THE successful farmer raises bigger crops and cuts down costs by investment in labor-saving machinery.

Good prices for the farmer's crops encourage new investment, more production and greater prosperity.

But the success of agriculture depends on the growth of railroads—the modern beasts of burden that haul the crops to the world's markets.

The railroads—like farms—increase their output and cut down unit costs by the constant investment of new capital.

With fair prices for the work they do, the railroads are able to attract new capital for expanding their facilities.

Rates high enough to yield a fair return will insure railroad growth, and prevent costly traffic congestion which invariably results in poorer service at higher cost.

National wealth can increase only as our railroads grow.

Poor railroad service is dear at any price. No growing country can long pay the price of inadequate transportation facilities.

HORSES AGAIN
ON ST. MARK'S

VENICE, Dec. 22.—(By Mail).—The four bronze horses which adorned the facade of St. Mark's cathedral have again been put in place, after an absence of more than two years, due to their transfer to Rome, where they had been kept to avoid capture by the Austrians or destruction by air bombs.

The horses are regarded as the finest specimens of ancient bronzes, and, according to tradition, graced the triumphal arch of Nero. In the reign of Constantine they were taken by that emperor to Constantinople. There they stood until 1204, when they were brought to Venice and placed on St. Mark's cathedral. There the horses remained for almost six centuries.

Napoleon, after he had conquered Venice, took them to Paris to adorn the arch of Triumph in the Place du Carrousel. After his defeat at Waterloo they were returned to their original place in St. Mark's, where they remained undisturbed for a century.

The horses stand five feet in height and are the only ones in existence representing an ancient chariot quadriga.

About $500,000 British women can now vote for members of parliament and their vote may unseat some of the 43 Labor members on account of popular disapproval of a succession of strikes.

SAYS SHE THREW HER MONEY AWAY

MRS. PARKER SPENT HUNDREDS SEEKING HEALTH—TANLAC RESTORES HER

"My troubles have been completely overcome since I began taking Tanlac and I am enjoying the best health I have had in twenty years," said Mrs. M. Parker, of 423 East Third St., Los Angeles, Cal.

"I spent several thousand dollars for medicines and treatments," she continued, "but it was just money thrown away, for I never got any relief from my suffering until I commenced taking Tanlac. I was practically an invalid for twenty years and all my trouble was caused by the awful condition of my stomach. A great part of the time I was confined to my bed, simply too weak to be up. I could eat but very little, and that disagreed with me so I suffered terribly from gas. To make matters worse I was attacked by rheumatism in my arms and legs, which caused me no end of pain and misery. I never got a good night's sleep and became extremely nervous."

"Well, I have just finished my fourth bottle of Tanlac and it is wonderful the way I have improved. Why, I feel so well and strong I do all my housework without the least trouble. Last week I actually did the family washing and it has been many years since I did a thing like that. My appetite is fine and nothing disagrees with me. I sleep restfully and get up feeling refreshed every morning. The rheumatism has entirely disappeared and Tanlac deserves every bit of the credit."

Tanlac is sold in Klamath Falls by the Star Drug Co., and in Lodi by the James Merc. Co.—Adv.

INVENTION TO AID ARMLESS

LONDON, Dec. 24.—(By Mail).—An invention enabling armless men to wash, shave and feed themselves and to perform other remarkable feats, such as typewriting, has just been demonstrated at the ministry of pensions.

The appliance, which can be fixed to any table, is worked by the feet. A knob is held between the toes and this is attached to levers connected with two arms which are suspended over the table. These arms can be moved about and made to pick up all sorts of articles.

The inventor, a Scotch gasfitter, in demonstrating his device washed his face with the substitute hands. He drank from a cup, used a knife and fork readily in cutting up food, and fed himself, put a cigarette in his mouth, opened an ordinary match box, extracted the match and lighted the cigarette.

He turned over the pages of a ledger and made entries in it, drew a design on paper with a pencil and cut the drawing out with a pair of scissors. He demonstrated that he could do typewriting, and worked a substitute for a sewing machine. Another appliance was shown for writing with a fountain pen. The country is showing great interest in this invention in view of the possibilities it offers to the many armless soldiers to engage in numerous occupations.

American soldiers killed during 19 months of the World War numbered 50,150, but in the same period 126,664 civilians died in the United States through accidents in streets, homes, and industrial plants.

It is computed that 10,000 threads of the web of a full-grown spider are not larger than a single hair of a man's beard.

Among the unique occupations recently brought to light in London is that of a man who makes a specialty of tattooing dogs with their owners' names and crests.
