of Lakeview, whose funeral will take place at Lakeview tomorrow, were adopted by the Business Men's Association of Klamath Falls at their meeting last night.

Copies of the resolutions were taken to Lakeview today by local officers of the Elks lodge, who will conduct the services for the Elks at the funeral tomorrow afternoon. Those who went were: C. H. Underwood, G. W. Houston, H. E. Peltz, W. M. Duncan, W. C. Van Emon, E. B. Hall, W. O. Smith, W. A. Delzell.

The resolutions adopted by the Business Men's Association are as follows:

"Whereas, the Grim Reaper has stricken from the rolls of the living and called to his reward beyond Dr. Bernard Daly; and remembering Dr. Daly as one of our foremost and most distinguished and public-spirited citizens, whose life and achievement and sincere Americanism offer an example worthy of the respect and emulation of the rising generation; and realizing the important services that he has performed during his lifetime in national, state, county and municipal affairs by which the state of Oregon, and southern Oregon in particular, has received immeasurable benefits.

"Be it therefore resolved by the members of the Business Men's Association of the city of Klamath Falls, at its regular annual meeting on January 9, 1920, that our sincere condolences and heartfelt sympathies be extended to the members of his family and to the community which has suffered such a great loss; and

"Be it further resolved, that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the members of his family and to the county court of Lake county and spread upon the minutes of this organization.

EPISCOPALIAN BISHOP WILL PREACH HERE

Bishop Robert L. Paddock, of the Episcopal diocese embracing all southeastern Oregon, is here for a visit to the local members of his faith and looking over the ground with a view to the future development of the Episcopal church work in this city. This is one of the bishop's periodical visits, the first since last September. Since then he has been east for the Episcopal conference at Detroit in October and is now resuming, with the opening of the year, his work among the churches of his district. During his stay here he is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hall. He will go from here to Lakeview.

Bishop Paddock will conduct afternoon and evening services at the I. O. O. F. hall tomorrow and extends a warm invitation to the public to attend. At 11 o'clock the sermon topic will be, "Religion for the Intelligent Man," and at 8 o'clock the subject will be "Can America Save the World in the Present Crisis?"

EMMANUEL BAPTIST CHURCH PASTOR COMES TONIGHT

The Rev. W. B. Stewart, of McMinnville, is expected to arrive tonight to take charge of the Emmanuel Baptist church pulpit for the next several months. The appointment is made under the auspices of the state board and the new pastor comes highly recommended by Dr. O. C. Wright, the state secretary.

INSURING THE FAMILY'S HEALTH

As in many other great movements of national concern and importance, preservation of public health properly begins in the home. It is an obligation of the family to the State, as well as a means of individual health preservation and protection.

Constant good health is the best possible insurance against the spread of even common colds. One way to maintain good health is to have in the family medicine cabinet a properly maintained supply of simple remedies that can safely be administered for the treatment of the many uncomplicated ills that come to every household.

Taking Castor Oil

A simple method of giving castor oil without any nauseating after-taste is to have the patient wash out the mouth with water as hot as can be borne, then swallow the oil, then again rinse out the mouth with hot water. The first hot water cleans the mouth, makes it hot, and coats it with a layer of water so that the oil has very little chance to stick anywhere. The oil therefore slips down easily. Then hot water is again used, this time to remove any particles of oil that might have adhered to some structure in the mouth. Thus the mouth is left clean and sweet and the patient gets no taste of the oil.—Medical News.

BOYS' BANQUET IS BIG SUCCESS

(Contributed.)

The 35 boys of R. S. Fry's Sunday school class at the Methodist church brought their fathers to a banquet in their honor at the church dining room last evening, at 6 o'clock. It was one of the most unique as well as beautiful affairs ever given anywhere.

The president of the class, Chas. Yaden, a high school boy, spoke on the objects and ideals of the class.

H. W. Hartley, the associate teacher of the class and an experienced worker among boys, spoke enthusiastically of the possibilities and importance of interest in boy life.

Mr. Frank Upp, representing the fathers, spoke feelingly of what being your boy's chum and companion means.

R. S. Fry, the teacher and leader, outlined the work done thus far and spoke of their hopes and plans for the future.

Rev. S. J. Chaney, in a masterly manner, acted as toastmaster.

The class has only been organized about six weeks and began with three or four boys. Now it numbers nearly forty, and is still growing.

The boys went from the banquet in a body with their fathers to the church auditorium and took part in the song service under the leadership of the gospel song leader, Mr. Johnston, and then listened to the address.

The Methodist church, under the leadership of Rev. S. J. Chaney, is planning large things as their contribution to the uplift of the city in the future.

At the close of the banquet last night a rousing hand-clapping indicated thanks to the women and girls who prepared the banquet.
